Crossley

Questions at the Show

Question	Answer
Has the 14 h.p. Crossley ample power?	Yes. The engine is rated at 15.6 h.p. It is the right size for the chassis and gives ample power for every requirement.
Is it economical?	It has a petrol consumption of at least THIRTY MILES PER GALLON.
How many passengers will it carry in comfort?	It will carry 4 or 5 passengers, with luggage, in perfect comfort anywhere a car can go.
What speed is it capable of, and how does it perform on hills?	It easily attains over 50 m.p.h. and climbs any ordinary hill on top.
How does it stand up on really bad roads? AGENTS NOW BEING APPOINTED.	It is one of the few cars which are satisfactorily filling overseas requirements. It is in use in every British Colony, and there has not been a single complaint.

WOMAN AND HER HOME.

MONOTONY.

SAMENESS depresses; variety stimulates. Eating the same food, living amid the same surroundings, thinking about the same things, one sinks into physical and mental stupor. Literally, "variety is the spice of life." These familiar facts have been enunciated by an American doctor, who has been carrying on physiological experiments into the effects of sameness and monotony on the working of the mind and body.

His researches show that sameness in the food we eat daily is detrimental to digestion, and, therefore, nutrition. Uniformity of surrounding conditions at the time of eating is, in the same manner, unwholesome. It is necessary to provide variety, both of food and of conditions, especially in boarding-schools, hospitals, barracks, prisons and like institutions.

Observations have confirmed the judgment that an increase of appetite always occurs in connection with a change of food, and a marked decrease comes with monotonous food. The advantages of travelling, living in sanitoria, and other similar changes in the mode of living, come chiefly from the change of diet and from the new interests in place of the former monotonous life.

The doctor goes on to say that the irritability of the bed-ridden, those imprisoned, and also of watch-dogs, which are kept chained, is connected with the monotony of the conditions of their life, and results from the increase in the force of unpleasant irritations through their frequent repetition, as well as from the decrease in the quantity and in the force of pleasant irritations.

Comparing egoism and altruism, we see that it is less advantageous to be an egoist, as the world of pleasant sensations of the egoist is comparatively restricted, consisting only of that which brings joy but to himself; whereas the world of pleasant sensations of the altruist can be widened without limit, as he rejoices in other's joys. He can always renew his pleasant sensations, each time trying to do good to new people.

Human happiness does not consist of the quantity of goods acquired by a man, but of their correct use, even though they are few; in this case, by means of moderation and change of sensations, the man avoids satiety and obtains from his store of goods the greatest pleasure.

The hygiene of to-day is the hygiene of body only. But the hygiene of the spirit is certainly much more important. It is the hygiene of the future, as we have as yet no sufficient scientific foundation for it. Let us hope that psycho-physiology will discover in time all the most important laws of cerebral function, and, therefore, of spiritual life. And then science will create a new, the most important, hygiene—the hygiene of the human spirit. Then the individual, as well as all mankind, will become happier as he learns to fight the evil and to know the best way to use the good in his life.

JEMIMA.

SILENCE.

MUCH has been written and said of the advantage of golden silence over silver speech; and people break silence continually to recommend that it should remain unbroken, which is as though one should demonstrate the advantage of darkness by showing a light. In fact, silence has so many sides to it—it is now admirable, now detestable, now useful, and now criminal—sometimes awful, and sometimes ridiculous—that we dare not commend it unconditionally. At any rate, we are not struck dumb with admiration of it. The eloquent silence of innocence suffering under unmerited reproach and persecution is, indeed, beautiful. Admirable is the modest silence of youth listening to the teachings of wise old age; and silence is the fullest answer to questions that are either impertinent or unanswerable.

And if silence occasionally confirms us in errors of thought, how dangerous are some of its immediate children; for it breeds misconception, misunderstanding, jealousy, distrust, envy. How many women's hearts have ached in a silence, which broken by a few kind, hearty, generous words, would have glowed with happiness and gratitude! How many women's lives have been clouded by the proud silence which, dispelled by a candid acknowledgment of mistake or misconduct, would have left them bright and contented! If the tongue is a fire which has kindled war and misery time out of mind, it is also a generous flame that has lighted a living spark of fiery courage, lofty self-denial, unswerving devotion in the souls of the whole human race.

A philosophical writer has observed that men often treat their dogs with greater kindness than their womankind, and supposes they do so because the former do not bore their masters with advice, reproach or expostulations, as the latter probably do. It may be so; yet we cannot help thinking this reflects on the judgment of the selector of the said womankind who has, unfortunately for himself, chosen not one wise enough to be aware that discretion in speech is worth more than eloquence.

How dreadful is silence when it is the sole answer to a cry for help, a prayer for forgiveness, a petition for love! Silence, temporary silence, full of breath-holding expectancy, as when a storm is gathering and the "whole orb lies 'hushed,'" a pin-dropping silence when a great orator or preacher pauses to emphasise his point; the strained silence that succeeds to a cry of agony; and that last, deepest silence when the labouring breast heaves no more!

Though silence bestows no wisdom on its fellows, yet it has, at least, kindness and courtesy at command. Half the world does not know their own strength, their power to give good cheer and sympathy, simply because they have never tried it. And yet the next best way of breaking silence—after praising our Maker—is by comforting our neighbour.

FASHIONS IN STOCKINGS.

THE fashion of wearing coloured stockings to match the dress or costume worn is one that seems to have come to stay, and to-day stockings play a most important part in the toilette of every lady.

It was only in the reign of Queen Elizabeth that the art of weaving stockings in a frame was invented by William Lee, a native of Woodborough, near Nottingham. He was very ill-treated for his ingenious invention; for the stocking-knitters, fearing it would spoil their trade, drove him away. He afterwards died of grief, but his invention did not die with him.

It is said that Henry II. was the first English King to wear a pair of knit silk stockings, and that they were not heard of again until the reign of Henry VIII. and Edward VI.

Catherine de Medicis, who was very vain of the symmetry of her hands and feet, was the first to wear tight silk stockings; amidst all her cares her toilet took up much of her time and thoughts.

It is told of James I., whilst King of Scotland, that he borrowed of the Earl of Mar a pair of silk stockings to receive the English Ambassador, observing: "For ye would not, sure, that your King should appear as a scrub before strangers," and it is said he liked them so well that he danced them into holes.

Queen Elizabeth greatly admired silk stockings. In the third year of her reign she was furnished by her silk woman with a pair, which she termed as "marvellous delicate wear," and she would never afterwards wear cloth ones.

In our fashion world to-day it is decreed that every wardrobe must be furnished with hose to match each toilette, and the wonder is how many dyes are in use to fit us with so large a number of shades. A look at the perfect colour schemes to be seen in the dress of the ladies of to-day is a sight to leave one murmuring, "This is harmony, indeed."

WASHING SILK JUMPERS.

MANY people ask me how I manage to have my silk jumpers so nice, and I reply, "I only wash them." I have been greatly astonished to find that so few know how to wash a jumper properly. The method is very simple, but the results are absolutely satisfactory.

Always steep the jumper, whether silk or woollen, for at least half an hour in cold water before washing. This is essential; as it softens any dirt and removes the dressing. Make a good lukewarm lather of "Lux." This is done by taking the quantity of lux flakes necessary. Then dissolve it in a cup of boiling water, afterwards adding sufficient cold water to make it lukewarm. Half a packet of lux will wash three articles at least. Squeeze the jumper out of the cold water; never wring it with your hands, as artificial silk, when wet, is much more liable to give way than when dry. Sop the jumper up and down in the lather.

As a rule the one washing does; but should the article be very dirty, a second lather may be necessary. Rinse in lukewarm water, and squeeze out as much water as possible. On no account put through the mangle. It is absolutely fatal, and has been the undoing of many a jumper. The best way to dry is to hang up on a line in the house, making sure to spread the jumper quite evenly, bringing round the sleeves at each side on to the line, not allowing them to hang down. It is a good plan to put a stiff towel or napkin on the line under the jumper, as it helps to keep it even. When almost dry press with a hot iron, taking care to put a cloth over the article.

This method applies to all articles, both woollen and silk. If treated in this way jumpers are less likely to either shrink or stretch, and will give much better wear, and always look well.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE

LORD DERBY'S TREBLE.

IRISH SUCCESS IN SEFTON 'CHASE.

BALLINODE'S VICTORY.

SIERRA LEONE WINS AUTUMN CUP.

From Our Travelling Correspondent.

LIVERPOOL, Friday Night.

A great Irish victory was scored here this afternoon, when the County Sligo mare, Ballinode, won the Grand Sefton Steeplechase in a hack canter for Mr. J. C. Bentley. From the time Winnall took the lead from Layman after going into the country, and she moved up next to him, she was always either first or second, and after taking the lead as they came back on to the racecourse, she was never seriously challenged. She had soon disposed of Winnall, who did not stay home, and it was the redoubtable Tredgill, on Ardeen, who finished second to her, six lengths behind, though Leader was easing her up before she passed the post. Rathory came on to finish a bad third. Winnall was fourth, and fifth and sixth were our old friends James Pigg and Drifter. I am afraid I did The Drifter a great injustice by saying that he fell last Saturday at Wetherby. He did not; it was only his jockey who fell.

Ballinode has always been a beautiful mare, but it must be said that she never looked so well as this afternoon, and Frank Morgan, who has had charge of her since she was beaten at Mullingar six weeks ago, deserves the greatest credit for the manner in which she was turned out. He was consumed with grief after the race that he had not had the satisfaction of having ridden her himself. Ted Leader, however, handled her beautifully. She made a mistake at the fence before the water, but when she warmed to her work she fenced perfectly, and Leader said he had never ridden a gamer animal.

I may say that this excellent young jockey fell in love with the mare when she ran in the Sefton last year, and has always wanted to ride her. He asked me at Wolverhampton on Tuesday if it would be possible to get the ride on her here, and when he came on to Liverpool and heard that Morgan might not be able to do the weight, he hardly ever left his side until he had been promised the first refusal of the mount. Ballinode was very weell backed, too, starting joint third favourite with The Bleeka and Winnall, Silvo and Super Man being, respectively, first and second favourites.

SUPER MAN'S POOR FORM.

Silvo, I thought, looked a little light, but Super Man looked very big and well. He was immensely fancied, too, but he ran wretchedly. He was not meeting his fences right, and ran without any fire. Jack Anthony was taking him wide on the outside, and he was always in a hopeless position. He completed the course, finishing last of all except an animal called Jack Horner, who came in sometime after the others.

Silvo was fencing as beautifully as usual as they passed the stands the first time, but he came down two fences before Becher's: Dick Rees told me he never touched the fence, but landed on a boggy piece of ground and rolled right over.

There had been intermittent banks of fog throughout the afternoon, and, unfortunately, one of the worst happened to come just before the Sefton was run. The horses were, therefore, hardly distinguishable from the fence before Becher's until that after Valentine's. Kirkwood refused to start, and then Layman led from Winnall, Ballinode, and Old Tay Bridge. The Bleeka over-jumped himself and came down at the fence before the water, and then Palm Ring ran out. Old Tay Bridge was the next to go, and Silvo and Layman also came down somewhere in the fog. Rathory could never go the pace at all, and finished some thirty lengths behind the winner.

Ballinode, I believe, was a cheap purchase at the Dublin Horse Show Sales some few years ago, but she was a nailing good mare this afternoon.

THE CUP.

The Earl of Derby must by this time have lost count of the number of Liverpool Cups he has collected in the last twenty years. He won another here this afternoon when his four-year-old gelding, Sierra Leone, beat Reggio and Twelve Pointer by a length and a half and half a length, respectively.

Sierra Leone had some bad luck in the race, in that he was drawn in one of the worst positions on the outside, and could not get a good place when they raced for the first turn, but he had remarkably good luck in that, when Weston had moved him up in the straight, he found an opening on the rails, and his jockey was able to shoot him through. From that point he was able to resist the challenge of Reggio comfortably, and win amid a hurricane of applause.

Twelve Pointer, on the other hand, had no luck at all. He was also very badly placed at the bend. He was well in the rear of his field all the way up the straight, and he could not find an opening. When one did present itself he came through with hurricane strides, but it was too late. In spite of his defeat, it must be said that he ran a great race under his 9st. 5lb. Verdict, on the other hand, ran wide at the last bend, and thereafter was never in the fighting line at all.

The greatest trouble was experienced in getting Live Wire to face the gate, but when a start was effected he got well away, and actually settled down in front. After they had gone three furlongs Clonospoe moved up second. Clonespoe once actually headed Live Wire, but the latter came into the straight in front of him. It was in the straight that Clonespoe edged away from the rails, and this was the opportunity of Weston to come through on Sierra Leone, and place the race in safe keeping.

Reggio headed him for a moment, but little Leach was not strong enough to get the best out of the big horse, who was well beaten. D'Orsay ran well up to a point, but after passing the Anchor Bridge turn he began to drop back, and finished last. Clonespoe, it may be said, ran exceptionally well for a mile, after which he began to tire rapidly. Alec Taylor thought that if the boy could only get Reggio out he would win easily, and the colt actually started a better favourite than Twelve Pointer. It cannot be said that Carslake shone on the latter, and showed once again that he is not as good a jockey in a big field on a round course as he is on a straight course.

LORD DERBY'S SUCCESSFUL DAY.

Lord Derby had a remarkably successful day throughout, for he won [illegible] Croxteth Plate with Burnt Sienna and [illegible] race, the Duchy Plate, with Spindrift, [illegible] after looking to be well beaten [illegible] time, struggled on in indomitable fashion [illegible] win by a head and a short head from [illegible] Eaglestone and Henry VII. Burnt Sienna, [illegible] other hand, had an easy task, for he [illegible] a two lengths advantage at the start, [illegible] leading all the way, won by three lengths [illegible] Park Square, with Ruth Duth, a [illegible] behind, third. Tommy Burns rode Ecila here, but the horse could not gain a place.

There were other close finishes besides that in Spindrift's race. Beary, on Unexpected, only got the better of Smirke on Crimson Dawn by a short head in the Stewards' Plate. Smirke objected for bumping and boring, but the protest was overruled. Dignity was unlucky to have lost the Downe Nursery. Sir Charles Hyde's colt, who started favourite, was left half a dozen lengths at the post, and then made up so much ground as only just to miss a place.

A great finish was fought out between Gonedry and Lomondside, the former winning by a short head. Bright Land, who was bought by Poole at the late Mr. F. Cullinan's sale, actually started a better favourite than Red Cyder for the Abbeystead Hurdle, but finished fourth. Red Cyder, who was third, never looked like winning. All the running was made by Polygonatum, who was bought by Coulthwaite afterwards. until he was caught between the last two hurdles and beaten two lengths by Gyroscope, whom Captain Davis trains for Mr. J. Settle.

TO-MORROW'S CARD.

The Grosvenor Cup is the most important of the eight events to be run to-morrow. Taylor runs Blue Lake as well as Caravel, and Mr. Tattersall's filly is said to be a good deal fancied. I expect also that Mignault will run very well, but I cannot quite see his reversing the Cambridgeshire running with Caravel. Dunmow is in with a very light weight, and Mr. Lambton's stable is in its usual good form at the meeting. This course and distance will suit CARAVEL, and I suggest he will just beat Mignault.

Lord Derby may win the Liverpool Nursery with BLANCHISSEUSE, and the Liverpool Autumn Foal Plate may be won by CANTATA. FARIRAY is fit and runs for the November Hurdle. If at his best he should beat Phantom Charley, whom I take to be the danger. If The Bleeka is started again he may win the Valentine Steeplechase. Mr. Hugh Delmege rides Pencoed, who ran so well in the Grand National last March twelve-months. Good Points should run well, but I think THE BLEEKA or, in his absence, LEE BRIDGE will win.

PHŒNIX PARK.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

To-day's meeting at the Phœnix Park will be the last of the year at this popular venue, and the attractive character of the programme points to a brisk and successful wind-up to the Club's season. Excellent entries have been obtained for all the events on the card, and, judging from the number of horses due to travel from the Curragh and other centres, fields of nice dimensions will be seen out, whilst keen competition is pretty certain to be the order of the day. It should be noted that a special train leaves Broadstone at 12.45, and racing commences at 1.30. Selections are appended:—

Osborne Lodge Plate—Pallasgreen.
Rossmore Lodge Plate—Dawson's selected.
Rathbride Manor Plate—Eager Hen or Ratify.
Maddenstown Lodge Plate—Knocklong Boy.
Mountjoy Lodge Plate—Doiran.

Off 1.1. (Winner trained by F. Morgan.)

Betting—3 to 2 agst. Silvo, 9 to 2 Super man, 7 to 1 each BALLINODE, The Bleeka and Winnall, 8 to 1 Old Tay Bridge, 10 to 1 Palm Ring, 100 to 8 Rathory, 100 to 7 bar eight.

Kirkwood was left at the post. Winnall made the running from Ballinode, Old Tay Bridge and Rathory. Winnall was first over the water. Ballinode took the lead at Beecher's Brook, and Silvo fell two fences before Valentine's Brook. Ballinode was well clear of Winnall and Ardeen at the last fence, and he won easily by six lengths; a bad third. Winnall was fourth and James Pigg fifth. Time 6 mins. 15 secs.

1.30—CROXTETH PLATE (handicap) of 500 sovs. Second 30 sovs. and third 15 sovs. 5 f.

Off 3.6. (Winner trained by Lambton.)

Betting—3 to 1 agst. Reggio, 100 to 30 Twelve Pointer, 6 to 1 SIERRA LEONE, 8 to 1 each Live Wire and D'Orsay, 100 to 9 Verdict, 100 to 8 Checktaker, 100 to 7 Concorde III., 100 to 6 bar eight.

D'Orsay first broke the tapes, and after considerable trouble Live Wire jumped away in front of D'Orsay, Checktaker, Clonespoe, and Treize. At half-way Live Wire was leading from Clonespoe. A quarter of a mile from home Sierra Leone became second, in front of Twelve Pointer, and, taking the lead inside the distance, Sierra Leone won by a length; half a length separated second and third. Concorde III. was fourth, and Checktaker fifth. Time—2 mins. 24 3-5 secs.

Mr. M. Field's HENRY THE SEVENTH, 3, 8-0 McLachlan, jun. 3

Also ran—Front Line (Donoghue), The Pilot (Wragg), Zara (A. Burns), Irish Molly (G. Smith), Allimony (R. Jones). Off 4.0. (Winner trained by Lambton.)

Betting—2 to 1 agst. Eaglestone, 4 to 1 Irish Molly, 9 to 2 each SPINDRIFT and Henry the Seventh, 6 to 1 Allimony, 7 to 1 Front Line, 100 to 8 bar six.

Won by a head; a short head.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

There is another heavy day's racing for the final stage of the Liverpool Meeting, and, as the going is now in excellent order, fields will again be well up to the average. Chief interest will centre in the Grosvenor Cup, for which Taylor has sent both Caravel and Blue Lake. The last-named is undoubtedly well handicapped, but whether she is really at her best is questionable. She went off in the early part of the season, and, though she has thriven lately, I doubt if she has been quite wound up. Caravel, on the other hand, ran really well in the Cambridgeshire, and at the Bushes was the only one who threatened any danger to Twelve Pointer, but failing quite to stay the course was beaten out of a place. Jarvie has, I think, too much weight, but Pasha must have a great chance, for he had no chance in the Cambridgeshire, being kicked at the post. He, however, meets Caravel on 11lb. worse terms, and so it is with some confidence I recommend the last-named. For the Liverpool Nursery I like Maxim Gun, for he ran a good race against Diomedes in the Palatine Nursery, and with stronger handling ought have hustled him up. Neither Picaroon nor Saucy Sue runs in the Autumn Foal Stakes, and so I must rely on Conquistador, who ran a respectable fourth to Saucy Sue at Newmarket. Selections:—

Alt Selling Plate—Carrots.
Nursery Handicap—Maxim Gun.
Valentine Steeplechase—Pencoed.

SCRATCHINGS.—Alt Nursery—Highborn Lady.

WINDSOR.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

The delightful conditions at Windsor, with its fine light and admirable going for the time of the year, look like continuing for to-day's conclusion of the meeting. There may not be quite so many runners as yesterday afternoon, but large fields will again be out, for even the principal event on the card, the Combermere Handicap, apparently will attract about a dozen runners. According to information received, Light Dragoon has finished racing for this season, and Eastern Monarch represents Sir G. Bullough and J. Jarvis's stable instead of Soldumeno. Baton Rouge, from Manton, is preferred to Daimyo and Sebastian. Keror is a runner, carrying the top weight, and in the middle of the handicap stands the formidable Portlight from De Mestre's stable. Such as Signet, Plumet, and Jansan have been performing consistently of late, and Sierra Leone, of course, is an obvious absentee. Eastern Monarch shapes well round the turns, and, with his superior class and steered by Elliott, this one is worthy of deep consideration. Jansan should be backed each way, for the four-year-old son of Santoi will be galloping on when the others have finished. Selections:—

Thames Handicap—Mooning.
Forest Nursery—Turkish Holiday.
Castle Handicap—Silver Mine.
Combermere Handicap—Eastern Monarch.
College Nursery—Skywhite.
Athens Stakes—Peter's Sister.

Ladies' Astride Suits

Are now made with a very much shorter coat and this decree of fashion necessitates particular attention being paid to the most important garment in a Riding Suit:—

THE BREECHES

The construction of this garment is not merely a task requiring the highest tailoring skill. It requires the master hand of the specialist. And since the discriminating horsewoman of to-day must now be at least as critical about the cut and make of her Breeches as her brother is about his, it is absolutely imperative that she should entrust the making of her Astride Suit to those who are really competent to make such difficult clothes correctly.

It is universally conceded that:—

is one of the few houses with a knowledge of what a Breeches should be and with the experience and ability to make them correctly.

FINGAL ROVERS' C.C.

At a specially convened meeting of the above club, it was proposed by A. J. Sweeney, seconded by L. Malone, that we the members of the above club beg to tender our deepest sympathy to the wife and relatives of the late Inspector David O'Connell, who was a keen supporter of cycling, athletics and other branches of sport in Ireland.

All through the years of war and the eventful period that followed, right up to the present day "Paddy Flaherty" Whisky has been maturing in cool dark vaults. Every drop you drink now was distilled and bonded before August, 1914.

We can't have all the good things that were ours in the old days, but Irish Whisky, fine flavoured and mellow as ever, is available in plenty under the "Paddy Flaherty" brand.

LEGAL NOTICES.

STATUTORY NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

In the Goods of

HARRIETT FRANCES DEDRICKSON, late of Kilcoo House, Athy, in the County of Kildare, Married Woman, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Statute 22 and 23 Victoria, chapter 35, that all persons claiming to be creditors of or otherwise having any claims or demands against the estate of the above-named Harriet Frances Dedrickson, who died on the 20th day of January, 1924, are required, on or before the 5th day of February, 1925, to furnish in writing particulars of such claims and demands to the undersigned Solicitors for Richard Annesley Walker, 86 Merrion square, Dublin, and Robert Dedrickson, of Kilcoo House, Athy, aforesaid, the Executors of the Will of said Deceased, to whom Probate of the Will of said Deceased was granted forth of the Principal Probate Registry, Saorstat Eireann, on the 7th day of April, 1924.

And Notice is hereby further given that after the said 5th day of February, 1925, the said Executors will proceed to distribute the assets of said Deceased having regard only to the claims of which notice shall have been given as above required.

Dated this 5th day of November, 1924.

S. and R. C. WALKER and SON, Solicitors, 86 Merrion square, Dublin.

SAORSTAT EIREANN ADVERTISEMENT FOR CREDITORS.

Pursuant to an Order of the High Court of Justice, Made in the Matter of the Estate of

MICHAEL M. DWYER, Deceased;
JOHN DWYER, Plaintiff;
And MARY O'DOHERTY, Defendant.

The creditors of the said Michael M. Dwyer, late of Newtown Park, in the County of Wicklow, Farmer, who died in or about the month of October, 1920, are, on or before the 8th day of December, 1924, to send by post, pre-paid, to Messrs. Gerald Byrne and Co., of 7 Lower Ormond quay, Dublin, the Solicitors of the Defendant, the Administratrix of the estate of said Deceased, their names, addresses, and descriptions, the full particulars of their claims, a statement of their accounts, and the nature of the securities (if any) held by them, or in default thereof, they will be peremptorily excluded from the benefit by the said Order.

BILLIARDS.

SMITH v. NEWMAN.

Newman played a very strong game yesterday, making breaks of 232, 308, 100, and 98, against Smith's best breaks of 85, 120, 71, and 200 (unfinished). Closing scores:—Smith, 14,667; Newman, 14,205.

STEVENSON v. PEALL.

This hopelessly one-sided game at Leicester square, London, saw Stevenson yesterday in better form. During the day he made breaks of 198, 95, 94, and 124, against Peall's best efforts of 73, 70, and 82. Closing scores:—Peall (rec. 2,000), 14,577; Stevenson, 7,699.

INMAN v. REECE.

Continuing their game at Leeds yesterday Inman again had much the better of the day's play. Closing scores:—Inman, 14,668; Reece, 12,405.

FRUIT TREES.

It used to be the case that for satisfactory Fruit Trees Irish buyers sent to Great Britain. Now we are supplying quantities of Killiney Fruit Trees to England and Scotland every day during the planting season, and it is in respect of the trees which require the highest skill to produce that we receive the most complimentary letters.

Extract from letter received from an English Nurseryman on delivery of £74 0 0 worth of Killiney-grown Fruit Trees, Roses and Shrubs:—

"27th October, 1924—Your trees, shrubs and roses have arrived, and I must congratulate you heartily on the splendid lot of stuff. Last year's were good, but this lot is even better. The bush and half-standard Victoria Plums are the best I have ever seen. Your shrubs are also very fine. H. S.——"

We have 30 acres of young Fruit Trees in the finest possible health and condition, and in all the usual forms of training for garden or orchard.

New Catalogues now ready of (a) Fruit Trees, (b) Roses, and (c) Shrubs. Please say which to send you.

GAELIC GAMES.

DUBLIN HURLERS MEET THE NORTH.

CARLOW v. TIPPERARY.

Carlow County has come along rapidly in football, threatening rivalry with the neighbouring county of Kildare, where great football teams have been produced in the past. The counties of Louth and Carlow had some struggles for supremacy this year and last. The Carlow men deserved victory in Leinster, so their meeting with Tipperary footballers to-morrow should attract a big crowd to Croke Park. Carlow will pass on to senior grade whatever the result, and this Tipperary junior team is accepted as the recruiting ground for the senior team of footballers, which threaten Kerry in serious contests typical of Munster Gaelic games. The junior match, fixed for 3.15 on Sunday afternoon, is the premier attraction, for Dublin hurlers, meeting Antrim at 2 p.m., seem to have an easy passage to the 1924 final.

The game will be little more than a good practice match for the Kickham combination. Antrim hurling is played under such difficult conditions that one wonders how they can beat a team like Tirconnell. Antrim Gaels want nothing in earnestness, and every score they get to-morrow will be cheered to the echo. The best they can hope for is to set up a good fight, for the well-trained Dublin team have serious ambitions. Their victory over Kilkenny was their best achievement, for they scrambled home against Leix, and were hard set to beat Offaly. I do not think we have seen the best of this Leinster team yet, and am confident the side will perform well in the Irish final. No risks will be taken against Antrim to-morrow.

At Portlaoighise a nice programme is arranged, where a tie in the Leix Championship between Kilcotton and Portlaoighise will be played. Offaly and Kilkenny meet in junior hurling, and the passage of Offaly's best fifteen into senior ranks seems to make the way easy for the Kilkenny men.

A fine football struggle is promised in Connaught (Tuam), where the re-play football final between Galway and Mayo will be decided. The counties are old rivals, and the winners have good prospects in the succeeding inter-provincials to decide the Irish Championship of 1924. I rather think it time the G.A.A. discarded the title "All-Ireland" Championship. The term "Irish Championship" ought to fill the bill. No higher title could be achieved by Irish hurling or football team, handballer, or athlete than Irish champion.

CRICKET.

M.C.C. v. SOUTH AUSTRALIA.

BRILLIANT BATTING BY A. RICHARDSON.

ADELAIDE, November 7.

Following a very poor start, South Australia gave a splendid exhibition of batting in the match against the M.C.C. team, which began here to-day in muggy weather, before a moderate attendance. Winning the toss, the home side occupied the wicket all day, and when stumps were drawn they had run up the fine total of 334, and still had six of their wickets intact. Heavy rain fell overnight, but the wicket had been protected, and was in perfect condition when G. Harris and A. Richardson opened South Australia's innings to the bowling of Gilligan and Tate. With only 8 runs on the board, Harris was dismissed by Tate with the first ball of the third over, and in the same over, with the total unaltered, the Sussex man got Murray out leg before. Tate at this point had secured two wickets for 1 run. Victor Richardson was next in, and the batting became much more lively. Tyldesley went on to bowl at Gilligan's end at 21, and 9 runs later Douglas displaced Tate, whose analysis was then 5 overs, 3 maidens, 4 runs and 2 wickets. Both the Richardsons were playing in attractive style, and appeared particularly to appreciate Tyldesley's bowling. The fielding of the visitors was smart and met with frequent applause. When he had made 30, A. Richardson was bowled by a no ball from Tyldesley, who stepped over the crease in delivering the ball. The batsmen continued to score at a steady pace, the 50 being sent up as the result of the first hour's play, and at the luncheon interval the total stood at 72 for two wickets (A. Richardson 35, and V. Richardson 28). On resuming the attendance had increased to about 4,000, among those present being Lieutenant-General Sir T. Bridges, Governor of South Australia. Gilligan and Tate shared the attack and the crowd cheered lustily when A. Richardson scored a couple of fours in succession off the latter, with a hit to leg and an on-drive. The cheering was renewed soon afterwards when A. Richardson reached his individual 50 in an hour and forty minutes. The running between the wickets was very smart, and several singles from pats towards short leg were stolen. The century was hoisted when play had lasted just over an hour and three-quarters. A. Richardson, who was scoring much faster than his partner, met with a great ovation on lifting Tyldesley over the ropes for a magnificent 6, the English team joining heartily in the applause. With his next stroke he legged the Lancashire bowler for 4, scoring altogether 11 runs in one over. Both batsmen continued to play brisk and confident cricket, Victor Richardson giving a very correct display. Towards the tea interval the fielding became somewhat patchy. There was a burst of cheering, in which the Englishmen joined, when A. Richardson completed his century with a glorious six shot off Hearne, which went right into the grand stand. He had then been batting for just under two hours and three-quarters without giving a single chance. With his score at 85, V. Richardson should have been run out, Gilligan at mid-off losing a chance through misfielding the ball. Shortly afterwards the tea interval arrived with the total at 232 for two wickets. When the game was restarted the crowd had increased to 6,500, and the first ball bowled proved fatal to Victor Richardson, who hit his wicket in playing a delivery from Gilligan. The South Australian skipper had played with great steadiness for his contribution of 87, which included eight 4's, and the partnership for the third wicket had put on 214 runs in two hours and forty minutes. Pritchard, the next man in, was dismissed by the English captain at 246, and Richardson, whose score was then 139, was next partnered by Walsh. Runs came freely, but the newcomer, after making 13, narrowly escaped being run out, Hearne fumbling a smart return from Tate at mid-on with the batsman scrambling yards away from his crease. The third century was signalled when the innings had progressed for four hours and eighteen minutes, and then Richardson scored another six with a magnificent on-drive off Tyldesley. Gilligan tried frequent changes of bowling without success, and the close of play was reached with the total at 334 for four wickets, Arthur Richardson's score then being 192. He had given a brilliant and dashing display, hitting with great power all round the wicket, while his footwork was excellent. So far he has hit three 6's and eighteen 4's. The English bowlers found considerable difficulty in making the ball turn on the hard wicket. The partnership between the two Richardsons for the third wicket is a best on record for a match between England and South Australia. Victor Richardson declared that he did not hit his wicket and states that the ball was displaced by the wind. Score:—

SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

Louvoisina has been struck out of all engagements in 1924.

C. Ringstead, the light-weight jockey, has accepted an engagement to ride in India during the winter.

Denial is given, on the authority of Viscount Lascelles, to the report that he proposed to acquire Egerton House, Newmarket.

Donoghue finds it impossible to travel to Marseilles, consequently Condover will probably be ridden by MacGee in the Grand Prize to-morrow.

THE LOUTH HOUNDS.

The opening meet of this pack was held at Castlebellingham on Friday, October 31st. Braganstown held a brace, one being hunted out towards the railway, where he found a hole. Hounds were then taken back to the covert, but the other fox could not be induced to leave, so had to be left. There were several foxes on foot in Thehellen. One breaking on the river side of the covert was hunted fast over the river, through Roodstown on to Drumcashel; then on along the river to the Whitemills. Here he recrossed the river into Richardstown, and was marked to ground in a badger earth at the railway, after a nice hunt of fifty-five minutes.

On Wednesday, 5th, Hilltown was the tryst, and a large field turned out and enjoyed an excellent day's sport. Hilltown was full of foxes. One was caught nearly at once, and another was hunted into Ratholland, then up the hill pointing for Silverstream, but, wheeling right-handed, came back into Hilltown, and on to Ratholland, where he found a hole. Another fox found in the Mullagh was marked to ground near the house.

The Carnes and Silverstream were both blank, but Dardistown held a good fox. Hounds, getting a good start with him, ran fast into Moorchurch, and over the road, pointing for Ballygarth, but, turning right-handed near the Dublin road, came back by Moorchurch, and on, leaving Balloe on their left, to Lisdornan. Still running fast, they crossed the road, and went on nearly to Silverstream, but just short of this they bore right-handed over Mullaicela hill into Saddlerstown glen, where hounds were stopped after a fine hunt of sixty-five minutes.

DUHALLOW HOUNDS.—November,—Monday, 10th, Gortmore Cross; Tuesday, 11th, John's Bridge; Thursday, 13th, Rock Mills; Saturday, 15th, Old Two-pot House; Monday, 17th, Becnaskehy; Tuesday, 18th, Rosskeen Bridge; Thursday, 20th, Kilworth; Saturday, 22nd, Kilmacroom. At 10.45 o'clock.

COURSING.

IRISH CUP.

The Irish Cup will be run for at Clonnanna next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The draw takes place on Tuesday at Cruise's Hotel, Limerick. A complete list of the probable candidates is not available, but the following nominations will be filled:—

Mr. Joseph Shaw (Belfast) will nominate Mr. R. Fraser's f. d. Happy Hal (Luxory—Nellie Adams).

Mr. John Finn (Cork) intends to nominate Mr. E. Kent's f. w. r. d. Twisted Answer (Woolwinder—Crooked Answer).

Mr. James Fleming will run f. d. Full Tide (Fra Diavalo—Handrail).

Mr. John Griffin (Tralee) will be represented by bd. d. Loafer (Harmony XII.—Cos).

Mr. R. V. Ryan (Tipperary) nominates bd. w. d. Crimson Dawn (Topper III.—Ouida III.).

Mr. S. J. Matthews (Limerick) will likely be represented by f. d. Mardosi (Three Speed—Modest Beauty II.)

Mr. J. Fitzgibbon (Askeaton) intends running bd. d. Irish Harry (Harry the Liar—Irish Peg).

CROSS-COUNTRY RUNNING.

PEMBROKE LABOUR ATHLETIC CLUB.

The weekly run will take place from the McCracken Hall, Ballsbridge, at 3.30 to-morrow. In view of the near approach of the Novices Championship, a full attendance of members is requested. As this will be the only cross-country event in County Dublin to-morrow, members of other clubs are cordially invited to participate.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY CENTRAL ATHLETIC COMMITTEE.

The annual general meeting of the D.U.C.A.C. will be held in the Regent House, Trinity College, on Monday, November 10th, at 8 p.m. It is hoped that all College men and the Presidents and Vice-Presidents of the respective clubs, in particular, will avail themselves of this opportunity to express their views and put forward new suggestions.

RUGBY.

HOSPITALS' CHARITY MATCH.

BLUES V. WHITES.

The first representative trial match of the season is listed for this afternoon at Lansdowne road, where teams named Blues and Whites oppose, with a view to helping the selectors in picking the Leinster XV., and incidentally assisting that most deserving of charities, the Dublin Hospitals Fund. No other Senior match will be played, and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance to witness what should be an excellent game. Comparatively few changes have been made on the selected sides, which have been arranged so as to make the game as even as possible. Kick off 2.30 o'clock. Teams:—

BLUES.

Full-back—D. Kennedy (Wanderers).

TO-DAY'S MATCHES.

The failure of Rosemount to place a team in the field this year is to be regretted, more especially as it will leave one senior team without a match each week-end during the season. To-day Monkstown are the sufferers. All three matches listed in the division promise good games. Dublin University play their first match away, meeting Pembroke Wanderers at Serpentine avenue; and Kingstown Grammar School, strengthened by the inclusion of A. E. Phillips, will meet Railway Union on the latter's ground. Fairview C.Y.M.S. play Three Rock Rovers at Foxrock, and, in addition, there is a full list of junior games.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

INTERCESSION FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS.

LETTER FROM ARCHBISHOPS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Will you kindly permit us to remind the clergy and people of the Church of Ireland that St. Andrew's Day (November 30th) is set apart as a Day of Intercession for the work of Foreign Missions? The Board of Missions of the General Synod have given their hearty approval to this annual united effort of prayer. We are anxious that the day should be duly observed in every parish throughout the Church.

As St. Andrew's Day will this year fall on a Sunday, we suggest that one of the Services on that Sunday might be set apart for the purpose, with the addition of suitable prayers, and, where possible, a sermon dealing with some aspect of the missionary work of the Church. Copies of the Missionary Litany can be obtained at the offices of the S.P.G., 27 Molesworth street, and C.M.S., 21 Molesworth street, Dublin.—Yours, etc.,

CHARLES F. ARMAGH.
JOHN DUBLIN.

November 7th, 1924.

THE GENERAL POST OFFICE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Under the heading, "Greater Dublin: Commissioners' Work Flouted," in yesterday's issue, your Political Correspondent states that it was suggested that, in view of the action of the Post Office Department, the members of the Commission of Inquiry might resign. As a member of that Commission, I wish to state that I, for one, never sat under the impression that rebuilding in the city, with the employment it can provide, was to be held up until our deliberations came to an end and until we could furnish a report.

Therefore, for my part I do not feel flouted by the action of the Post Office Department. I would not resign if I were flouted, because I believe that resignation from a position of public responsibility (even following your Political Correspondent's report) neither increases public confidence, promotes business, nor cures personal pique.—Yours, etc.,

OLIVER ST. J. GOGARTY.

15 Ely place, Dublin,

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—In your excellent report and review of yesterday's debate in the Dail, the impression is given that the House "was satisfied with" the reply of the Postmaster-General, with the result that "the motion was 'talked out.'" The motion, of its nature, could not be "talked out." It did not call for—nor did it permit of—a division. Yours, etc.,

WILLIAM MAGENNIS.

HOUSES FOR EX-SERVICE MEN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Your correspondent, "Legion," quotes me as saying what I never said, and deliberately leaves out what I did say—which would have an altogether different meaning when read as a whole. I will at present decline to enter into any correspondence on the subject, as it would only do the ex-Service men harm while negotiations are proceeding.—Yours, etc.,

H. LEFROY, Major.

SUBSCRIPTIONS AND APPEALS.

A SUNSHINE HOME FOR CHILDREN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—May I trespass on your courtesy to inform those who subscribed to the Children's Sunshine Home that the building is now finished? We have been able to accomplish this out of funds collected and subscribed, but the small income from our capital is not enough to enable us to start taking in the children unless we have more help from the public. I believe that we have only to make this known in order to receive donations; for everyone will be anxious for the children to get the benefit of the fresh air, now that the Home is ready. It is beautifully situated close to Stillorgan Station and is beautifully built; in fact, it is in every way suited to its purpose.

I should like to point out that such a Home is more needed for delicate children in the slums during the winter months than in the summer. When the weather is fine many of them get some light and air in public parks, etc.; in winter none of them gets any. If we could raise £500 now, we could open the Home in January; so we earnestly ask for gifts of money or suitable articles of equipment—viz., cots, beds, furniture, bedding, kitchen utensils, etc. These should be sent to Miss Overend, Honorary Treasurer, 12 Ely place, Dublin.—Yours, etc.,

ELLA G. A. WEBB, M.D.

ASSOCIATION.

TO-DAY'S MATCHES.

THE INTERNATIONAL.

To-day the Amateur International between Ireland and England will be played at Belfast, but there does not seem to be much ground for hoping that the Irish amateurs will be able to hold the English forwards, who are reputed to be a very formidable combination. Indeed, from goal out the English team is an exceptionally strong one, and, while the Irish selectors have called on several Irish players attached to cross-Channel clubs, the odds are all against an Irish victory.

"COUNT THEM ON THE ROAD"

EDUCATIONAL BOOKS.

Hazlitt's "Lectures on the English Poets"—first published in 1818—has been added to that excellent series of pocket volumes, "The World's Classics." Hazlitt's Shakespearean essays were much used formerly in the Intermediate courses. The essays in the present volume are more discursive; for they deal with Chaucer, Spenser, Milton, Dryden, Pope, Cowper, Gray, Collins, Burns, etc. They hardly could be bettered as supplementary reading in the present Secondary system. Hazlitt is lucid, illuminating, and always charming.

"Lectures on the English Poets." By William Hazlitt. Oxford: The University Press. 2/- net.

"Addison has everything to recommend him to the Schoolmaster," says Sir Arthur Quiller-Couch. For the benefit of Irish schoolmasters an excellent selection of essays from the Spectator has been made, and so arranged as to form a continuous narrative. Most of the old favourites are embodied in the scheme —"Of the Club," "The Character of Will Wimble," "Sir Roger at the Theatre," "Omens," "Mirzah," and others. It is interesting to recall that Addison wrote his first contributions to the Spectator while he was living in Dublin. These essays were "leading articles" in the eighteenth century. There are useful annotations.

"Days with the Spectator in Town and Country." Dublin: Browne and Nolan. 1/6 net.

The "Rosemary Shakespeare Readers" are intended for the use of preparatory classes. The story of "Hamlet," as told by Charles and Mary Lamb, is combined with extracts from the play, and a glossary is appended. "Macbeth" is treated in the same fashion. Each book is brightened by illustrations suited to excite the childish interest.

NEW CHURCH TO OUR LADY OF LOURDES,

LR. GLOUCESTER STREET, DUBLIN.

A temporary Edifice has been erected on the site secured for the New Church, which is badly needed in this locality.

It is already crowded, and the Shrine has aroused a deep spirit of Devotion to Our Lady of Lourdes, with most beneficial results among the people.

The Accommodation afforded by the Temporary Structure is inadequate. The Administrator strongly appeals to the Catholics of Dublin and of Ireland for the means to undertake the building of the New Church. The district being one of the most densely populated and poorest in the city, little pecuniary aid can be expected from it.

The Holy Sacrifice of the Mass will be offered EACH WEEK for Subscribers.

Subscriptions will be thankfully received by any of the Clergy, or by FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets were quiet and irregular. Opening prices were lower, but towards the close quotations improved, and the tone in the end was firm.—(Page 10.)

Elections and a Moral.

Yesterday, on President Cosgrave's motion, the session of Dail Eireann was adjourned until the 18th November. The main reason for this break in the House's business is the incidence of five by-elections. Candidates of the Government's party are being opposed in all five constituencies, and they have signalled for the help of Ministers and other members of the Dail. Mr. Thomas Johnson's criticism of the President's motion was legitimate and, indeed, obvious. The Dail is not the possession of any party in the State. The dominant party—in this case the Cumann na nGaedheal—has no right to delay important legislation for the sake of its own candidates at the elections. Mr. Johnson's criticism, being unanswerable, was met with a plea of confession and avoidance. It was pleaded, in the first place, that the times are not "normal," and, in the next place, that, while Ministers and deputies have been bound by their Parliamentary duties, their enemies have been engaged in persistent propaganda not merely against the Government, but against the State itself. We must admit some force in these arguments, but they ought not to have been necessary; for the position in which Ministers now find themselves is of their own making. It is through their own fault that the country is confronted to-day with what President Cosgrave described as "a miniature general election." None of these five seats has been vacant for less than five or six weeks. The North Mayo seat became vacant at Easter, the South Dublin seat in June and the Donegal seat in August. There is no satisfactory reason why any of them should have been left vacant until now. There is at least one cogent reason why all should have been filled with the irreducible minimum of delay. The chief feature of our Free State elections during the past two years has been the extreme apathy of the electors: in most cases hardly fifty per cent. of them have gone to the polls. This is a disquieting symptom in a young State, and the Government is setting a very bad example by the complacency with which it has allowed constituencies to be disfranchised for months at a time. How can it expect the people to value a right which Ministers are so ready to put in cold storage?

So long as Parliamentary elections are deferred to suit the convenience of Ministers or parties the times cannot be "normal," and during the months or weeks of such disfranchisement the State's enemies will sow propaganda to their hearts' desire. We hope that, as soon as these five seats have been filled, the Government will make no delay in arranging elections for the nine which have been emptied by the resignation of Mr. McGrath's group in the Dail. There are many other ways in which the Government could strengthen its own position and benefit the country by a quite simple "tightening up" of the machinery of administration. If the various Ministries would establish closer touch with one another and with the Executive Council, and if both Council and Ministries would show a more vigilant regard for the rights and privileges of Parliament, many of those blunders and misunderstandings which injure alike the State's welfare and its prestige would be made impossible. Take, for instance, the unfortunate conflict between the Minister for Posts and Telegraphs and the Greater Dublin Commission in the matter of the new General Post Office. Thursday's debate suggests that Professor Magennis put the argument too high when he spoke as the champion of an outraged Constitution. It seems that the Greater Dublin Commission and Mr. Walsh's Ministry have been acting, quite ignorantly and honestly, at cross-purposes. The Commission thought—as we thought—that the site of the new Post Office had been put within its jurisdiction. Mr. Walsh thought that "it was generally assumed" that he was free to rebuild the Post Office on the old site. Mr. Blythe said that "there was no idea of flouting the Greater Dublin Commission"; but the Executive Council never at any time, as it appears, told the Commission that it had ratified Mr. Walsh's plans. Surely it is astonishing that the business of the State should be conducted in this casual fashion. A main cause, no doubt, of the present laxity is the absence of an effective Opposition in Parliament.

Fascismo and Freedom.

The Armistice celebrations in Italy seem to have brought to a head the gathering conflict between official Fascismo and the mass of the Italian people. Serious riots are reported to have taken place throughout the country, more particularly in Rome and Milan. In the latter city the editor and the manager of the Corriere della Sera, by far the best newspaper in Italy, were attacked by a Fascist mob as they were sitting in a café, and were saved only by the prompt intervention of the police. Fascism is fighting for its life. During the past twelve months its grip on the popular imagination has been loosening day by day, and now, almost within sight of political disaster, it is making a final bid to recover by the methods of the castor oil bottle and the manganello that moral support which no tyranny ever can hope to secure. The first signs of trouble in Italy appeared when the new electoral law came into force. By this law democracy, as it is known in modern Europe, ceased to apply to the land which invented it, and was replaced by a system that sought to perpetuate the power of Fascism. There are at least a dozen political parties in Italy, and Signor Mussolini, knowing that, while the Fascisti were in a national minority, they constituted the largest individual group in the country, devised a plan by which the party that got the greatest number of votes at an election automatically would secure a two-thirds' majority in the nation's Parliament, irrespective of the combined poll of all the other parties. In the event the Fascisti polled the greatest number of votes, with the result that the other parties were reduced to impotence, and Signor Mussolini was placed in a position which seemed to be impregnable.

Force, however, is useless against the march of democratic ideals. Despite the overwhelming might of the Fascisti, the Italian people soon began to become restive under their new Government, and during recent months unrest has begun to ripen into revolt. Every newspaper of any importance in the country, with the exception of Signor Mussolini's own organ, the Popolo d'Italia, has launched a campaign against the virtual abrogation of Parliamentary government. The people who welcomed the young Fascisti as their deliverers from Bolshevism two years ago now resent very bitterly the existence of an armed militia which is paid out of the public purse, but has no responsibility to anybody or anything except the political party which it brought into power. At first the Fascisti militia included most of the ex-soldiers who had fought in the war, but gradually these men have formed their own organisations, while the Fascisti have gained recruits from some very doubtful sources. The free fights which are taking place every other day at present arise chiefly out of the growing antagonism between the ex-soldiers proper—the Combattenti, as they are called—and the Fascisti militia; and Tuesday's scenes throughout Italy marked a further stage in the conflict between the two organisations. The Combattenti are expressing, in the crude manner of their type, the opinions of Italian democracy which, while recognising the fact that Fascism saved it from one tyranny, has discovered that Tweedledum differs only in name from Tweedledee. Despotism is despotism whether its exponents carry red flags or wear black shirts. The continued resignations from the Fascisti, culminating in the defection yesterday of the President of the Roman War Veterans, hitherto one of the staunchest supporters of Signor Mussolini, indicate clearly that another phase in the long battle for freedom has begun.

The Rentenmark.

Preparations are complete for the issue of a new currency by the German Reichsbank. All banking business is done now at the Reichsbank in the new Reichmarks, and the Rentenmark is disappearing from use rapidly. The issue of Rentenmarks for higher values than twenty marks has been discontinued. Public and private companies throughout Germany are being compelled by law to follow the example of the Reichsbank, and in future their balance-sheets will be drawn up in Reichmarks. No notes will be issued for smaller sums than ten marks, and metal coins will take the place of paper money for all lower values. The Reichsbank has been making great efforts to increase the stock of gold in its possession, and between the end of April and the beginning of October these efforts have been so successful as to result in an increase to the value of about one hundred and fifty million marks. The Rentenmark has been in circulation for just a year, and it has served its purpose well. At the time of its adoption Germany was on the brink of a financial and economic collapse. The supply of paper marks was far in excess of the stock of gold in the banks, and these marks had ceased to represent any definite value as a medium of exchange. At that time the metal coinage had disappeared and notes were issued for all sums of money, however trivial. From this unhappy and dangerous situation the Rentenmark rescued Germany; it enabled a revival to be made which is as wonderful as it had been unexpected. The restoration of a sound currency has provided a basis for a complete change in the whole financial aspect of Germany's post-war problems. The Reichsbank's success promises well for the fulfilment of the conditions which have been imposed by the London Agreement.

Pink Foxes.

The vagaries of fashion have brought about a vogue of furs dyed to unnatural colours. The exquisite gradations of tint in the pelt of fox and marten are extinguished by pink or yellow pigments. This new mode yields effects pleasing to the modern eye, but aesthetes will condemn it as a sin against the genius of material. Readers whom Elia has sent to that charming Quaker scripture, the Journal of John Woolman, will recall the distressed perplexity in which the custom of dyeing furs once involved that saintly soul. About "the time of our General Spring Meeting, 1762," the famous American Quaker, the emancipator of the slaves, gave thought to the practice of colouring hats and garments—a practice which offended his conscience as being a double falsehood, inasmuch as it belied the nature of the material used and served to conceal dirt. Accordingly, he got him a beaver hat of the natural colour of the fur, and attended meetings in this conscientiously chosen headgear. About that time modish people chanced to have taken to the wearing of white hats for very different reasons; and Friends, Woolman writes, "were apprehensive that my wearing such a hat savoured of an affected singularity." They "grew shy" at him, and he "felt his way for a time shut up in the exercise of the ministry." Yet he suffered in silence the inconveniences of this quaint spiritual adventure. As we of to-day read his narrative, we are wistful, being divided between amusement at its drollery and a reverence for the moral beauty of the Quaker's mind. We think of the roaring life that teems to-day in the Pennsylvania through which he went afoot in solitary meditation; and we would rather see his snowy beaver in the old-time glades than the pink foxes in the modern streets.

COURT AND PERSONAL.

The Princess Mary Viscountess Lascelles and Viscount Lascelles visited the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace yesterday and remained to luncheon. LONDON LETTER.

THE BOUNDARY COMMISSION.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

A further meeting of the Irish Boundary Commission was held this morning in London, when the Commissioners decided to hold no further meetings until sufficient time had been allowed for the receipt of any statements, which the Governments of the Irish Free State and Northern Ireland might desire to submit for their consideration. It was also decided that, for the moment, the sittings of the Commission will be held in private and statements issued for publication from time to time. The Commissioners hope, if circumstances permit, to pay a visit to Ireland very shortly to study the situation on the spot.

The Irish Boundary Commission has appointed as its secretary Mr. F. S. Bourdillon, who was for some years on the staff of the Upper Silesian Commission, serving during most of the period as British Deputy-Commissioner. He had previously been concerned with boundary questions at the Peace Conference in Paris, so that he is well qualified for the task now allotted to him. Mr. Bourdillon was educated at Charterhouse and Oxford, and comes of an old Sussex family.

Princes at Privy Council.

A crowd gathered outside Buckingham Palace this morning to watch the arrival and departure of the outgoing and incoming Ministers. Many of the Labour ex-Ministers were recognised and greeted by their names, but there was very little cheering or enthusiasm for the old or new. Mr. Baldwin was warmly cheered, however, when he left the Palace some time after the other Ministers, having had an audience of the King. Mr. Churchill also was loudly cheered as he drove by in his car. It is understood that Mr. Baldwin will present a further list of new Ministers to the King to-night, but it is uncertain whether this list will be published before next Monday. A notable feature of the meeting of the Privy Council this morning, when the new Ministers took the oath, was the presence of the Prince of Wales and Prince Arthur of Connaught. This is in accordance with tradition that the Council on such occasions shall, if possible, consist of Princes of the Royal blood.

The New Cabinet.

It is understood that the Cabinet of the new Conservative Government will consist of twenty members, as compared with nineteen in Mr. Baldwin's former Administration. Nineteen appointments have already been announced, and it is probable that the remaining one will be filled by the occupant of the Chancellorship of the Duchy of Lancaster, which was held in the previous Baldwin Cabinet by Mr. J. C. C. Davidson. Among the minor appointments in the Government it is likely that Mr. Walter Guinness will again be Financial Secretary to the Treasury. It is fully expected that the precedent of the late Government will be followed and a woman appointed to one of the minor posts. Probably she will be the Duchess of Atholl, who made a marked impression on the House during the late Parliament, and if, as is suggested, she is given the post of Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Education, the appointment will meet with warm approval.

Mr. Churchill and the Treasury.

Mr. Churchill has had great experience in the spending departments of the State, and, now that he has gone to the Treasury, he will know all the ropes and should be in a position to secure important economies wherever possible. It is certain that Mr. Churchill will bring a grim determination to bear on his task, and it is quite possible that he may be successful in reducing expenditure and taxation. This morning, after he had received his seals of office from the King, he immediately proceeded to the Treasury and was received officially by his departmental chiefs. In the city the news of Mr. Churchill's appointment has been received with great interest, and it is recognised that he will have an early opportunity of displaying his financial gifts in dealing with maturing debt. It is thought that he will take no action in this direction without consulting the leading financial interests, of whose support he is assured in advance.

The Foreign Minister.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain is regarded in diplomatic circles as being an excellent choice for the post of Secretary for Foreign Affairs. He has fine, if rather austere, manners; he speaks French and German nearly as well as he does his mother tongue, and he has travelled extensively on the Continent. It is related that Mr. Joseph Chamberlain once remarked that his son Austen, of all politicians he knew, was the one most suited for foreign affairs. It is understood that Mr. Chamberlain's additional post as deputy-leader of the House of Commons will make no very great demands upon his time, since Mr. Baldwin himself will lead the House, as a rule, and will call for Mr. Chamberlain's services only when need requires.

Moving House.

The Prime Minister and Mrs. Baldwin expect to take possession once again of No. 10 Downing street in about a fortnight's time. Chequers, however, will see them back again this week-end. It seems that the famous country house must be one of the great compensations attached to the responsibility of being Prime Minister; for it is regularly used and thoroughly appreciated as a resting-place. Mr. Churchill is to take possession of No. 11 Downing street, which is really the official residence of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, though it has frequently been resigned to the leader of the House.

An Important Problem.

The interesting announcement made by Sir Douglas Hogg to-day, that Mr. Neville Chamberlain had refused the post of Chancellor of the Exchequer and accepted that of Minister of Health, because he might make use of his knowledge of municipal affairs to try to solve the housing problem, shows that there is a right spirit in the Cabinet. If the Baldwin Government can only find houses for working classes within a reasonable period of time, the gratitude of the country will be great and sincere.

Lord Birkenhead's Appointment.

Lord Birkenhead's appointment to the India Office will save the country five thousand pounds a year; for he will relinquish his pension as an ex-Lord Chancellor on taking office. This is the course usually followed, and it is in accordance with the terms of the Letters Patent granting the pension, which preclude the holder of a pension from drawing, in addition, a salary as a Minister. His appointment is hailed with delight in Anglo-Indian circles and at the India Office.

"O'Flaherty, V.C."

On Thursday, November 20th, Mr. Bernard Shaw is to broadcast from 2LO his play, "O'Flaherty, V.C." The play is only a short one, and it should not take Mr. Shaw more than twenty minutes to read it. This will be the début of Mr. Shaw at the microphone; but, as he reads excellently, the ordeal does not promise to be a trying one. The reading of the play is to be broadcast simultaneously from all stations, with the exception of Belfast.

Prince Nicholas of Rumania, who was recently gazetted sub-lieutenant in the British Navy, has been spending his leave with his parents, the King and Queen of Rumania, in the Carpathian Mountains and at Bucharest. He has now arrived at Malta to join his ship, H.M.S. Benbow.

NEW CABINET BEGINS WORK.

MR. CHURCHILL AT TREASURY.

SIR R. HORNE'S FINE TRIBUTE.

NEW MINISTERS PRAISED.

A CABINET WITH GREAT CAPACITY.

MANY comments have been made regarding the non-inclusion of Sir Robert Horne in the new Conservative Cabinet. He was Chancellor of the Exchequer in the Coalition Cabinet, 1921-22, and afterwards left Whitehall for the City.

It is stated that he was willing to sacrifice his directorships, which bring him in an income of £15,000 a year, if he had been offered the post of Chancellor of the Exchequer (which carries with it a salary of £5,000), but instead he was offered, and refused, the position of Minister of Labour. The Chancellorship went to Mr. Winston Churchill, and the post of Labour Minister to Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland.

Last night Sir Robert Horne paid a generous tribute to the members of the new Conservative Cabinet, and especially to Mr. Churchill.

The new Ministers have lost no time in taking charge of their departments. They received their seals of office at Buckingham Palace yesterday morning—the retiring Ministers having previously surrendered them to the King—and entered their offices in Whitehall later in the day. Characteristically Mr. Churchill, the new Chancellor of the Exchequer, upon receiving his seal, drove straight from the Palace to the Treasury.

SIR ROBERT HORNE'S SPEECH.

TRIBUTE TO MR. BALDWIN'S CABINET.

Speaking last night at a political house dinner at the Ladies' Carlton Club, Chesterfield Gardens, London, Sir Robert Horne said that they were meeting together at the end of a marvellous election.

"GREAT POLITICAL SAGACITY."

"I am sure," he continued, "that we all congratulate ourselves upon the Cabinet that has been formed. In my view, it contains not only ripe experience and great political sagacity, but it also embodies forces of momentum which will, I hope, ensure that progressive policy which Lady Midleton has commended to us to-night.

"I compare it with the great Cabinets of the past, and I am sure that in capacity and sagacity it favourably compares with any Cabinet of which we have record, and I am sure that every member of it is imbued with an ardent desire to justify the great confidence which the nation has reposed in our party.

"I should like, if I may, to wish Mr. Winston Churchill great success in the office to which he has been appointed. It is one of the greatest offices in the State. It is, indeed, the department upon which the final success of all other departments depends. Without the Treasury and without the proper administration of the Treasury every department of Government would become, if not impossible, at least ineffective. On the proper guidance of that great office depends the success of the highest interests of the country.

TRIBUTE TO MR. CHURCHILL.

"You have now installed in that position a man of brilliant gifts, of quite extraordinary mental capacity, of assiduity, of industry, which I think is unsurpassed by any other person with whom I am acquainted. I am sure we all wish Mr. Churchill that great success which is necessary to the welfare of the country.

"The other appointments have been of a character which bring the greatest gratification to all of us. We have now done with the Government which has usurped office in this country during the last nine months.

"Mr. Blain, Sir Robert continued, was to be congratulated upon the great organisation which had enabled them to achieve their triumph, and he was sure he would agree with him (Sir Robert) when he reminded them that although two million more people voted in the last election than in the previous election, that surplus of votes went almost equally to Socialists and Anti-Socialists.

That was a portentious circumstance which they must not omit to notice and take into very serious consideration.

It means, said Sir Robert, that propaganda has had considerable success in the constituencies. It is not quite right to say that because the Socialists increased their poll by a million over their record last year that it is entirely an increase in Socialist votes. In fact, they had far more candidates at this election than at the last, but it remains a formidable fact that undoubtedly their numbers have increased, and to-day they represent a body of five and a half million people in this country.

TRADE UNION TYRANNY.

"It behoves us to keep our machinery in the best possible working order. If we think that we have won a great victory and are entitled to be idle, we shall make the greatest mistake of our lives. The Socialist Party have a machine to which there is nothing comparable.

"They have command of the trade union machine, and there is no organisation that I know possessing the political influence of the trade union movement. It is one feature which really borders on tyranny, and which I hope this next Parliament, with the great majority it has, will remove.

"It is outrageous that Conservative and Liberal members of trade unions should be compelled to subscribe to the political funds of a party they hate and detest."

"There are many things which we must do, and I hope we shall never be found to act in this Parliament in any partisan spirit. We ought to base our policy on broad, national and Imperial lines. There are many immediate domestic concerns which must be dealt with. There is, above all things, the question of housing, the most insistent of all problems.

THE HOUSING PROBLEM.

"For all his boasting, Mr. Wheatley has not added a single man to the complement of labour in the building trade. We have a chance now of turning out houses on a large scale from materials other than bricks and mortar. This problem can be alleviated if mass production is adopted in the country.

"Already I hear rumours that some sections of the building trade are going to boycott these houses, and are going to refuse their labour for some portion of the material required for internal work. I want to say here and now, that if any policy of that kind emerges from any single trade union in this country, it is a matter which, in my view, this Government ought to fight to the last ditch.

"I hope the Government will go in for a real progressive policy of reconstruction. There are many schemes to be adopted. On the question of unemployment, we shall have to extend very greatly the schemes in operation, and I hope that among the measures adopted will be a great scheme—not any peddling scheme—of Empire settlement.

"I say that with more enthusiasm, because I am not in the office, required to provide the money."

Replying to the toast of "The Guests," Sir Laming Worthington-Evans said that Sir Robert Horne's speech was a speech, not only of a statesman, but of a sportsman. Not only of a sportsman, but of a generous gentleman. A speech which all in public life would be glad to recognise as of the highest possibe order.

THE NORTHERN PARLIAMENT.

TEXT OF KING'S SPEECH.

WORK OF THE SESSION REVIEWED.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

BELFAST, Friday.

The Parliament of Northern Ireland was prorogued this afternoon with the customary State ceremonial by the Governor, the Duke of Abercorn. The movement of troops and police through the streets to line the principal thoroughfares was witnessed by large crowds, who accorded an enthusiastic reception to the Governor, especially outside the Parliament Buildings in College Green.

At ten minutes to three o'clock the Governor, attended by his suite, left Clandeboye by motor-car, under the escort of his bodyguard, and drove in procession to the Parliament buildings.

At Donegall square, North, the procession moved slowly. From that point the route was lined by police and military.

Outside the Parliament Buildings a guard of honour of the 1st Battalion Seaforth Highlanders, under the command of Major I. H. M'Kay Scobie, was mounted in the grounds. The Governor was received by Lieutenant-Colonel H. F. Baillie, D.S.O., Officer Commanding the troops on parade, and Lieutenant-Colonel G. B. Rowan Hamilton, D.S.O., M.C., D.A., and Q.M.G., Northern Ireland District. As His Grace approached, the troops came to the present and the band played the National Anthem. His Grace inspected the guard of honour and entering the Parliament House went to the Senate, and took his seat on the Speaker's chair.

The Commons were summoned by Black Rod. Headed by the Sergeant-at-Arms, the Speaker and the Prime Minister came into the Senate, and the Governor read the King's Speech.

THE KING'S SPEECH.

The text of the King's Speech was as follows:—

MEMBERS OF THE SENATE AND OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS,—

I have to congratulate you upon the legislative measures passed this session, which mark steady progres in the promation of the general welfare of the people.

I am glad to learn that there are hopeful signs of a recovery from the acute period of depression generally experienced, although I regret that it is less rapid than we all so earnestly desire. The weather, which has proved so unfortunate to agriculture—our greatest industry—and the continued slackness in the shipyards, have prejudicially affected conditions in Northern Ireland, but prices for agricultural produce are showing an upward tendency, which will mitigate the losses sustained by farmers. I also note with pleasure that an improvement has taken place in shipbuilding, where the prospects are now somewhat brighter. It is still necessary to create work specially designed for the relief of unemployment, and in this regard it is satisfactory to know that the Government continues to receive the cordial co-operation of local authorities in whose districts unemployment is serious. An Act has been passed this session which has conferred increased rates of benefit for those who are unemployed, in conformity with similar legislation by the Imperial Parliament.

In other directions, by means of the Loans Guarantee Act, you have promoted the development of private industrial undertakings calculated to relieve unemployment. A sum of £5,000,000 has been made available for this purpose, and guarantees have already been given of over £4,500,000. A satisfactory sign in this period of trade depression is the continued popularity of Ulster Savings Certificates, in which nearly £1,500,000 has now been invested.

It is with great pleasure that I am able to state that the maintenance of law and order has been so satisfactorily continued and to record the thanks of our people to officers and men of the Royal Ulster and Special Constabulary. Their vigilance, tact and devotion to duty have enabled the whole community to settle down to a life of confidence and security.

I am gratified to know that the development of the new system of educational administration under the Act of last session is proceeding smoothly and rapidly. Statutory rules and orders have been laid before Parliament. Negotiations are in progress with the County Councils for the establishment of the local educational authorities in the counties, the 1st day of October, 1924, having been appointed by Order in Council for the bringing into operation of those provisions of the Act under which these bodies are required to be set up.

Your Housing Act extends the provisions of last year's measures with a view to affording a further opportunity to private builders and to local authorities to erect houses with Government assistance.

The Exchequer and Financial Provisions Act, which was passed early in the Session, has provided for the disposal of the sum of £400,000 granted by the Imperial Government in final satisfaction of the claim for the provision of buildings in accordance with the Government of Ireland Act, 1920, excluding Parliamentary buildings, new law courts and administrative offices. This sum will be utilised in connection with a training college and hostel for school teachers, a dépôt for the Royal Ulster Constabulary, a convict prison, a Borstal institution and criminal lunatic asylum and institutions for agricultural instruction and research.

MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS,—

I thank you for the provision of supplies for the public services.

MEMBERS OF THE SENATE AND OF THE HOUSE OF COMMONS,—

Various Commissions which have been set up are still engaged upon work of far-reaching importance, and the members are deserving every praise for the industry and care with which they are prosecuting their enquiries.

I am satisfied with the success of the Ulster Pavilion at the British Empire Exhibition, which provided a useful link in connecting Northern Ireland with other parts of His Majesty's Dominions. Upwards of 900 children, mainly from elementary schools, visited the Exhibition, and it is believed that the effect will be to foster and encourage Imperial ideals.

Many representatives of the Colonies have visited our shores this year, and will, I hope, take away with them recollections of the loyalty of our people towards the Empire, of which they and we are so proud to form a part.

I pray that the blessing of Almighty God may rest upon your labours.

After the King's speech the Commons returned to their chamber, and it was announced that the following measures had received the Royal assent:—The Finance Bill, the Assurance Companies Act, the Industrial Insurance Bill, Deceased Brothers' Widows' Marriage Bill, the Expiring Laws Continuance Bill, the Time Bill, the Unemployment Insurance (No. 2) Bill, the Appropriation (No. 2) Bill, the Illegitimate Children (Affiliation Orders) Bill, the Housing Act (Amendment) Bill, and the Valuation Act (Amendment) Bill.

The House adjourned until the 10th of March, 1925, the members shaking hands with the Speaker before leaving.

HONOURS FOR LABOUR MINISTERS.

A supplement to the London Gazette, issued last night, announces the appointment of two Privy Councillors, a K.C.M.G., and two C.V.O.'s. The announcement is as follows:—

PRIVY COUNCILLORS.

The King has been graciously pleased to declare that the following shall be sworn of His Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council:—William Graham, Esq., M.P.; Financial Secretary to the Treasury; Benjamin Charles Spoor, Esq., M.P., Parliamentary Secretary to the Treasury.

ORDER OF ST. MICHAEL AND ST. GEORGE.

The King has been graciously pleased to give directions for the following appointment to the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George:—To be an Ordinary Member of the Second Class, or Knights Commanders, of the said Most Distinguished Order—Sir Cecil James Barrington Hurst, K.C.B., K.C., Legal Adviser to the Foreign Office.

The King has been graciously pleased to make the following promotion in, and appointment to, the Royal Victorian Order:—To be Commanders—Walford Harmood Montague Selby, Esq., M.V.O.; Charles Patrick Duff, Esq.

BELFAST'S SUNDAY BROADCASTING.

ADDRESS BY BISHOP OF DOWN.

The Belfast Station of the British Broadcasting Company last night broadcast an announcement that, after consulting members of all the larger religious bodies, it had found no objection to broadcasting on Sunday evenings, and that it was intended to invite preachers from all denominations to speak in due course.

To-morrow the transmission will commence at 8.15 p.m. with hymns, followed by an address by the Bishop of Down and Connor and Dromore, after which there will be a programme of sacred music.

SAIL-LESS SAILING SHIP

TO CROSS ATLANTIC NEXT YEAR.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

BERLIN, Friday.

In March next Anton Flettner's new invention, the Rotor ship, or sail-less sailing ship, will wind its way across the Atlantic. Flettner's second Rotor ship is now being built at the Krupp Works for the Hamburg-American Lin

In addition to the claim that his invention will revolutionise ocean travel, Anton Flettner predicts that his air towers will generate electricity from the air 60 per cent. cheaper than the cost of present electricity; that his aero dynamics invention will make possible new aeroplane wings, with at least six times the present lifting power, and that leading airship constructors are now negotiating with him for the use of the invention on airships.

He also proposes a combination of his revolving towers with ocean liners, which, while not increasing the speed of the liners, will "save ninety per cent. of coal or oil, and a possible reduction of 36 per cent. in passenger rates."

On cargo boats to the Far East, the Hamburg-America Line estimates there will be a saving effected of over forty thousand pounds on the yearly service. The line plans to utilise the Flettner towers immediately, because it believes the invention does not need further development, but is at present perfect.

The first Rotor ship is now on exhibition at Kiel. It has two 60 feet towers, with a 9 feet radius. They revolve slowly, when started by a two horse power motor, but gain 120 turns a minute under the action of the wind. When the wind turns the ship tacks in the smallest angle. One man can operate the steering wheel, as well as the towers. It is estimated that liners with bigger towers could get 10,000 horse power out of the air.

Anton Flettner, who is at present Director of Aero-Hydro Dynamics at the Institute of Amsterdam, declares he is not seeking to make a fortune from his invention. "I want my invention to benefit mankind."

NORTHERN IRELAND REVENUE.

SEVEN MONTHS' FIGURES.

The Northern Ireland Exchequer returns for the seven months, ending 31st October, were issued last night, and show a balance in the Exchequer on that date of £12,481. The total revenue and other receipts during the seven months was £8,083,850, of which £802,983 was transferred revenue. The reserved revenue was £5,120,289, of which £2,941,643 was from Customs and Excise, £1,732,761 Inland Revenue, and £409,463 Post Office. The Land Purchase Annuities amounted to £335,000, and there was a British grant in aid of £500,000.

The total transferred expenditure was £4,263,319, of which the Ministry of Education absorbed £1,052,000, and the Ministry of Home Affairs £1,840,000, including £801,000 for Special Constabulary. Old age pensions cost during the seven months £544,000. The Post Office cost £425,100, showing a dificit on this service of £15,635. Northern Ireland's contribution to Imperial services to the 31st October was £1,575,000.

UNIVERSITY OF ABERDEEN.

APPOINTMENT FOR A BELFAST PROFESSOR.

It is officially announced that the King, on the recommendation of the Secretary for Scotland, has approved the appointment of Mr. John Laird, Professor of Logic and Metaphysics in Queen's University, Belfast, to be Regius Professor of Moral Philosophy in the University of Aberdeen, in place of Professor Baillie, resigned.

A Scotsman by birth, Professor Laird came to Belfast in 1913, in succession to Professor Park. He received his education at Edinburgh University and at Cambridge. His first appointment—as Professor of Moral Philosophy—was at Dalhousie, where he remained until he received his Belfast appointment. He is the author of several well-known books.

Professor Laird married Miss H. Forbes, whose father is a Belfast man. He is an elder of Elmwood Presbyterian Church, Belfast.

ALEXANDRA COLLEGE.

THE LADY ARDILAUN LECTURES.

The series of four lectures on French History will be given at Alexandra College, Dublin, on the afternoons of Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, November 11, 12, 13, and 14, at 4 o'clock. Principal Grant Robertson has again been appointed lecturer, and is taking as his subject for Lectures I. and II. "The Reign of Louis XI. (1461 to 1483)." Lectures III. and IV. will treat of "Mazarin and the Minority of Louis XIV. (1642 to 1660)," following on the study of Richelieu, which Principal Grant Robertson made in the former course of lectures. The series will be illustrated by lantern slides, and at the opening lecture the chair will be taken by the Archbishop of Dublin, Visitor of Alexandra College.

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference. — The anti-cyclone over the British Isles will maintain settled weather generally, with moderate or fresh north-easterly winds in the South and light, variable winds in the North, where slight frost and some fog are likely in places at night.

Ireland.—Wind easterly, light or moderate; mainly cloudy; morning mist or fog locally; slight night frost; moderate or rather low day temperature.

S.W. Seaboard, Mouth of Channel to South-West Ireland; Irish Sea and St. George's Channel. — Moderate easterly wind; fair or cloudy; visibility mainly moderate or good; sea slight.

N.W. Seaboard, Northern Ireland to Hebrides.— Wind variable or southerly, light or moderate; cloudy; visibility poor locally; sea slight.

FASCISTI SPLIT.

PRESIDENT OF WAR VETERANS RESIGNS.

NEW ITALIAN CRISIS.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

ROME, Friday.

FOR the first time since its advent to power in Italy Fascism is confronted with the open hostility of another powerful semi-military organisation.

The conflict between the Fascists and the Federation of War Veterans, caused by the Fascist attack on the "Italia Liberal" parade on November 4th, is growing more acute, and dominates the political situation in Italy to-day.

Deputy Ponzio de San Sebastiano, President of the Roman War Veterans, has notified Signor Mussolini of his resignation from the Fascisti Party. He was until now one of the Premier's strongest supporters, and his resignation has caused a great sensation.

It is reported that Deputy Viola will probably also desert the Fascist ranks.

ASSURANCE COMPANIES IN IRELAND.

DRAFT OF NEW ORDER.

The following notice was issued in the London Gazette of yesterday:—

"Privy Council Office,

"GOVERNMENT OF IRELAND ACT, 1920.

"Notice is hereby given that after the expiration of forty days from the date hereof it is proposed to submit to His Majesty in Council the draft of an Order-in-Council, under Section 69 of the above-mentioned Act, entitled 'The Government of Ireland (Assurance Companies) Order, 1924.'

"Notice is hereby given that in accordance with the provisions of the Rules Publication Act, 1893, copies of the aforesaid Order-in-Council can be obtained by any public body, within forty days from the date of this notice, at the Privy Council Office, Whitehall."

C.O.P.E.C.

THE CHRISTIAN IDEAL.

Under the auspices of the Dublin Christian Citizenship Council, a public meeting was held last evening in the Metropolitan Hall, Dublin, when addresses were delivered by members of the C.O.P.E.C., which met in April last in Birmingham.

Senator J. G. Douglas presided. He said that, like everybody present, he had endeavoured to keep in touch with the C.O.P.E.C. movement as he did with any other movement which would bring together people in fellowship to discuss and endeavour to find out the will of God and the mind of Jesus Christ concerning their problems of to-day. It was not only a real need, but a need which they felt in Ireland just as much as it was felt in any other part of the world. He thought that they were beginning to realise in Ireland that they had very much the same kind of people as were found in any other country. Their fellow-Christians in the Catholic Truth Society had felt it laid on them to study and give a great deal of time to some of the problems that C.O.P.E.C. discussed, and he believed it was the desire of all of them that they should endeavour to find the will of God for Ireland. All who called themselves Christians should be able to co-operate—and by co-operation he did not mean that they should give up, or be asked to give up, what they believed to be fundamentals—in the spirit of Jesus Christ, and thus have real fellowship, and be able to co-operate in carrying out God's will. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. L. G. Pilkington, a member of the C.O.P.E.C. Commission on Industry and Property, said that if the representatives of land, financial organisations, Capital management, Labour wholesale and retail, banking, and so on, met together, pooled their knowledge, searched, under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, for what constituted the difficulties that faced them, and what was God's plan for the solving of them, and then put their report before the Christian Citizenship Council and let them announce the report as what they believed to be the will of God, the result would be perfectly amazing if it were done all over the country. It was within their reach if they only stretched out and played their part. That was what the C.O.P.E.C. really was.

Canon C. E. Raven, D.D., Liverpool, Hon. Secretary, C.O.P.E.C., spoke on the wider vision of Christian responsibility, which, he said, had been dawning upon the churches in these last years, and which called into existence the movement of C.O.P.E.C. Referring to the conception of a Christian, and the application of Christian principles to social systems, he instanced education. He said that for the Christian knowledge was only one side, and not the most important, with which education could be concerned. No Christian could feel happy if an educational system left out of account the education of the heart, the passions, and the instincts, which filled a larger part in life than technical skill or intellectual subtlety.

Insanitary homes in this city, as well as in other cities, were a black smudge on the life of the city, and that smudge was on them because they and he were the city. Christians were simply practising the presence of God at all times—in church, in business and in recreation, and the application of its principles to every problem in life. By the development of Christian fellowship they could find out God's will concerning their institutions, see what was wrong, and then apply the remedy.

IDLE WOOLLEN MILLS.

INCREASE IN IMPORTED GOODS.

In reply to a question in the Dail, put by Mr. Sears, T.D.; Mr. P. McGilligan, Minister for Industry and Commerce, said:—

"There are at present 13 woollen mills working short time, and they normally employ 2,125 work people on an average of 49 hours per week. At present they employ approximately 1,607 work-people, or 518 less than the normal number, and 1,165 of this total of 1,607 are working on a short-time basis. The estimated total number of hours lost per week by these short-time workers is 29,792, representing a further 608 persons totally unemployed. Eight woollen mills are known to be closed entirely, causing the total unemployment of roughly 680 additional work-people. The existing unemployment in the woollen industry can, therefore, be estimated in terms of 1,806 persons totally unemployed."

The value of woollen goods imported for the last six months amounts to £2,084,070.

SIR ROBERT BADEN-POWELL ILL.

General Sir Robert Baden-Powell, in a letter expressing his regret at being unable to attend the opening of a Scout Hall at Wimborne, Dorset, yesterday, said, "Unfortunately the doctor has put me on the sick list, and I can not think of any Scout work for this year, at any rate."

BY-ELECTIONS.

DAIL ADJOURNS FOR CAMPAIGN.

FIGHT FOR FIVE SEATS.

STATE'S INTERESTS.

No fewer than five by-elections are in progress in the Free State, and the Government attaches such importance to them that the Dail has been adjourned for a week so that members may visit the constituencies. The constituencies and candidates are:—

Dublin, South—S. Hughes (Cumann-na-nGaedheal), S. Lemass (Republican).
Cork City—M. Egan (Cumann-na-nGaedheal), S. French (Republican).
North Mayo—M. Tierney (Cumann-na-nGaedheal), J. A. Madden (Republican).
East Cork—M. Noonan (Cumann-na-nGaedheal), M. Walsh (Republican).
Donegal—D. McCullough (Cumann-na-nGaedheal), T. Daly (Republican).

Nominations were received in South Dublin on Thursday, and in the two Cork constituencies and North Mayo yesterday. The candidates for Donegal will be nominated at Lifford to-day.

DAIL ADJOURNED.

LABOUR PARTY'S PROTEST.

After question time in the Dail yesterday, President Cosgrave proposed that at the conclusion of the sitting the House should adjourn until the 19th inst., instead of until Tuesday next, as in the ordinary course. Mr. Johnson intimated that he would oppose the motion.

President Cosgrave said that the first reason for his proposal was that there were several elections on, and it would be difficult, if not impossible, for deputies to attend the House, and, at the same time, take part in those elections, which were of considerable importance. Besides that, the work of the various departments occupied so much of the time of Ministers that many of them had been unable to get away.

Mr. Johnson, opposing the motion, said that the pending elections formed the real reason for the proposal that the House should adjourn for a week, at a time when there were urgent measures before them, including the Local Government Bill. They were right in the middle of the discussion of that measure, and he suggested that there was no practical reason why they should not proceed with it.

The proposal raised a matter of very considerable constitutional importance. It had been the subject of complaint more than once that the Ministry and the Dail were considered in one case as merely the executive of a political party, and in the other as a mere ratifying body for that political party. The Ministry which was responsible, not to that party, but to the Dail, proposed that the House should suspend its business to allow deputies of that party to conduct a party propaganda in the country. No matter how important the elections might be for the fortunes of that party, the proposal put the by-elections in a position superior to the interests of the business of the Dail, because the interests of one party within the Dail were at stake. That was an evidence of failure to appreciate the position that the Dail ought to hold in the country, and in the institutions of government. It was setting an unwise headline for future Governments.

NOT NORMAL.

Major Cooper said that he would have a great deal of sympathy with Deputy Johnson's views if they were living in a normal country and under normal conditions. It was not a normal country.

Mr. Johnson—It will never be normal.

Major Cooper said that he hoped that it would be normal, and that he would see the day when every party elected would take its place in the Dail. As it was, there were two parties that had withdrawn from the Dail, each of which had an absolutely free hand for propaganda in the country. Ministers ought to have some opportunity of meeting that propaganda. He only wished that they would go more frequently into the country and explain the political position, what they had done and what would be done.

Mr. Daly announced that he would support the President's motion, because it would mean putting back the Local Government Bill. (Laughter.)

President Cosgrave said that the adjournment would not interfere with the progress of the bill, which would be passed into law before the end of the year. Ever since the last general election every possible mode of propaganda had been used, not against any of the political parties in the House, but against the State. People were sending out untrue statements concerning the work of the Dail, and for that reason it was a responsibility on the Government, and on the Dail, too, to place the real issue and the real circumstances before the people.

A division was demanded, and the motion was carried by 44 votes to 14.

TO-MORROW'S MEETINGS.

SEVERAL MINISTERS TO SPEAK.

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

It is announced by Cumann na nGaedheal that the following will be among the speakers at to-morrow's meetings in the different constituencies:—

Dublin.—President Cosgrave, Messrs. Egan, Shaw, O'Sullivan, Murphy, Magennis, P. S. Doyle, and Mrs. Collins O'Driscoll.

Mayo.—Messrs. P. Hogan (Minister of Agriculture), O'Maille, B. O'Connor, Nicolls, Nally, McBride, Lavin, Hennigan, C. Byrne, and Broderick, T.D.'s.

Cork City.—Messrs. Kevin O'Higgins, J. J. Walsh, Seamus Burke, Desmond Fitzgerald, J. Crowley, A. O'Shaughnessy, and R. Beamish.

East Cork.—Dr. MacNeill, and Messrs. E. J. Duggan, Connolly, Bulfin, Dalton, Hennessy, Ledden, Nolan, R. O'Connell, Prior, and Woulfe.

Donegal.—Messrs. Mulcahy, P. McGilligan, McGoldrick, McFadden, Finian Lynch, P. Hughes, Duffy, and Doherty.

A series of Republican meetings has also been arranged, and the speakers will include Miss McGivney, Messrs. P. J. Ruttledge, and Austin Stack, Mrs. Sheehy Skeffington, Mr. Sean Lemass, and others. A big meeting has been arranged for College Green, where the principal speaker will be Mr. Ruttledge.

Both parties will concentrate on Mayo, which is generally believed to represent anything but a safe seat for a Ministerial nominee. "If we can only get the people to come out and vote," a Cumann na nGaedheal organiser said yesterday, "we believe that we will have no difficulty in securing a comfortable majority for Professor Tierney."

NINE MORE.

With regard to the other nine by-elections which are pending, as a result of the resignation of Mr. McGrath's group, I learn that there is a strong possibility that at least three members of the group will seek re-election. Mr. Osmond Esmond, who is also a member of the group, has just returned from Turkey, and was in the Dail Lobby yesterday. He did not enter the House during the sitting, and contented himself with taking a brief survey of the interior of the Chamber from the outer landing.

The report (from Tuam) of the resignation of Mr. George Nicholls is, it was learned, incorrect. Mr. Nicholls is one of the Cumann-na-nGaedheal representatives of Galway.

NOMINATIONS.

CORK CONSTITUENCIES.

Nominations for the vacancy in the representation of Cork City, caused by the resignation of Professor Alfred O'Rahilly, were received yesterday.

Seventy-one papers were handed in on behalf of Mr. French, the Lord Mayor. In that on which he relied he was proposed by Miss Annie MacSwiney and seconded by Mrs. Mary Germaine Stockley.

On behalf of Mr. Egan twenty-one papers were handed in. In that on which he relied he was proposed by the Very Rev. Canon Michael O'Sullivan, Adm., Cathedral, and seconded by Mr. Richard Wallace.

For the vacancy in East Cork nominations were also received.

Mr. Walsh was proposed by Mr. David R. Kent, T.D., Bownard House, and seconded by Mr. William J. Paye, Chairman of the Fermoy Urban Council. There were four other nomination papers. Mr. Noonan was proposed in his principal paper by the Very Rev. Canon Barry, P.P., and seconded by Mr. Thomas W. Renihan, Buttevant.

Polling for East Cork will take place on Tuesday, 18th inst., and for Cork City on Wednesday, 19th.

NORTH MAYO.

The nominations for North Mayo were received at Ballina. Mr. Tierney was proposed by the Most Rev. Dr. Naughton, Bishop of Killala, and seconded by Mr. Michael Davis, King street, Ballina. Seven papers were handed in.

Dr. Madden, who handed in sixty-seven papers, relied on that in which he was proposed by Mr. P. J. Ruttledge, T.D., and seconded by Dr. Crowley, T.D.

REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN.

The election campaign opened in Cork last night, when on the Grand Parade Mr. S. Nolan presided at a largely attended meeting in support of the candidature of the Republican nominee, Mr. French. The proceedings passed off quietly, except for one incident, which ended in a member of the audience, who took exception to some remarks made by Mr. S. MacEntee, being ejected.

The candidate alluded to the manner in which the present Government insisted on people paying their income tax, even though such payment meant starvation for some people, and notwithstanding that it was on the advice of some members of the present Government that the people did not pay the tax to the British Government.

Referring to the action of the Government in dissolving the Cork Corporation, he said that the Government were absolutely under the power of people who were the hereditary enemies of the Irish people.

"REMEMBRANCE DAY."

SERVICES IN DUBLIN CHURCHES.

"Remembrance Day" will be observed in many Dublin churches to-morrow, when Special Services will be held in commemoration of the Armistice which brought the Great War to an end on November 11th, 1918. There will be other Services next Tuesday, the sixth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice. Among the arrangements are the following:—

ST. PATRICK'S CATHEDRAL.—Memorial Services at 11.15 and 3.15 to-morrow. The Rev. A. A. Luce D.D., F., T.C.D., will preach in the morning and the Dean of Christ Church Cathedral in the afternoon. "Ye now are sorrowful" (Brahms) will be the morning anthem and in the afternoon "In the hour of trial" (Robinson) and "Then shall the eyes . . ." (Handel). The National Anthem will be sung at the 3.15 Service. On Tuesday there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 9.30, Litany at 10.45, interval for silent prayer at 11, followed by Matins, with special prayers and thanksgivings. The National Anthem will be sung. Boy Scouts will parade at the Service.

CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL.—The Morning Service (11 a.m.) to-morrow will include special features suitable for the occasion. Canon Lewis Crosby will preach. On Tuesday (Armistice Day) the Special Service will begin at 10.45 a.m., and the two minutes' silence will be observed. There will be special offerings for the British Legion (Irish Branch) Fund in connection with Field-Marshal Earl Haig's appeal.

ST. ANN'S CHURCH.—At the Evening Service to-morrow it is hoped that the ex-Service men of the parish and congregation will parade with their decorations, when an address will be given by the Rev. Percy Coster, who served as a chaplain during the war. A short Service will be held on Tuesday at 10.45, when the two minutes' silence will be observed at 11 o'clock, and will be followed by the Service of Holy Communion.

ALL SAINTS', GRANGEGORMAN.—Ex-Service men are invited to the Evening Service at 7 o'clock to-morrow. Rev. C. G. Craddock, who served with the 16th (Irish) Division, will be the preacher. Medals or ribbons will be worn.

ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S. — At 12 noon to-morrow a Solemn Eucharist for Remembrance.

RATHMINES PARISH.—The anthem "For the Fallen" (Elgar) will be sung at the 11.30 Service to-morrow.

ST. MATTHIAS'S.—At 7 p.m. to-morrow a Memorial Service and parade of "The Old Corps."

HOLY TRINITY CHURCH (Belgrave road).—A special Service, which will be attended by the Legion of Irish ex-Service Men, will be held at 11 o'clock to-morrow.

CHURCH OF OUR LADY OF REFUGE (Rathmines road).—The Legion of Irish ex-Service Men (Rathmines Branch) have arranged for a Service at 7 a.m. to-morrow.

ARMISTICE DAY CEREMONY.

DUBLIN EX-SERVICE MEN'S PARADE.

Arrangements have been completed for a solemn ceremony in College Green, Dublin, next Tuesday morning, when a Celtic Cross in memory of Irishmen who fell in the war will be unveiled by Major-General Hickie, President of the Legion of Irish ex-Service men, in the presence of a parade of members of the League and other ex-Service men.

The men will fall in at 10.30, wearing their decorations, in Foster place and outside the old General Post Office, and will march to the temporary Canotaph. The Cross will be unveiled at eleven o'clock with fitting ceremony, the two minutes' silence will be observed, and buglers will sound The "Last Post" and Réveille. Wreaths of Flanders poppies will then be laid at the base of the Cenotaph on behalf of the League.

The Cross, which is the 16th (Irish) Division Memorial, is to be erected eventually at Guillemont.

BRAY ARRANGEMENTS.

Bray ex-Service men will take part in a ceremony of remembrance at the local war memorial near the railway station to-morrow. Ex-Service men will parade at the Town Hall at three o'clock, wearing decorations, and will march to the memorial. A hollow square will be formed and a two minutes' silence observed, after which trumpeters will sound the "Last Post" and wreaths will be laid on the memorial by ex-Service men. The ceremony will conclude with the Réveille.

BELFAST.

Arrangements for a ceremony in Belfast include a procession from the City Hall to the Cenotaph at 10.35, at which the Lord Mayor, High Sheriff, and members of the Corporation, with representatives of the Imperial Forces, the Mercantile Marine, and the Royal Ulster Constabulary will take part. At 10.40 the hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," will be sung; then the Band of the 1st Battalion the Seaforth Highlanders will play, "O Rest in the Lord," while a number of wreaths are laid on the memorial.

At 10.58 the Last Post will be sounded by the buglers, and at 11 o'clock the two minutes' solemn silence will be observed. After the Réveille by the buglers, "Now the Labourer's Task is O'er" will be sung, and at the conclusion of the Service the National Anthem will be rendered.

PROHIBITION IN NORWAY.

REFERENDUM MAY BE TAKEN NEXT YEAR.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

CHRISTIANIA, Friday.

The Government is reported to be inclining to the advisability of holding a referendum on the question of prohibition next year, instead of 1926.

As no party in the newly elected Storthing enjoys a majority necessary to repeal the existing total prohibition law, the Act must remain in force until it is repealed by a popular referendum. The Government has not yet made a definite statement regarding its position, but it is believed now to favour a referendum as early as possible some time next year.

IRISH SOLDIERS IN THE WAR.

GENERAL HICKIE'S TRIBUTE.

"POPPY DAY" IN IRELAND.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

OXFORD, Friday.

General Hickie, Commander of the 16th (Irish) Division during the war, and now President of the Irish Ex-Service Men's Legion, spoke at the Oxford Irish Society to-night on "The Irish Soldiers in the Great War."

The part which Southern Ireland took in the war, General Hickie said, had been wilfully misrepresented in some quarters. When one considered that six divisions had been the number of men which it had been estimated would be necessary to win the war, three divisions was no mean contribution from Ireland. The Irish casualties, numbering at least fifty thousand dead, were more than proportionate to those of England and the Dominions. Fifty thousand Irish soldiers passed under his command while he commanded the division, nearly all of them at the bidding of their political leaders. Practically all those men were actuated entirely by the one thought of Ireland, yet when they returned home they found themselves nobody's children. Looked upon as a traitor by the extremists, and almost deserted by the British, the Irish ex-soldier was the last to obtain employment on a falling labour market, while if he were partially disabled the task became impossible.

Yet he believed that the people of Ireland were at last realising the value of the ex-soldier. The people and the Press were taking an ever-increasing interest in his doings. They were beginning to admit the sincerity of the ex-soldier, his sterling qualities, and his value as a citizen.

The speaker referred to the increasing success of the celebration of "Poppy Day" in Ireland, and said that they had successfully applied to the authorities for permission to erect a temporary Cenotaph on College Green.

Questioned in a subsequent discussion as to unemployment among ex-Service men, the General said that he could not say the numbers of unemployed. He admitted that some of the men really did not want work, but the behaviour of Irish ex-soldiers since the war had generally been exemplary.

STERLING SOARING IN NEW YORK.

UNPRECEDENTED BUYING OF SECURITIES.

NEW YORK, Friday.

Four new high levels for the year were established in the Exchange market to-day. Under the leadership of sterling, which mounted more than a cent, reaching 4.58¾, kroner rose to 26.82, Swiss francs to 19.27, and guilders to 39.79.

There was an unprecedented buying of Railway securities, more than thirty of which reached record high levels for the year. The gains ranged from 1 to 31 points.

Observers atribute the revival in investment and speculative interest to the general belief that the railways are unlikely to be harassed by extremist legislation in the next few years, and that many of the larger systems are now free to work out their consolidation plans. There were also adances in the Bond market. The total number of shares sold on the Stock Exchange was over 2,350,000.—(Reuter.)

OBITUARY.

MR. SAMUEL KYLE.

Mr. Samuel Kyle, who died suddenly at his residence, 3 Hill View terrace, Clontarf, yesterday, was well known and much esteemed in Dublin commercial circles. For many years he was associated with the Dublin representatives of Messrs. Spicers, Ltd., paper makers, and for a considerable time he was a director of the firm of Messrs. Mecredy, Kyle and Company.

NEW AIR SERVICE.

BORDEAUX-MADRID-LISBON.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

LISBON, Friday.

A French aeroplane company has put before the Portuguese Government proposals for the establishment of an air route from Bordeaux to Madrid and Lisbon. No financial assistance in the form of a Government security is asked for, but the French concern demands exclusive postal and passenger concessions for a period of ten years. It is proposed to use limousine types of aeroplanes on the service, with engines of 300 h.p.

LOWER TAXES.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE TO REDEEM HIS PROMISE.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

WASHINGTON, Friday.

Tax reduction will form the chief recommendation President Coolidge will make to the December session of the U.S. Congress. The President is now preparing this message.

President Coolidge emphasised a policy of economy in his recent campaign speeches, and he is now rushing forward plans to carry out the promises he made.

The indications are that there will be a surplus at the end of the present year, and Mr. Coolidge is now investigating, to determine whether he can recommend a wholesale tax reduction or merely the repeal of certain war taxes.

He may suggest that the high sur-taxes should be cut, or he may leave the decision to the new Congress. The question of increasing wages of U.S. postal employés may figure in the December session of Congress, together with a consideration of the disposition of the expected surplus Government funds.

SUBMARINES IN COLLISION.

The Naval authorities at Portland say that neither K 2 nor H 29 submarines are seriously damaged as the result of their being in collision in the Channel yesterday morning. They were carrying out exercises with other craft, and an attack was being made on the Atlantic Fleet battleships. H 29 has returned to Portland, and is ready for sea again. K 2 is remaining in the Channel to complete her exercises.

NORTHERN IRELAND AND A PUBLIC TRUSTEE.

In the Northern House of Commons, Sir Crawford McCullagh (for Major D. G. Shillington) asked the Minister of Finance if he had further considered the appointment of a Public Trustee for Northern Ireland; or, if such an appointment was not considered advisable, would it be possible to arrange for the Public Trustee in England to act for people residing in Northern Ireland who might wish to avail themselves of his services.

Mr. Pollock, in reply, said—I cannot find that there is any insistent popular demand for the creation of such an office in this area, and I imagine that if action were initiated by this Government opposition from the legal and accountancy professions would be likely to result, while there would be no guarantee that the general public would make any considerable use of the office. I regret that I do not consider that the proposal to make an arrangement with the English Public Trustee is at present feasible. Even if that officer were prepared to undertake the work, I am satisfied that he could not do so without legislation both in the Imperial House and in this House.

The London Flour Millers' Association announce that the official price of standard grade flour has been advanced by 2s. to 51s. for the London area.

LATE NEWS.

CABINET UNITY.

THE CALL TO MR. BALDWIN.

The Times, in a leading article on "Cabinet Unity," says:—The Prime Minister, who should be the best judge, has not feared to run whatever risks there may be in including in his Cabinet the ablest men in his party, even though they had been not long ago in sharp opposition to himself. He has evidently realised that the recent verdict of the country was no mere condemnation of the late Government and no mere expression of confidence in himself—though it was both these things. It was also a call to him to form his Ministry in a national spirit. His supporters are two-thirds of the House of Commons, and he has ample material among them for a Ministry. But he has rightly interpreted the desire of the country in giving his Cabinet no narrowly personal or even narrowly party complexion. His Ministry contains some obvious misfits, but it is neither reactionary nor mediocre. It is called upon to deal with what is still a very great national emergency. Nobody denies that the late Ministry did some useful work; but the country is divided between amusement and contempt at the self-admiring complacency with which, in spite of the election, Mr. Macdonald continues to regard his own achievements. In less partial eyes than his, the last three months of his Ministry appear to be an exhibition of projected plundering and actual blundering. From all that, this practical country has turned to what it regards as the party of practical administration and reasonable reform.

Mr. Churchill's ability and industry are equally unquestioned. High hopes will be entertained of his work at the Exchequer. They will not be disappointed if he once more shows the powers both of imagination and of will, which he certainly possesses. He will need all his strength of will to stand firm against the perpetual invasions of the public purse, and to insist that among the first and most urgent of national requirements is a stern and watchful economy. Without economy no reduction of taxation will be attainable, and without reduced taxation we are not likely to have a real revival of trade such as can restore our industries and provide the only satisfactory solution of the grave problem of unemployment.

But, however able individual Ministers may be, and however harmonious the Cabinet, a special responsibility must always rest on the Prime Minister. He is, after all, the centre of the unity, and it is his function both to keep all its members moving, and to prevent any of them from indulging individual genius beyond the point which is consistent with common action.

CRISIS IN AUSTRIA.

CHANCELLOR RESIGNS OWING TO STRIKE.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

VIENNA, Friday.

It is reported to-night that Monsignor Siepel, the Chancellor, has resigned, owing to the strike of railwaymen, which begins at midnight on all State railways. The Cabinet has decided that to concede to the demands of the railwaymen for increased wages would hinder the financial reconstruction of Austria. It is probable that the entire Cabinet will resign, and that the work of the Government will be carried on by high officials.

BOAT TRAIN ACCIDENT.

ONE ENGLISHMAN KILLED AND TWO INJURED.

IRISH TIMES FOREIGN SERVICE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Friday.

One Englishman was killed and two others injured in a railway accident which took place last night in a long tunnel between Rouen and Havre.

The train was that which leaves St. Lazare at 7.50 p.m., and serves the Havre-Southampton night boat, and a majority of the passengers were on their way to England.

There were in all two killed and about a dozen seriously injured, of the latter only four seriously. This afternoon it was stated that a woman's shoes and stockings had been found on the line, and it was feared that an Englishwoman known to be on the train had been killed, but at the time of writing no further traces of remains have been found, and the searchers express confidence that the number of the killed will not be added to.

The names of the English victims are as follows:—

KILLED.

Mr. Robert Cecil Martin, who has been established in the Boulevard Haussemann here in a tailoring business for the last four years.

INJURED.

Mr. Walter Duranty, a well-known journalist, who had been in Russia for the last four years as Correspondent of the New York Times, who was on the way to meet his family in London.

Mr. D. A. M. Spence, a native of Edinburgh, connected with Lloyd's Bank in Paris.

The last-mentioned was not gravely injured, and was able to leave the hospital to-night.

Mr. Duranty is suffering from a double compound fracture of the left leg, as well as slighter injuries. To-night his condition is fairly satisfactory.

Mr. Martin was a native of Dover. He was married three years ago, and lived at Ste. Mande with his wife and two little children.

A PILLAR OF FIRE.

BLACKSMITH'S SHOCKING DEATH.

Harrowing details were given at an inquest yesterday in Tullamore on the body of John Cooke, a blacksmith, of Kilbeggan, who was fatally burned in the explosion of the tank of an oil engine at which he was working. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

The evidence showed that the engine was brought to John Cooke's forge to have a new plate put on it. While Cooke was lying on his back under the engine repairing it, a candle which he was using set the dirty oil on the outside of the engine on fire. The flames ran up to the tank, into which petrol as well as paraffin oil had been put previously by mistake. The tank exploded and four persons in the forge, including the deceased man, were badly burned.

Anthony Carroll, a motor driver, said that after the explosion he saw John Cooke running down the street, a mass of flames from his boots to the top of his head. He put a coat and a quilt around him and extinguished the flames.

The medical evidence was to the effect that the clothes were burned off Cooke's body, that he was in a hopeless condition from the first, and only lived a few hours.

Martin Hope said that after the explosion he saw Joseph Cooke, a brother of the deceased man, running along the street in flames. He brought him over to a pump and extinguished the flames.

Joseph Cooke is now in hospital with Thomas Guilfoyle and Patrick Ward. They were in the forge when the tank exploded, and all are said to be in a serious condition.

ALLOWANCES TO SPECIAL POLICE.

In the Ulster House of Commons yesterday, Colonel Woods asked the Minister of Home Affairs whether he would state the conditions under which married members of the Special Constabulary were paid separation allowance.

The Minister of Home Affairs said that separation allowance, formerly termed separation subsistence allowance, of 2s. a day is granted to a married member of the Special Constabulary who is compelled by the action of the authorities both to sleep and mess apart from his family, to recoup him for the extra expense which he has to incur by reason of the fact that he is unable to partake of his meals with his family. The grant of the allowance, it was added, is conditional on certain conditions regarding service and accommodation.

M. Rakovsky, Soviet Chargé d'Affaires, held a reception last night at Chesham House, Belgravia, London, in celebration of the seventh anniversary of the Russian revolution.

PROSECUTIONS TO CEASE.

GOVERNMENT GRANTS AMNESTY.

REBELLION PERIOD DEFINED.

DECEMBER 6, 1921, TO MAY 12, 1923.

On the ground that it will serve the best interests of the State, the Executive Council has decided to refrain from instituting prosecutions in respect of criminal acts committed between December 6th, 1921, and May, 1923, in connection with "the recent attempt to overthrow by force the lawfully established Government of Saorstat Eireann."

When he announced the Government's decision to the Dail yesterday, President Cosgrave described it as "a very big act," and said that the Executive Council never had taken a more serious step.

The Minister for Justice said that a survey of the present prison population would be made with a view to seeing what cases reasonably came within the scope of the decision.

COUNCIL'S RESOLUTION.

PROMOTION OF LAW AND ORDER.

Just before the adjournment of the Dail yesterday, President Cosgrave rose and said that he desired to place before the Dail, for the information of Deputies, a resolution passed by the Executive Council. The resolution was:—

The Executive Council, being aware that large numbers of persons have been, or are likely to be, apprehended in respect of crimes committed, or alleged to have been committed, by them during the period hereinafter mentioned, and, having considered the reports of police and other officers responsible for the maintenance of law and order, the Executive Council is of opinion that:

No useful purpose would be served by the institution or continuance of prosecutions in respect of criminal acts committed, or alleged to have been committed, between the 6th day of December, 1921, and the 12th day of May, 1923, in any case in which it appears that the act was committed, or purported to be committed, in connection, directly or indirectly, with the state of rebellion and public disturbance created by the recent attempt to overthrow by force the lawfully established Government of Saorstat Eireann, including the Provisional Government, whether such connection arises from the act having been, or purporting to have been, committed in the course of the said rebellion and public disturbance, or in aid, or furtherance, of the same, or in the course, or in aid, or furtherance, of the suppression of the said rebellion and public disturbance;

And the Executive Council hereby declares and puts on record its considered opinion that the highest interests of the State and the promotion of the reign of law and order, now happily restored, would best be served by the responsible officers of the State discontinuing or refraining from instituting criminal proceedings in any such case as aforesaid;

And, as far as it lawfully may so do, the Executive Council directs all officers of the State concerned in the administration of the law to act in accordance with the views hereinbefore expressed.

Mr. Johnson asked would persons now in prison in respect of similar offences within the period be released.

The Minister for Justice replied that the question did not arise in connection with the resolution. A limited number of cases that seemed to arise reasonably in that connection were at present under consideration.

Mr. Johnson—Will the Minister say quite definitely that all the cases arising out of the resolution will be dealt with?

Mr. O'Higgins—I have no hesitation in saying quite definitely that a survey of the present prison population will be made with a view to seeing what cases reasonably come within the scope of the resolution, and the obvious action will be taken on those cases.

General Mulcahy asked why the date, 12th May, 1923, had been fixed on.

The President replied that that was the date fixed as the limit of time for compensation for damage done to property.

General Mulcahy said that he raised the point because the date fixed was only a few days after the so-called "call off" of the war by Mr. de Valera. They could all understand the position of a large number of young people in the country because of the fact that, while washing his hands off it, and standing, as he put it, inside a wall of glass, Mr. de Valera was supporting that particular type of war. They all knew the particular type of leadership he gave in an occult kind of way. It was quite possible that the aftermath of that leadership influenced many misled and misdirected youths for several months after the date mentioned in the resolution. He thought that everyone would wish that those, too, should come within the scope of the resolution.

President Cosgrave said that the date fixed was a generous date. It was a very big act on the part of the Executive Council, big in its every bearing. In the whole course of its existence the Executive Council had never taken a more serious step.

ATHLONE COUNCIL AND RATE COLLECTION.

A letter from the Minister of Local Government on the subject of rate collection, was read at the monthly meeting of Athlone Urban Council. The Minister pointed out that the Council proposed to strike off a sum of £1,297 16s. 10d., and he requested that this should not be done without his sanction. In addition, he observed that there was still, uncollected, a sum of £960 10s., and that £473 3s. 8d. of poor rate was outstanding. He directed the Council to dispense with the rate collector forthwith, and to have his books carefully checked.

The Clerk read a letter from the collector, Mr. J. J. McNamara, tendering his resignation on account of the great difficulty in collecting the rates and in having decrees enforced.

The Council decided unanimously to refuse to accept the collector's resignation, and they directed the Clerk to write asking the Ministry of Local Government to send an inspector to investigate the question of the rate collection.

GREATER DUBLIN.

CHAIRMAN OF ADVISORY COMMITTEES.

A conference of members of the Advisory Committees of the Greater Dublin Movement was held at the Port and Docks Board offices, Westmoreland street yesterday. Those present included:—

Mr. W. M. Forsyth, U.D.C.; Mr. J. H. Clark, High Sheriff; Sir E. Coey Bigger, M.D.; Mr. Dermod O'Brien, P.R.H.A.; Mr. John W. Griffith, M.Inst.C.E.; Mr. Walter Baird, Sir John Irwin, Mr. F. P. Griffith, M.A.I.; Mr. Charles McGloughlin, Mr. John J. Murphy, T.C.; Dr. Frank Dunne, Dr. E. Magennis, Dr. W. D. O'Kelly, and Mr. E. A. Aston, honorary secretary.

In the absence of Senator Moran, President of the Movement, the chair was occupied by Mr. W. M. Forsyth, U.D.C., Chairman of Committees, who said:—

"The delay which has taken place in asking you to meet arose mainly from a desire that we should have some definite idea of the extent and ramifications of the various problems which the Greater Dublin Commission conceives to be within its terms of reference.

THE COMMISSIONERS' TASK.

"These limits have now been fairly clearly defined, and the Executive of the Movement are gratified that the Commission has determined to explore a very wide field, indeed, and to explore it fully; and it has now received the direct approval of the Dail in taking this course. Briefly, the Commission has decided, with the approval of the Dail—

(a) To recast the entire system of local government in the city and the county; and

(b) To consider all phases of social and economic life which fall under the broad heading of town planning.

"The grouping of our Committees was, therefore, an intelligent anticipation of what has occurred.

"Proceedings at yesterday's meeting of the Dail appear to furnish more than an ample justification for the appointment of the Commission, and for the work which lies before the members of our Advisory Committees. While making it clear that no member of the Movement, or of any Advisory Committee, is committed to any particular proposal which has been tentatively advanced, I think you will agree with me that it has been proved to demonstration that departmental decisions in questions affecting fundamentally the future town-planning of Dublin present very grave and immediate dangers. Without indulging in criticism of any provisional decision which may or may not have been reached, it is our view that the real work set out under the heading of our Advisory Committee No. 2 remains to be done; and my personal opinion is that, after last night's debate, the Government, the general public, and the Commission have special reason to welcome the work of that particular Committee.

CHAIRMEN OF COMMITTEES.

"I am glad to be able to say that the following gentlemen have agreed to act as Chairmen of the various Advisory Committees:—

Legislation and Financial Relationships—Mr. Charles H. O'Connor.

Harbour, Railway and Industrial Development — The Right Hon. James MacMahon.

Town Planning, Housing and Domestic Transport—Mr. F. P. Griffith, B.A.I.

Public Buildings and Institutions—Mr. J. H. Clark, High Sheriff.

Rural Development and Relationships—Mr. T. P. Gill.

Health and Employment Problems—Sir E. Coey Bigger.

"It has also been arranged that the Chairmen of these Advisory Committees will ex officio be a member of the Committee on Financial Relationships and Legislation.

REPORTS BY JANUARY.

"By means of the work of these Committees so linked up, it is hoped that the Greater Dublin Movement will be in a position, not later than next January, to put forward a complete series of proposals for consideration by the Parliamentary Commission of Inquiry; and that these proposals will be based upon a careful examination of all important economic and town planning considerations, which come within the review of a modern municipal authority.

"Individual members of our Movement—including our Honorary Secretary, Mr. Aston—have propounded various suggestions. These suggestions will now be placed before your Committee, and I hope they will help us all to form our minds with reasonable rapidity upon the very large and complex problems which have now come up for judgment.

"If any Advisory Committee wishes to increase its membership, the only request we have to make is that the invitation to new members should be extended officially through the Executive Committee. We shall welcome reinforcement.

"The expert advisers of our Movement—Mr. F. C. Mears, Mr. J. F. MacCabe, Mr. Purcell O'Neill, and Mr. George O'Connor—have been good enough to say that they will be glad to meet and give technical assistance to any of the Committees which desire their help."

Subsequently, arrangements were made as to hour of meetings and procedure for each sub-committee, it being understood that the work of all committees would be ready for presentation to the Greater Dublin Commission of Inquiry during the month of January next.

Upon the motion of the Chairman, seconded by Sir E. Coey Bigger, the best thanks of the Movement were accorded to the Port and Docks Board for their courtesy in providing accommodation for the meetings of the Committees.

ROYAL IRISH ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

COMMENDATORE ESPOSITO ELECTED A VICE-PRESIDENT.

Mr. James W. Drury, M.A., presiding at a meeting of Governors of the Royal Irish Academy of Music, proposed that Commendatore Esposito be appointed to fill the vacancy amongst the Vice-Presidents. He referred to the fact that Commendatore Esposito's connection with the Academy had extended over a period of about forty years, during which time he tendered valuable and loyal service to the Academy, particularly in the pianoforte and orchestral departments. Dr. Esposito, he added, came to Dublin a very young and unknown man, and he had earned for himself European fame in the art of music.

Sir John Irwin, in seconding the motion, said that the Governors would be conferring an honour upon the Academy and themselves by appointing Commendatore Esposito to the position. His work for the Academy was well known to all of them, and the gratifying increase year by year in the local centres examinations which the Governors hold all over Ireland was due in no small measure to his undoubted ability and standing in the musical profession.

Sir Stanley Cochrane (Vice-President) expressed his pleasure at being present to join in the well-merited compliment to Commendatore Esposito. The resolution was carried unanimously.

Mr. T. M. Gerrard and Sir John Irwin, the surviving Governors, representing the "Coulson Bequest," reported that they had appointed Mr. William Ireland, J.P., to the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Baker.

At a special meeting of the Governors, representing the members of the Academy, Mr. R. De Versan was co-opted to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. A. R. Foot, B.L.

Mr. Stanley Baldwin left London last evening for Chequers, where he will spend the week-end.

YESTERDAY'S CASES IN THE COURTS.

MATRIMONIAL SUIT

STRUCK OUT OF LIST.

(Before Mr. Justice Murnaghan.)

The case of Irving v. Irving was listed on the matrimonial side. The plaintiff, Margaret Irving, of Liffey Vale, Island Bridge, Dublin, had applied to the Court for an order for alimony against her husband, William Irving, and the application had been adjourned for the purpose of enabling the plaintiff to file an affidavit showing the necessity for the order sought.

Mr. Moloney (instructed by Messrs. Porter, Morris and Co.), who appeared for the plaintiff, now asked his lordship to strike the case out of the list, with liberty to re-enter, as the matter was settled. Counsel was instructed that a deed had been signed by the parties, and he did not think that the case would be listed again.

Mr. Justice Murnaghan consented to the application to have the case struck out of the list.

LIMERICK MINOR'S APPEAL.

A HOUSE OF LORDS ORDER.

In the case of Sheehy v. Gleeson, Mr. Binchy (instructed by Mr. O'Donnell) moved on behalf of the plaintiff to have an order of the House of Lords made a rule of Court. Counsel said that the action was brought by Patrick Sheehy, a minor, suing by Henry Sheehy, his father and next best friend, of Clounteen, Cappamore, Co. Limerick, against Patrick Gleeson, John Gleeson and James Gleeson, farmers, for assault, malicious prosecution and false imprisonment.

At the trial before Mr. Justice Gordon and a common jury in November, 1921, the plaintiff recovered £30 damages for assault, and judgment was entered for the defendants on the counts of malicious prosecution and false imprisonment. The plaintiff moved before the Court of Appeal for Southern Ireland for a new trial on the issue of false imprisonment, and, this Court having dismissed the motion, plaintiff appealed to the High Court of Appeal for Ireland, which affirmed the decision of the lower Court, Sir John Ross, the Lord Chancellor, dissenting. Plaintiff appealed to the House of Lords in formâ pauperis. By consent, the House of Lords reversed the decision of the Irish Court of Appeal, ordered a new trial, and that the defendants should pay to the plaintiff his costs incurred in both Courts of Appeal in Ireland and the costs of appeal to the House of Lords.

Mr. Justice Murnaghan received the order of the House of Lords and made it a rule of Court, remarking that this was probably the last order of the House of Lords which would be made a rule of Court in Ireland.

TIMBER MERCHANTS' DISPUTE.

CLAIM AND COUNTER-CLAIM.

(Before Mr. Justice O'Shaughnessy.)

Messrs. Norman McNaughton and Sons, Ltd., 33 George's quay, Dublin, claimed from Messrs. Legg Bros. (Dublin), Ltd. Grenville Sawmills, timber merchants, the sum of £198 17s., balance alleged to be due for the price of 72.699 standards of timber, equivalent to 118.962 Petrograd standards, sold and delivered to defendants under contract. Defendants counter-claimed for £300 for alleged breach of contract to ship the timber in the months of March and April, 1923, whereby defendants were compelled to purchase timber at a price in excess of the contract price, to the latter's loss and damage, and further pleaded that the contract was entered into with a firm at Riga, and not with the plaintiffs. The case wholly turned upon questions of law.

His Lordship gave judgment for plaintiffs in their claim for the full amount, £198 17s., and allowed defendants in respect of their counter-claim a sum of £105.

Messrs. Denning, K.C., W. H. Carson, and J. Fitzgerald Kenny (instructed by Messrs. Hayes and Son) were for plaintiffs; and Serjeant Hanna, Messrs. Dockrell and Kingsmill Moore (instructed by Mr. E. Bermingham) for defendants.

DAMAGED CARGO OF FLOUR

ACTION AGAINST HARBOUR BOARD.

(Before Mr. Justice Meredith.)

In the Admiralty Court the hearing was concluded of the action brought by Messrs. Paul Bros., merchants, of Homepride Mills, Birkenhead, County of Chester, against the New Ross Harbour Commissioners to recover damages, laid at £1,341, for the loss of a cargo of flour and bran by the alleged negligence and breach of duty of the defendants with respect to the berthing of the ss. Vanadis in the port and harbour of New Ross on the 10th of April, 1922, the vessel having been placed in an unsafe berth, with the result that she became submerged and the cargo carried by her was totally lost, portion of it having been looted.

The defence was a general traverse, a denial of negligence and breach of duty, and a plea of contributory negligence on the part of the plaintiffs.

Serjeant Hanna, Mr. Phelps, and Mr. Sainsbury (instructed by Messrs. Stanuell and Son) appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. Jellett, K.C.; Mr. Overend, K.C., and Mr. C. F. Matheson (instructed by Messrs. Colfer and Son) for the defendants.

The evidence having concluded,

Mr. Justice Meredith reserved judgment.

SLIGO SLANDER ACTION.

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANTS.

(Before Mr. Justice Johnston.)

The hearing was concluded of the action in which Richard Reid, of Lavagh, Sligo, sued Patrick Gormley and Michael Gormley, of the same place, and in which plaintiff's wife, Frances Jane Reid, sued Michael Gormley for damages for alleged slander. It appeared that one of the defendants lost a bullock, and the allegation complained of was that the defendants said that the plaintiffs stole it and sold it at the fair at Ballymote.

The defence was that the defendants did not speak or publish the words complained of, or any of them; that the words complained of did not refer to, and were not published of, the plaintiff; that they were not published with, and did not bear, the meaning alleged.

The jury found that the defendants published the words complained of, but honestly believed that they were true, and Mr. Justice Johnston gave judgment for the defendants in each of the actions.

Mr. F. W. Price, K.C.; Mr. W. H. Carson, and Mr. J. Fitzgerald Kenney (instructed by Messrs. Bourke and Carrigg) appeared for the plaintiffs; and Mr. Leonard, K.C., and Mr. W. G. Shannon (instructed by Mr. W. J. Howley) for the defendants.

COMMISSIONERS FOR OATHS.

In the Supreme Court the following were appointed Commissioners for Oaths in the different districts mentioned by the Chief Justice:—Messrs. Thomas O'Shaughnessy, District Clerk, Edenderry; Joseph Ledwidge, District Clerk, Navan; Michael Francis Walsh, auctioneer and valuer, Cappoquin; and Edmond O'Hanrahan, District Clerk, Clogheen—subject to the District Justice's sanction.

Mr. Asquith has appointed Sir Godfrey Collins, M.P., to be Chief Liberal Whip, in place of Mr. Vivian Phillips, who has resigned.

DUBLIN CRIMINAL COURT.

SHOT IN A MILITARY POST.

(Before Mr. Justice Sullivan.)

The shooting of an elderly man named Thomas Prenderville in the guardroom of what was known as "Hartnett's Post," in Castleisland, County Kerry, early on the morning of 18th January, 1923, was investigated in the Dublin Criminal Court yesterday, when James Larkin, an ex-lieutenant of the Free State Army, was put forward on the capital charge. He pleaded not guilty, and was defended by Mr. Joseph O'Connor, K.C. (instructed by Mr. Murphy, Tralee).

Mr. Carrigan, K.C., who, with Mr. Dudley White, K.C. (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor), prosecuted, told the jury that on that morning the accused and an Army paymaster named O'Loughlin brought in two prisoners to Hartnett's Post, one of whom was Prenderville. He was questioned by Larkin persistently as to the movements of Irregulars and the existence of a dump near Castleisland, but Prenderville was just as persistent in disclaiming all knowledge of Irregulars or dumps, and eventually Larkin hit him with his fist several times. Prenderville still professed his ignorance. Larkin fired at him twice, and the unfortunate man fell dead on the floor of the guardroom. "It was," said Mr. Carrigan "a most cold-blooded murder."

Sergeant Tracey described the scene in the guardroom.

In cross-examination, he said that Kerry was seething with rebellion at this time, and that Larkin had been drinking.

Dr. M. Shanahan, Tralee, said that there was a clean-cut wound nearly a quarter of an inch deep on the deceased man's face, bullet wounds in the chest and stomach, and one exit wound. One bullet passed through the heart, and death was instantaneous. The shots were fired at close range, as the skin was discoloured.

It was stated that when arrested on the 3rd of June of this year the accused made no statement.

Thomas G. McLoughlin, who was Larkin's companion on this night, deposed that he met Larkin on the 17th January when he arrived in Castleisland to pay the men at the posts there. Larkin appeared to be "a bit jiggy" from drink, and did not recognise the witness at first, though they had previously been out on "stunts" together. Larkin told him that they were having a lively time in Castleisland; that they were being "hit up" now and then. His conversation was that of a man who was drink-logged. Both of them commenced to drink, and were in five or six public-houses from the time they met until after midnight. While in one public-house they were told that there was a dump about one and a half or two miles outside Castleisland, and that Republicans were there to get the stuff out of it. He and Larkin arranged to go out with a party of men. After leaving the last public-house Larkin insisted that they should search the "nooks and corners" of the principal streets, although witness believed there was no need to do so.

On their way back to the post, towards one o'clock, they saw two men coming out of a public-house, one of whom was Prenderville. Asked what they were doing out at that hour of the night, Prenderville replied that he was a Republican, but the witness took that as a joke. Prenderville told where he lived when asked, and the witness noticed that where he lived was the place where the dump was supposed to be. Prenderville also said that he had not seen a Republican for three years. Becoming suspicious at this answer, they took him to the guardroom. There he was struck by Larkin, who over-balanced and fell on Prenderville. As they fell the revolver went off. Before that Larkin told Prenderville that if he did not tell where the Republicans were he "would shove him in," and not that he would shoot him, as Sergeant Treacy had sworn.

Mr. O'Connor asked the jury to find—

(1) That accused was insane from the effects of drink when he shot Prenderville; or

(2) That the effects of drink prevented him from realising the nature of the deed; or

(3) That the shooting was accidental.

The prisoner was found guilty of manslaughter and put back.

DUBLIN CIRCUIT COURT.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

(Before Judge Bromgeols.)

Christopher Reid, farm labourer, Rathfarnham, applied for compensation from his late employer, Mr. John Kennedy, of Mount Venus. The evidence was that for the past two years the applicant had been in Mr. Kennedy's employment, working four or five days a week during that period. On the 24th of June last he was leading a mare through a gate, when the animal snapped at him, with the result that he was thrown against the gate and sustained an injury to his ankle, which necessitated his detention in hospital for six weeks.

Mr. Kennedy's evidence was to the effect that the accident was due to the plaintiff's own carelessness.

The Judge awarded applicant compensation at the rate of 11s. 6d. a week from the date of the accident until the 1st of September, on the basis of total incapacity, and at the rate of 11s. 6d. from 1st September until the present, on the basis of partial incapacity, with costs, amounting in all to £20.

Mr. Cawley (instructed by Messrs. James O'Connor and Co.) appeared for the applicant; Mr. Sherry (instructed by Mr. J. Fagan) was for the defendant.

A sum of £1 per week compensation was awarded to Ernest Lesware, fitter and turner, for personal injuries received in the employment of Thomas Archer, builder and engineer, New Wapping street, in July, 1923.

Mr. J. J. Walsh (instructed by Mr. Lane Joynt) appeared for the applicant; Mr. Nolan Whelan (instructed by Mr. J. H. McLoughlin) defended.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

EX-OFFICER SENT TO PRISON.

(Before Mr. Collins.)

In the Southern Court, Herbert Stanley Priestly, who was described as an ex-Artillery staff officer of the British Army, who gave his address as 5 Merrion terrace, New Brighton, was sent to jail for nine months for having obtained money by false pretences by worthless cheques. The prisoner, it was stated, obtained sums amounting to £54 from a number of Dublin drapery firms by inducing them to cash cheques which were drawn by him and which, when presented to the bank, were "referred to drawer."

Mr. P. H. O'Brien, who defended, mentioned that the prisoner had been an officer in the British Army and fought through the war, being wounded twice. When he issued the cheques he thought that money was coming to him. There was a sum of money to his credit in the bank, and he had intended to make a lodgment before the cheques were presented. The money that he expected did not come, and he did everything possible to commute his pension in order to pay the claims against him.

THE LICENSING LAWS.

Alfred Collins, licensed publican, 85 Bride street, was summoned for a breach of the Licensing Act, alleged to be committed at 8.55 a.m. on the 13th September.

The defence was that a milkman knocked at the door, and the assistants, believing that it was nine o'clock, opened the door.

The defendant, having stated in reply to Mr. Collins, that he was prepared to contribute 10s. to the poor box, the case was marked "withdrawn," and he was cautioned.

Timothy Nolan, publican, 31 Wexford street, who was summoned for a breach of the Licensing Act on the 11th October, was cautioned by the magistrate, and the summons was withdrawn.

Peter McKeever, publican, 45 City quay, was fined £2 for having two men illegally on his premises at 5.30 p.m. on Sunday, the 5th October, and the two men were each fined, four shillings.

LARCENY OF COATS.

William Perry, was sentenced to six months and Joseph Fagan to fourteen days' imprisonment, on the charge of stealing two overcoats—one the property of Dr. McAravey, from the Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, Adelaide road, and the other from Mr. Jones, Diocesan Schools, Molesworth street.

CHEMIST FINED.

Hyman Musback, chemist, 3 Francis street, was fined £3 for having failed to close his premises at the prescribed hour on Saturday, 11th October.

NORTHERN COURT.

(Before Mr. Cooper.)

John Connell, New Cabra road, cattle-dealer, was fined 20s., and ordered to pay 20s. costs for having assaulted John Martin in O'Hanlon's publichouse on the previous evening.

BETTING CHARGES.

John Coyne (23), 29 Reginald street, off Thomas street, was fined £1 on the charge of loitering and frequenting Swan Alley, Thomas street, at noon that day, for the purpose of betting.

John O'Flagherty, 19 Upper Fownes's street, was fined £3 for having carried on illegal betting on his premises.

ALLEGED FRAUD.

John D. Hendrick, otherwise Denis Walton Joherns, was remanded for a week for having fraudulently obtained, on the 12th of August, a cheque on the Bank of Ireland for £25 from Edward Hall Wood, 7 Upper Fownes's street.

Mr. Woods said that the accused asked him if he would cash the cheque of a Cork bookmaker for £14, which he refused to do, but agreed to cash the accused's own cheque. He had not sufficient cash at the moment to give him, and he gave him his own cheque, which was cashed on the same date. The accused man's cheque, when presented to the bank, was returned "No account."

Detective Hoey arrested the accused at Southport, Lancashire.

CRUELTY TO CHILDREN.

Joseph Hanna was charged by the National Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children with having wilfully neglected his wife and four children—Desmond (12), Rory (8), Patrick (7), and Nora (6).

Mrs. H. Clarke, Inspector of the Society, said that the accused had been in good employment as temporary clerk in the Inland Revenue Department, but he had lost that position owing to drink and gambling.

He was sent to jail for six months.

CLUB SECRETARY REMANDED.

John J. Brien (20), fitter's helper, 63 Demesne, Killester Gardens, was remanded on bail to the next Circuit Court on a charge of having received certain railway tickets, or the proceeds thereof, for, and on account of, the Committee of the Kelbourne Athletic and Football Club, and fraudulently converted the proceeds of 200 tickets to his own use; also a sum of £8 9s., which he received from the Great Northern Railway Company for advertising an excursion from Dublin to Belfast on June 29th.

The accused, it was stated, was formerly secretary of the club, and had authority to negotiate the excursions with the railway company. He purchased 1,500 tickets for the excursion, and rendered an account to the committee for 1,300.

The accused said that when nearing the date of the excursion only 100 tickets had been sold, and to make the excursion a success he engaged help to sell the tickets, for which he had to pay.

Mr. E. H. Burne appeared for the club, and Mr. V. Brady defended.

BIGAMY CHARGE.

Alfred Long, otherwise Delaney, an ex-soldier, was charged by Detective Officer Lynch with bigamy.

Evidence was given that the accused was married in Dublin on 15th June, 1915, to Mary Skelly, who is still alive, and that subsequently he went through a form of marriage at another Dublin church with Ellen Watson.

The accused was returned for trial to the Circuit Court.

LOCAL ELECTIONS.

THE FARMERS' NEED OF ORGANISATION.

In the Carnegie Library, Sandyford, Co. Dublin, last night, the first of a series of meetings by the County Dublin Association of the Irish Farmers' Union was held, in view of the coming local elections.

Mr. L. Roe, who presided, said that one of the chief causes of agricultural depression was taxation, and especially local taxation. Rates had gone up, but what benefit had farmers derived from them? If in the future the County Councils had full control of county affairs the proper men should be elected to those bodies.

Mr. R. Wilson, T.D., said that in a State of twenty-six counties they had twenty-six million pounds in taxation, not to speak of local taxation. Little of that was used to develop trade or commerce. A lot of it went to provide places and fat jobs for those who had been patriots during the last few years and were now in power. The time had come for a radical reduction in expenses, and an effort should be made to help people who were trying to pay their way. One of the main causes of high taxation was the fact that they were not a law-abiding people.

He did not contend that the country was insolvent. It was thoroughly sound. What they wanted was to get people to work, and the only people who took advantage of their opportunities were those in the rural districts. There was a present demand for 70,000 houses in the metropolis, but these were not being erected because of the action of trades unions. The only men to build houses were the farmers, who would work themselves. They would have to get away from high rates of wages. He did not object to high wages if those who received them would cease to buy foreign produce, and purchase that of Irish farmers.

The existence of the country depended on the farmers, and anything they could do to help the farmers would help the country. As a farmer, he resented Government interference in the industry, and in the future they were determined not to tolerate any such interference. Having referred to the need for making main roads a national charge, he mentioned that the motor taxes alone would be sufficient to provide 264 miles of steam-rolled roads per annum at £1,500 per mile.

Mr. P. McKenna, T.D., said that there was never more need for organisation among farmers than at present. Never had the industry been in such a perilous condition. This could be remedied by joining their organisation and discussing their grievances. It was ridiculous to blame the Farmers' Party if the farmers of the country were not behind it. That party must be independent of all other parties in the State.

Until the Government was able to balance the Budget farmers would have to suffer from the high cost of transit and everything else. He hoped that when the local and general elections came the farmers of County Dublin would not be found wanting.

Mr. Connor Hogan, T.D., having reviewed the activities of the Farmers' Party in the Dail, said that it was essential that farmers should control the Legislature. Whatever Government was elected should be obeyed, but the people owed no allegiance to any clique that attempted to climb to power by violence.

Mr. White, T.D., said that farmers were 80 per cent. of the population of the country and paid 80 per cent. of the taxation. Why, then, did they not organise themselves like the trade unions and hold 80 per cent. of the representation?

A vote of thanks to the Chairman was adopted, on the motion of Mr. White, seconded by Mr. McKenna. The latter said he had advocated that an Irish Geddes Committee should be set up to inquire into national income and expenditure. It was intended to bring in a motion to that effect.

Mr. McEvoy, County Secretary, and Mr. J. E. Geoghegan also spoke.

SEED POTATOES.

CERTIFIED CROPS.

In view of the importance to farmers of procuring sound seed potatoes for next season's planting, the Department of Agriculture have inspected the crops grown in certain areas, and have issued certificates in respect of those found suitable for seed purposes. A list of the crops so certified, giving names and addresses of the growers, will be supplied free on application to the Department.

Cropping experiments show that better results are obtained from carefully chosen home-grown seed than from any imported seed. Moreover, the use of Irish seed potatoes minimises the risk of introducing the disastrous black scab disease, which, not so many years ago, was conveyed to this country by potatoes grown on the other side of the Channel. An outbreak of this disease would inflict grave loss on traders as well as on growers in the area infected, as stringent precautions must be taken to prevent it from spreading.

The ravages of black scab in other countries, and the great difficulty experienced in dealing with it, have made it necessary to impose severe restrictions on the entry of potatoes into the Saorstat. No importation of overseas potatoes, either as seed or ware, can take place except under licence from the Department, which is now granted only in respect of a few varieties from certain seed-producing areas in Scotland.

DUBLIN AND THE PROVINCES.

DUBLIN.

WEATHER FORECASTING.—At a meeting under the auspices of the Engineering and Scientific Association of Ireland, in the Physics Theatre, University College, Dublin, next Monday night, a lecture on "Wireless Forecasting" will be delivered by Captain L. A. Brooke-Smith, R.D., R.N.R., Marine Superintendent, Air Ministry, London. The subject deals with weather forecasting, which, especially in these latitudes so subject to rapid changes, is becoming a matter of increasing public interest. The large percentage of present-day true forecasts is largely due to the Air Ministry's new system of procuring weather data, which is sent by wireless from five hundred ships, and is "picked up" by eight hundred trained officers in the Mercantile Marine. Captain Brooke-Smith was for many years in command of the Orient Mail Line of steamers running to Australia and elsewhere.

ST. MATTHEW'S FAIR.—A Christmas fair and fête was held yesterday in St. Matthew's Parochial Hall, Irishtown. A large crowd was present throughout the afternoon. A programme of amusements was much enjoyed. A special feature was an illuminated Christmas tree placed on the platform. The fair will be open to-day from three o'clock.

NATURALISTS' FIELD CLUB.—The first business meeting of the Dublin Naturalists' Field Club's thirty-ninth winter session will be held in the Royal Irish Academy House, Dawson street, next Thursday at 8 p.m., when an address will be delivered by Mr. Joseph Doyle, M.Sc., on "Some Common Plant-Associations."

DANCING CHAMPIONSHIP.—At the ballroom dancing championship, which was brought to a successful conclusion last week at Clery's, the graceful dancing of two couples, the pupils of Miss Blanche Conchie (late Empress Rooms, London), better known in Dublin as Mrs. Ray Palmer, was a feature.

PASSENGERS BY B. AND I. LINE, VIA LIVERPOOL

ARRIVALS:—Lord Ardee, Miss J. St. Lawrence, Dr. O'Callaghan, Mrs. M. Slocock, J. McPherson, J. Stoke, Messrs. O'Brien, Doyle, N. W. Taylor, Harwarden, Stewart, Hoye, C. Kenny, Beckett, McCormack, J. Mara, J. Strong, Hearn, Harris, W. Irving, J. Lockington, W. Bateman, J. Cooney, Miss Cooney, Capt. Arnold, J. O'Brien, C. Seal, Capt. Hardman.

DEPARTURES:—J. Steele, W. C. Shaw, A. W. McPherson, John Carroll, T. Brindley, Mrs. Bates, P. Giffel, T. P. Curran, W. Brooks, J. Longer, Capt. Curry, R. Deverill, G. Hyland, J. E. Guthrie, D. McPherson, H. Donahoe, Dr. Moorhead, N. McNeill, Fr. Dunne, Fr. Morris, Fr. Canavan, Fr. O'Rourke, Mrs. Earnshaw.

CONNAUGHT.

GALWAY CONSCIENCES.—When a farmer was summoned at Mountbellew for the larceny of timber his explanation was that, owing to the bad year, it was impossible for farmers to gather their peat, and there was an actual want of fuel. They had to take the timber, and were willing to pay for it. The owner would not sell the timber to them. A letter was read from the owner, in which he stated that timber to the value of £100 had been stolen from his demesne. He had received £2 10s. "conscience money," which showed that a good many people in the district had no conscience. The defendant was fined five shillings.

CASTLEREA BANK APPOINTMENT.—Mr. P. T. Wallace, manager of the Ballymahon Branch of the National Bank, has been transferred to the Castlerea Branch in succession to Mr. W. H. Briscoe, who has retired.

LEINSTER.

STOCK-BREEDING ENCOURAGEMENT.—Longford Farmers' Association is offering a prize of £1 for the best-finished pig shown at Lanesborough fair on Monday, December 15. Prizes of £1 each are offered for the best bullock or heifer calved since May, 1922, and for the best since May, 1923.

BALLYMAHON COURTHOUSE.—Our Longford Correspondent says that the attention of the County Council had been drawn to the condition of Ballymahon Courthouse. Our Correspondent adds that the late County Court Judge Drummond refused to sit in the Courthouse, which, he said, was "merely fit for a hay loft." He held his Courts in the Workhouse Boardroom.

RELUCTANT TO TAKE THE OATH.—When Miss Winifred Dunphy, Inistioge, who was the principal witness in a larceny case at Thomastown, Co. Kilkenny, District Court yesterday, was asked to take the oath she declined to do so. She also refused to affirm. She declined to give any reasons for her attitude. The magistrate assured her that she need not answer any questions about which she had the slightest doubt. After much persuasion she agreed to be sworn.

DEMORALISING EFFECT OF PRISON.—When Henry M'Cabe, stated to live in Chamber's street, Dublin, who had been in prison for three weeks awaiting trial, pleaded guilty at Thomastown District Court yesterday to the larceny of one pound from a shop at Inistioge, the magistrate said that he did not believe in sending persons to prison if he could avoid it, as it usually had the effect of demoralising them, and meant that they returned to prison as habitual criminals. He ordered M'Cabe to be imprisoned until the rising of the Court.

R.D.C. AND COUNTY COMMISSIONER.—Birr Rural District Council yesterday refused to co-operate with the Commissioner for King's County, and adjourned all road work until a County Council representative of the people of the county had been elected. A letter from the Commissioner with reference to arrears of rent owed by men working on the roads and occupiers of labourers' cottages was not considered.

RATHDRUM COUNCILLOR DEAD.—The death has occurred suddenly of Mr. Edward Ellison, aged 37, Corballis House, Rathdrum. Mr. Ellison served as a private in the war, and had been unanimously co-opted a member of the Rathdrum Guardians and District Council, in succession to his father.

BUSINESSLIKE COUNCIL.—In his report of the audit of Coole, Co. Longford, District Council accounts, covering four and a half years, the Auditor states the accounts are in good order and that there are no surcharges. The Chairman said that the report was highly creditable to the Council. They had kept "clean sheets" through a very trying time.

MUNSTER.

ALLEGED THREAT TO SHOOT.—At Ardmore, Co. Waterford, District Court, Richard Morrison, Ballinaclash, was charged with preventing his arrest by threatening to murder two Civic Guards. A sergeant said that on June 29th he approached the accused man to arrest him on a charge of being one of an armed party which took forcible possession of a boat, the property of the Lismore Fishery Conservators. The accused man, he alleged, produced an automatic pistol and said that he would shoot. The Guards had to release him. They subsequently arrested him at a harvest dance on October 22. A question, "Did you not know that the accused was going round the country armed?" was disallowed. The defendant was committed for trial in custody.

SHEEP-DIPPING ORDER.—In imposing fines of 10s. and costs on farmers for breaches of the Sheep-Dipping Order, at Midleton, Co. Cork, the Magistrate said that he was treating offenders lightly in inflicting such a fine, as they were the first of such cases to come before him at that court. In the future, however, he would inflict the maximum penalty in every conviction.

HOUSES FOR LIMERICK.—Limerick Borough Council has decided to obtain a loan of £13,200 for a scheme under the Housing (Building Facilities) Act of 1924.

TRESPASSING DONKEYS.—At Midleton, Co. Cork, James Rigney, of Cloyne, was fined 31s. and costs for allowing thirty-one donkeys to trespass on the land of Mr. C. F. P. Creed, a horse breeder.

GERVASE ELWES FUND.

MEETING OF IRISH BRANCH.

A general meeting of the Irish branch of the Gervase Elwes Fund for Musicians, which was founded in July last, was held yesterday in the Theatre Royal, Dublin, under the chairmanship of Sir John R. O'Connell, for the purpose of electing a permanent committee in place of the committee provisionally appointed at a previous meeting.

The following members were elected:—Mr. Hubert Rooney, Miss Sara Allgood, Sir John R. O'Connell, Mr. Arthur Darley, Mr. Brinsley Gerty, Mr. Pack-Beresford, and Mr. Edmond Lupton, K.C.

Mr. Rooney, the Honorary Secretary, said that the membership of the Fund was now about one hundred, and the funds totalled £103 8s. Within a week of the initial meeting he received six applications for help, all totally different. Some were from people in want, and others came from people who were trying to make music a profession, but who could not, for some reason or another, get enough money to continue their lessons. Later, again, they had a tragic case of a quite well-known member of the musical profession who lost his life, leaving behind him a wife and three children. These facts proved that there was an absolute necessity for such a fund.

Sir John R. O'Connell made a strong appeal for unselfish support by members. He said that the Fund made a very strong appeal to him, because of the suffering and sorrow which they were out to relieve. There were various forms of help for those who were in need, but it was a curious circumstance that seldom were the needs of what he might call the better classes well provided for. The suffering caused by premature deaths, by illness, and the other misfortunes which fell to the lot of artists, deserved particular support. These men and women contributed to human happiness generally, and also to the cause of culture, and consequently they had a call upon sympathy and help when trouble afflicted them. He thought that it was a very fortunate circumstance that the appeal was associated with the name of Gervase Elwes, who was not only a great artist, but also a great Christian gentleman. Gervase Elwes had worked hard for the betterment of the poorer and more distressed members of the profession of which he was so great an ornament.

A list of subscriptions to the memorial will be found in our advertising columns.

THE LATE INSPECTOR DAVID O'CONNELL.

The funeral of the late Inspector David O'Connell, Dublin Metropolitan Police, who died on Wednesday last, took place yesterday from Mount Argus Church to Glasnevin Cemetery. There was a large attendance of police officers, among those present being General Murphy, Chief Commissioner, and Mr. Denis Barrett, Assistant Commissioner. The Dublin Metropolitan Police Band attended and played under the direction of Sergeant Maher. About a hundred carriages and motor cars followed the hearse.

The Rev. J. P. Gorman, C.C., Berkeley road, recited the last prayers.

The chief mourners were:—

Mrs. O'Connell (widow); John O'Connell, Abbeyfeale (brother); Maurice, William, and Thomas Collins, Abbeyfeale; David O'Connor, Fergus O'Connor, Mrs. O'Connor, Richard O'Connor, Thomas O'Connor, Thomas Archdeacon, J. J. Holland, M.A.; and Thomas Holland (nephews).

The general attendance included:—

The Lord Mayor, Chief Superintendent Willoughby, M.A.; Colonel Neligan, Superintendents Ennis, Kirwan, Kelleher, O'Driscoll, Freeman, and Carey, ex-Assistant Commissioner Fergus Quinn, the Rev. Father O'Callaghan, C.C., Berkeley road; Colonel Bravo, J. P. McCabe, Blackrock Council; Archibald Clarke, solicitor; Inspectors Hurley, Clarke, O'Connell, Long, Winters, and O'Neill; T. Byrne, John Mullet, T. Ormsby, P. Murphy, Round Tower Branch Irish National Foresters; J. J. White, J. Walsh, J. P. Finneran, Sergeant Gibney, James, Christopher, and H. McDonnell, and the following ex-members of the Dublin Metropolitan Police:—L. W. Murphy (ex-Chief Superintendent); Messrs. J. McGloughlin, Forrest, and Haugh (Inspectors); P. P. O'Reilly (Sergeant) and L. S. Drennan (Station Sergeant).

After eighteen years' work as Principal of Ruskin College, Oxford, Mr. H. Sanderson Furniss has resigned his position as Principal. His resignation will take effect next April, when he hopes to take up other work in the labour movement.

BANK OF IRELAND CLERKSHIPS.

CARL ROSA OPERA SEASON.

"AIDA"

For "Aida" the resources of the present Carl Rosa Company are far short of what is required. "Aida" was written specially for a great occasion—a gala performance at Cairo—and its whole design was drawn for spectacle and vocal and scenic display. The music demands a festival orchestra and a large array of brilliant singers, supported by a strong chorus, divided at times into several sections. Its chief effects are mass effects, and the solo music was written to give abundant opportunity for vocal display by the greatest operatic artistes of the day.

• • • • • •

Work-a-day performances, like that given last night, are useful for the purpose of keeping the public in touch with the music; but if there were members of the audience to whom the opera was new, they should not imagine that they have seen or heard an "Aida" which might fairly be taken as a standard. They have yet to learn how thrilling scene after scene of the opera can be when it is performed on a suitable scale.

• • • • • •

Some of the singing last night was positively bad; the chorus was quite inadequate, and the principals, although some did well individually, were not well balanced. Measuring the performance by the needs of the opera, it was much inferior to the other productions of the company this week.

• • • • • •

Miss Ethel Austen, the Aida, stood out as a fully competent artiste, and though in a stronger combination she would not have been remarkable, her singing last night was comparatively brilliant. It is an arduous part, but she never failed, and she had her music always well in hand. In its wide range she did not utter one unmusical note.

To-day, "Rigoletto"; to-night, "Maritana."

THE RAILWAY ENGINE.

MODERN DEVELOPMENT.

"Modern Development of the Railway Locomotive" was the subject of a paper read by Mr. W. H. Morton, M.I.Mech.E., Chief Engineer, Midland Great Western Railway, at the opening of the thirty-first session of Dublin University Engineering Students' Society held in Trinity College, Dublin, last night. Professor Clark, M.A., B.Sc. (London), M.Inst.C.E., presided.

In the course of his paper, Mr. Morton dealt with the development of the railway locomotive in recent years, rendered necessary owing to expansion of trade, the marked increase in the habit of travelling, the economy to be effected by the hauling of larger freight trains, and the modern demand for higher speed in more luxurious, and consequently heavier, carriages, coupled with a keen rivalry between the railway companies for the best performance in passenger travel or the quickest transit of goods and merchandise.

By the aid of lantern slides the lecturer showed different types of locomotives which are being built at the Broadstone works of the Midland Great Western Railway Company, and many other types of locomotives used on railways in other countries.

Dealing with the question of electrification of railways, Mr. Morton said that expenditure on this matter was being incurred on a large scale in France. Italy also had done much in this direction. Holland was about to commence the electrification of her main lines, and in Switzerland it was the intention to convert the whole of the railways to electric traction. Germany, Austria and Sweden all had extensive electrification schemes in progress.

From the point of view of operation the electric locomotive had certain undoubted advantages. No coaling depôts or watering stations were required. The locomotive was ready for traffic at a moment's notice; it could be kept in traffic for much longer periods, and did not require a shed day once a week for boiler wash-out purposes. On the other hand, the enormous cost of conversion of long-distance railways from steam to electric traction stood as a barrier in the way of rapid change.

Sir Robert Tate, M.A., K.B.E., proposed a vote of thanks to the lecturer. Mr. J. R. Basin, M.I.Mech.E., seconded the vote, which was carried.

Interest in a seven-year-old crime in Glasgow was revived a week ago, when a man and woman were arrested on suspicion of being concerned in the death of Isabella Bullion, in 1917. The suspects appeared at the Glasgow Central Police Courts yesterday, and on the motion of the prosecution were released.

EMPRESS DAGMAR.

EXPULSION FROM DENMARK ORDERED BY MOSCOW.

RUSSIAN ROYALISTS' FATE

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

COPENHAGEN, Friday.

According to the newspaper Ekstrabladet, the Soviet Government has ordered the Danish Socialist Government to expel from Denmark the 76-year-old Empress Dagmar, as well as all Russian loyalists living in Denmark.

The report states that the Danish Prime Minister has approached Moscow with a view to having the demand withdrawn owing to the hostility and agitation its carrying out would arouse in Denmark.

Empress Dagmar is the daughter of King Christian IX. of Denmark, and is very popular with all Danes.

If the Soviet Government's order is carried out more than a hundred and fifty Russian "whites" will be driven from the country.

ALLEGATIONS AGAINST CIVIC GUARDS.

DISTRICT JUSTICE'S ACTION.

Allegations were made at the Enniscorthy District Court against members of the Civic Guard in a case in which Thomas Walsh, of Ballycarrigeen, Ferns, Co. Wexford, was charged with having been drunk and disorderly and with having assaulted Guard Frawley.

The Guard stated that he found the defendant drunk on the street and asked him to go home. When he became violent he arrested him, and the defendant kicked him.

The defendant, giving evidence, admitted having had some drink. When taken to the barrack at Ferns he was knocked down and kicked by the other Guards, and later in the night they held a "court," and "sentenced him to twenty years' penal servitude." He was kept in custody until the following morning, when they brought him before the District Court. The Guard who was on night duty in the barrack tripped him up, and hit him when he asked to be let out.

The defendant was asked if he could identify the Guard, and he pointed to one of the Guards in court. The Guard smiled, and was reprimanded by the District Justice, who said that it was a very improper attitude for any Guard to adopt in view of the serious allegations in the case.

The Guard, in answer to the Justice, said his name was Sexton, and that he was stationed in Wexford Barrack.

Continuing his evidence, the defendant said that the sergeant in the Ferns barrack pointed what seemed to be a revolver at him during the night.

Superintendent Kilroy said that he could not put forward any other Guard, because all had since been transferred from the Ferns station, and the sergeant was not now a member of the Guards.

The District Justice adjourned the case, and said that he would make a special report to the authorities of the Civic Guard, on which, if necessary, a special inquiry would be based, and the defendant would be given an opportunity of identifying the Guards concerned if he could do so.

He made a similar ruling in a case against John Lyons, Bunclody, who was charged in custody with having obstructed Guard Frawley when he was arresting the other defendant, and he directed Lyons, who had previously been on remand in custody for a week, to be released.

ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY.

NEW ARRANGEMENTS AT BALLSBRIDGE.

At the meeting of the Council of the Royal Dublin Society on Thursday, Professor Joly, Vice-President in the chair, a resolution was passed regretting the death of Mr. Matthew H. Franks, who had been a member of the Society for forty-four years, during which he devoted himself with the utmost zeal and energy in furthering the best interests of the Society.

A similar resolution was afterwards passed by the Council of Agriculture.

The report of the Ballsbridge premises Committee, requesting authority to improve the accommodation on the north side of Merrion road, for the Bloodstock Sales, and submitting an estimate of the cost, was read. The director explained that this work was considered essential in the interests of Irish horse-breeders as the Bloodstock Sales at Ballsbridge were annually growing in importance, and that with the erection of additional loose boxes and the improvements to the sale ring proposed, the Society would have one of the finest bloodstock rings in the United Kingdom. The necessary expenditure for carrying out the work was authorised.

The Director reported the further negotiations with the Government on the matter of compensation for the loss of Leinster House, and the temporary facilities provided for members at Ballsbridge, also the arrangements made for the housing of the Society's library and laboratory pending the erection of additional buildings at Ballsbridge.

COMMITTEE OF AGRICULTURE.

At the meeting of the Committee of Agriculture—Sir Nugent Everard in the chair—the recommendation of the Shows and Sales Committee in regard to the Spring Shows and Sales of 1925 were approved generally, Messrs. Gavin Low, Ltd., being appointed auctioneers, as in 1924. These recommendations include the provision of a special class for a group of three non-pedigree dairy shorthorn cows exhibited at the Spring Agricultural Show from a branch of the Irish Dairy Shorthorn Association—prize, silver cup value 15 guineas, to be won outright. Conditions of entry to be drawn up in consultation with the Department of Agriculture.

It was also agreed to confer with the Department on the subject of the classification for agricultural horses at this Show. Two classes are provided for polo ponies.

It was resolved that a grant of £50 be made in respect of the Dublin Christmas Fat Stock Show, 1924, as last year, and to provide half the prize money offered for competition at the annual Show and Sale of the Irish Pedigree Sheep Breeders' Association to be held in the month of August, 1925.

WOMAN'S DEATH ON THE ROADSIDE.

TWO BROTHERS ACQUITTED.

At the Kilkenny Circuit Court yesterday, John and Joseph Ward, brothers, of Nenagh, Co. Tipperary, were found not guilty of the manslaughter of Sarah Dalton, of Clonmel, at Kilcreene, near Kilkenny, on 3rd September, and were discharged.

All the parties belonged to the tramp class, and it was alleged that the woman received fatal injuries during a drunken squabble on the roadside. The defence was that the woman received the injuries by falling while under the influence of drink.

Counsel for the accused commented on the fact that the principal witness for the State, a young son of the deceased woman, had been kept in the Civic Guard station since the occurrence, although no suggestion of "coaching" him was made.

FUNERAL OF MR. LAURENCE LAWLESS.

The funeral of Mr. Laurence Lawless, of the staff of the Dublin Railway Clearing House, took place from his residence, Shankill, Co Dublin, to Little Bray Cemetery, yesterday afternoon. There was a very large attendance.

The chief mourners were:—

James, John, Laurence and Leo (sons); Richard Ryder, George Owens, David Richardson, Christopher Johnson (sons-in-law); John O'Shaughnessy, Matthew Brady (brothers-in-law); John and Dominick Bridgeman, Laurence Lawless and Richard Brady (nephews); James Bridgeman (uncle); Peter, Henry and Laurence Lawless (cousins).

Mr. Lawless's colleagues of the Railway Clearing House were represented by Messrs. W. E. Richardson, J. J. Doyle, B. Langran, R. McGinley, J. W. Kirwin, William Maher, P.C.; A. O'Farrell, T. Owens, P. Roe, J. Cunningham, J. F. Farrell, and P. Larkin. Many beautiful wreaths were laid on the grave.

The last prayers were read by Rev. Kevin Brady, C.C.

IF I HAD THE MONEY!

WHAT IS YOUR DREAM?

Is it some day to own your house?—or to buy a farm?—or to set up in business for yourself? Is it to give your children a better start in life than you had yourself?—to give your boy a college training?—to settle a comfortable sum on your daughter when she marries?

Perhaps your own particular dream is none of these, yet almost certainly you will need more money than you have now to make it come true. A dream which is worth dreaming is one for which it is also worth while to save.

START NOW TO MAKE YOUR DREAM COME TRUE.

Your weekly savings will grow into a small fortune if you invest them regularly in Savings Certificates. Not only will your savings increase as week by week you add to them, but the money itself will grow.

Each 15/6 you invest in Savings Certificates becomes £1 in 5 years. That is a clear profit of 4/6 on every 15/6—and it costs you nothing—not even trouble. You can buy Savings Certificates from any Bank or Money Order Post Office, but your best plan is to

A DERBY SWEEP.

FIRST CASE OF THE KIND IN IRELAND.

In the Southern District Court, Dublin, yesterday, before Mr. Collins, K.C., the Very Rev. Canon Crowe, P.P., Athlone, was summoned at the instance of Inspector Patrick O'Connell, Dublin Metropolitan Police, for having on May 2nd last, at St. Stephen's Green, Dublin, unlawfully sold to Liam Coogan a ticket in the lottery known as the "Athlone Club Annual Sweep," on the Derby of June 4th, 1924, the sale of which was not authorised by any Act of Parliament.

Mr. Costello (instructed by Mr. D. O'Flaherty, Chief State Solicitor's Office) prosecuted.

Mr. Collins—Does anyone appear for the defendant.

Canon Crowe—I appear in person, your worship.

Detective Officer Coogan said that he visited the premises 110 St. Stephen's Green. A young woman opened the door, and he said that he wanted to buy a ticket for the Derby Sweep. He paid 10s. and received a ticket. These premises were used as an office by the defendant. There were two other young women engaged in the office and there were bundles of the sweep tickets on the floor.

Detective-Inspector O'Connell said that on the 3rd May he saw Canon Crowe and asked him who was responsible for the sweep, as he intended to take proceedings about the matter. He replied that he accepted entire responsibility for it, and added that his Church was much required in Athlone by the military and civilian population, and that he could not see any other way of raising the money to pay for the Church.

Mr. Collins—How do you prove that it was by chance?

Mr. Costello said that the names of horses were drawn for. Everybody knew what a sweep was. The winner of the first horse got the prize. It was common knowledge that in a sweep a number of people put in a certain amount of money with a view of getting a big prize. The prize was drawn by chance, and, in this case, the prizes were £6,000, £2,500 and £1,000, and the unplaced starters got something less. On the face of it there was no question as to skill or anything else.

OBJECT OF THE SWEEP.

Canon Crowe said that he did not desire to give evidence, but wished to make a statement, as there might be some misunderstanding about the sweep. He did not want to deny the fact that the sweep was organised, but it was not organised for any personal gain, but for the purpose of building a church in the town of Athlone, so as to relieve his people there. He had no other way of raising a sum of £30,000 or £40,000. As long as he could remember lotteries at bazaars, goose clubs, and sweeps had been organised in Ireland for church building and charitable purposes, and he had never heard of any serious action being taken by the authorities. The sweep did no damage to moral principals or ecclesiastical authority, and he wished that it should go forth that these proceedings did not reflect in any way on the straightforward manner in which the draw took place, or cause any doubt in the public mind as to the payment of prizes. At the time that he organised the sweep he knew that there was some legal difficulty, or penal enactment, forbidding sweeps, but, owing to the disturbed state, the law relating to the matter was not very clear, and he had given orders at his office that tickets should not be sold. Personally, he did not sell any tickets.

Mr. Collins—Do you dispute responsibility for this act?

Canon Crowe—Yes. The young lady had no right to sell the tickets at the time, for she had instructions from me not to sell them. I had a suspicion that detectives would be going round, and do you think I would sell tickets in Ireland?

Mr. Collins—This is very important. You will have to give evidence—otherwise your statement is of no use.

Canon Crowe said that he did not wish to give evidence, but to state the fact that he gave instructions that tickets were not to be sold. Lotteries, added the Canon, were going on in Ireland since he was a boy, and no prosecution took place, and they were still carried on at bazaars. Of course, he was prepared to submit to the law.

Mr. Collins said that he should hold that the charge was proved.

Mr. Costello said that it was not suggested that Canon Crowe conducted the sweep for his own benefit.

Mr. Collins said that there was no suggestion against his character. There were extenuating circumstances in the case. Although the Lotteries Act was over 100 years old this was the first prosecution in this country. He would not convict, but would bind Canon Crowe to come up for conviction and sentence when called on, and bind him to abstain from taking part in a lottery for two years.

Canon Crowe gave the necessary undertaking, and the case ended.

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE.

Castleknock College, the Irish Medical Association, the Irish Free State Football Association, the Leinster Cricket Union, and University College Athletic Club were among the organisations represented at a conference last night in the College of Surgeons, Dublin, when a Committee was appointed to take steps to have a system of physical training and education included in the course in all schools and colleges.

The conference was called at the instance of the Co. Dublin Board of the National Athletic and Cycling Association. The chair was occupied by Mr. P. Lynch, K.C.

Captain J. S. McMahon spoke of the advantages of physical training to the youth of the country. He urged that a beginning should be made in the National schools.

Dr. Rowlette asked the Committee to make a study of the methods adopted in the Scandinavian countries and in France. He mentioned that the medical inspection of school children would soon be made compulsory, and, therefore, he thought the time opportune for the adoption of a system of physical culture. The need for it and its advantages, he said, should be impressed on the Minister for Education, and on their representatives in the Dail.

Mr. J. J. Keane, National Athletic and Cycling Association, expressed the belief that they would find the Government sympathetic and prepared to facilitate them as far as possible.

Mr. H. Wright, who has 32 years' experience of physical training in Ireland, said that good work was being done by the secondary schools, and that it was on primary schools that they would have to concentrate.

The members of the Committee are:—Captain J. S. McMahon, Mr. J. B. Richardson (who was Secretary of the Gymnastic Section Aonac Tailteann), Mr. W. W. Commiskey, Headmaster Morgan Schools, Castleknock; Mr. P. Lynch, K.C., and Miss Wilson, Headmistress Girls' High School, Wellington place.

HOUSING BILL.

PROBLEM OF RENTS AND SUB-LETTING.

PROGRESS WITH LIVE STOCK BILL.

Dail Eireann had a comparatively short sitting yesterday. The Housing Bill passed the report stage, and the Committee stage of the Live Stock Bill was completed.

President Cosgrave reported that the number of houses in course of construction under the original Act were:—53 with three rooms; 399 with four rooms, and 975 with five rooms. He expressed the view that it would not be a good plan to encourage the erection of three-roomed houses at the expense of the other classes.

PRICE OF BREAD.

The Speaker took the chair at 12.14.

Mr. John J. Cole asked the Minister for Industry and Commerce if he would state what steps, if any, he had taken to deal with the recent increase in the price of bread.

Mr. McGilligan—I have no power to deal with changes in the price of bread; but the Trade Loans (Guarantee) Act affords a means of assisting any persons who come forward with practical proposals designed to reduce the price.

Major Bryan Cooper—Arising out of that answer, does not the Minister think it would be better if he had power to check the rise in prices; and will he take steps to obtain that power?

Mr. McGilligan—That question was very fully gone into, and it was decided that the best means of bringing down prices were the provisions of Part 2 of the Trade Loans (Guarantee) Act.

Mr. J. Lyons—Will the Minister advise employers to increase wages in order to meet the unnecessary increase in the price of bread?

Mr. McGilligan—It would be impertinent for me to make any such recommendation.

The report stage of the County Courts Appeals Bill was passed without discussion.

HOUSING BILL.

The Minister for Local Government moved the report stage of the Housing (Building Facilities) (Amendment) Bill. In doing so, he informed the Dail that the numbers of houses in course of construction under the original Act were 53 three-roomed, 390 four-roomed, and 975 five-roomed.

Mr. Good said that the position as revealed by the figures was worse even than he had expected. The figures were positively alarming, as showing the encouragement given to the building of larger houses. He appealed to the President to do something to encourage the erection of more three-roomed houses, as a means of stopping the gambling in sub-letting, which was bringing about a condition of things worse than under the old régime.

President Cosgrave said that he did not think that it would be a good plan to encourage the erection of three-roomed houses in large numbers. Such would accommodate only families of all boys or of all girls. The Churches were very insistent on the four-roomed house.

The difficulty was that in the erection of new houses they were not keeping pace with the deterioration of old houses, because the number of people engaged in the building trade was gradually reducing. They were coming to a point where some quicker method of producing houses to meet not alone the increased demand, but the needs of those who had to leave other houses by reason of their deterioration, would have to be devised. He suggested that the House should pass the final stage of the bill, as the local authorities were pressing for it.

Mr. Heffernan spoke of the necessity for improved housing conditions in rural areas. He knew farmers whose families were sleeping in barns because they had no accommodation in their houses.

Mr. Hughes said that people who could afford to build a house at all were not the class of people who would build a three-roomed house. He thought that a three-roomed house would not be a good thing for the future of the country. The least that they should give a family was a four-roomed house.

Mr. Baxter said that the rural districts did not get sufficient consideration. Housing conditions in many parts of the country were as bad as they were in the towns and cities.

Mr. Corish said that portions of some houses were sublet at twice or three times the rents of the whole house. He thought that the Government should take effective steps to cope with that.

Mr. Hogan (Clare) said that there was mental and physical deterioration in the country owing to the lack of proper housing accommodation.

Mr. Burke, Minister for Local Government, said that the position in the rural areas was not so serious as in the towns, where it was difficult to find sites. Under that bill farmers had facilities provided to the extent of 60 per cent. for housing.

Replying to Mr. John Good, President Cosgrave said that the Act was not applicable to houses of more than 1,000 square feet, unless building had been started before the passing of the Act, and the area was not more than 1,400 feet.

The report stage was agreed to, and the final stage was fixed for next Tuesday.

LIVE STOCK BILL.

The Committee Stage of the Live Stock Breeding Bill was resumed.

Mr. Heffernan proposed an amendment to the effect that the Ministry should not have power to destroy a pedigree bull used extensively in the owner's herd simply because the animal was not sufficiently prolific.

Mr. Hogan, Minister for Lands, agreed to delete the section, and the amendment was withdrawn.

Mr. Duggan moved the insertion of a new sub-section before sub-section 2, that in the case of a pure-bred bull, the property of one person, and used exclusively by him, the Minister shall not refuse to grant a licence solely because a bull is unsuited to the district.

Mr. Heffernan said that owners of herds should be at liberty to introduce a half-bred bull for their own exclusive use in counties where such bulls were not in accordance with the general type of cattle in the district.

Mr. Hogan said that the intention of the section was to give power to prevent Aberdeen-Angus or Dairy Shorthorn bulls from standing in Co. Kerry.

Mr. Baxter said that no farmer should be prevented from using a half-bred bull for his own exclusive use.

Mr. Hogan said that the Minister may refuse to grant a licence in the case of a bull unsuited to the district. They claimed with the section to have the power to prevent a man from bringing a Shorthorn or an Aberdeen-Angus bull into Kerry.

The sub-section was adopted by 30 to 8.

Progress on the bill was then reported.

OLD AGE PENSIONS.

The debate on Deputy McKenna's old age pension motion was resumed. The motion was that a special committee of the House be appointed to enquire into the system under which the Old Age Pensions Act, 1924, is being administered in the Saorstat.

The Duke of Abercorn inspecting the Guard of Honour at the Prorogation of the Parliament of Northern Ireland.

Mr. Baxter said that in the country there was a general feeling that the administration of the Act was far from satisfactory. It was believed that no attention was paid to the decisions of the local Pensions Committee. No good could come from setting up a committee to consider the present system unless its administration were also considered.

Mr. White (Farmers) said that frequently the pensions officers were rigorous and unreasonable in their views. He mentioned that it was unreasonable for a pensions officer to take into consideration the value of a stack of turf in an old age pensioner's yard that had been put there by the labour of his family. Some reasonable machinery should be set up for establishing the age of an applicant for a pension.

Mr. Daly said that he was satisfied with the sympathetic manner in which the Minister of Finance had promised to review the way in which old age pensions were granted up to the present.

Mr. P. W. Shaw supported the setting up of a committee.

Mr. W. Hewat said that if the Old Age Pensions Act was administered so that everyone who got it was a genuine case it would make matters very simple, and a greater latitude could be given. But it was impossible to do that, because local committees and local individuals had got a bias for getting something out of a central fund that was not paid for locally.

Mr. Blythe said that it was the duty of the Dail to see that officials did their duty properly. If they did not do their duty properly they should be removed.

Mr. Wolfe said that he sympathised with the motion, and he hoped that something would be done to make the working of the Act more reasonable and simple.

Mr. McKenna said that he was quite satisfied with the proposal of the Minister. He was glad that it would not be necessary to divide on the matter.

The motion was, by leave, withdrawn.

COMPENSATION.

Mr. Hogan (Clare), on the motion for the adjournment, drew attention to the way in which claims for compensation for personal injuries had been turned down by the Ministry of Finance. Men and women who had taken part in the Anglo-Irish war, and suffered severely, had received no compensation. Was there no clause of honour and justice in regard to those people in the Treaty?

Mr. Conor Hogan (Farmers) supported the motion, and declared that some of the amounts awarded were inadequate.

Several other deputies described cases in which they said that the amounts paid were insufficient.

The Minister for Finance read out the terms of reference to the Committee which was appointed to examine and make recommendations on all claims. So far the Committee had received 6,400 claims; they had considered 4,000; awards had been made on 1,174, and the amounts awarded had been paid in 950 cases, while a couple of hundred more were ready for payment. The total amount already paid was £277,283—an average of £236 per award.

He himself, when they were brought to his notice, had sent quite a considerable number of cases back to the Committee for reconsideration. He had looked into several of those cases, and his examination of the papers had satisfied him that the decisions of the Committee were right.

A difficulty that had to be met was the frequent misrepresentation of cases to deputies. He knew of one such case in which the form of application purported to be signed by a girl more than twelve months after her death. They had to deal with an enormous number of frivolous and exaggerated claims, for cupidity was always aroused when money was to be had.

In case of death, the attitude taken up by the Committee was that pecuniary loss would have to be proved before compensation could be awarded. They could only attempt to relieve actual hardship resulting from death. There was a difficulty about making payments to people who lived in the Six County area, and those, he thought, could be made only on a special vote brought before the Dail. He was always prepared, on satisfactory representation, to send any cases back to the Committee and, besides that, he was prepared in a reasonable number of cases to go over the papers and the evidence himself. He never refused a recommendation by a Committee.

GALWAY SHOOTING CASE.

WOUNDED MAN IN HOSPITAL.

E. P. Greene (65) is in custody in Galway and Michael Lydon, Carna, lies wounded in hospital, as a result of a shooting affair.

From the evidence given at a preliminary inquiry before Mr. Moylett, at Carna, it would appear that Lydon was going home with three friends when the accused, it is alleged, rushed out of his house with a shot-gun, scanned the faces of the boys, and, when he came to Lydon, raised the gun and pulled the trigger. Lydon fell and his friends and the assailant ran away. After a time he made his way back to his father's house. It was found that the pellets had lodged in the left thigh.

Greene was remanded in custody to the next Carna District Court.

POLICE SEARCH WITHOUT A WARRANT.

BELFAST MAN AWARDED DAMAGES.

Judge Thompson, sitting in the Belfast Recorder's Court yesterday, delivered judgment in a case in which [illegible], an ex-Service man, sued Detective David Baird, Mountpottinger Barracks, for £50 damages for having searched his house without a warrant, and detained him for an unreasonable time in Ballyhackamore Barracks.

His Honour held that for the detention [illegible] was not entitled to damages, but for the search of the house he was entitled to £5 damages, and he awarded him that sum.

SENTENCES AT KILKENNY COURT.

A ONE-STAGE AMPLIFIER

PART II.

[Preliminary instructions in the construction of a one-valve low-frequency amplifier appeared in last Saturday's Irish Times.]

The wiring is most conveniently carried out in two stages; first the baseboard, and then by fixing the panel on the front edge, and making the connections between the two.

Clean the ends of all points numbered in the accompanying diagram. Apply a little soldering flux to each and "tin" with the hot iron. The wiring is carried out in either round or square wire, not thinner than 18 S.W.G. Before bending to shape the wire must be stretched to give it stiffness, and to remove all "kinks." Fit each wire to its terminals, keeping a space of at least half an inch between parallel or crossing wires, and making right-angled bends only.

The connections are made in the following order:—3 to 13; 4 to 7 (o.s.); 8 to 10. Screw the panel to the baseboard and wire as follows:—16 to 12; 17 to 2; 11 to 14; 15 to 1; 19 to 5; 18 to 6. The two last connections are not to be soldered at points 5 and 6 until the amplifier has been tested. At point 9 solder a piece of flex to the other end of which a valve pin is fitted. The flex must be long enough for the slot in the pin to be slipped on either strip 20 or 21 of the grid bias battery.

The amplifier is now ready for testing. It is assumed that it will be used with the three valve set previously described, but it may be added to any receiver of the "straight" type.

In regard to the valve to be used, it is a matter of difficulty to obtain a combination of strength and purity with general purposes ones. It is possible to obtain excellent power valves which cost little and do not take much current, and by adjusting the values of the different batteries employed, powerful signals can be obtained without distortion. The valve used by the writer in this amplifier was an L.S. 5, and better results it would be very hard to get. In any case, even with an ordinary valve, grid bias and provision for a hundred to a hundred and twenty volts high tension must be made if the best results are to be obtained.

Connect as follows:—Join the input terminals to the telephone terminals of the receiver, also the L.T. positive and negative terminals. The H.T. positive terminal is tapped into the battery at about 70 volts, and the bias tap (No. 9) to connection 10. Insert the valve and head phones, and "tune in" to a signal. Try reversing the leads to Nos. 5 and 6; solder these wires in whichever position gives the best reception.

Detune the set slightly until signals are below comfortable strength. Move the bias clip to point 20, increase the H.T. value and adjust the filament current until signals are at their best. Then move to point 21, and repeat the above operation. Finally, set the bias clip at the point which gives the strongest signals and the H.T. plug in the best socket.

For general operation, it will be better to connect the head phones across the input terminals, as signals will be too loud in the other position to be tuned to their best point. The phones may be left permanently in this position, without loss of strength in the loud speaker.

The construction of the three-valve receiver with which this amplifier can be used was detailed in the Irish Times of September 6, 13, 27, October 4, 11 and 18. Back numbers can be obtained at the Dublin and branch offices.

NORTHERN LICENSING ACT.

TRADERS AND STRUCTURAL ALTERATIONS.

At the monthly meeting in Belfast of the Board of Management of the Ulster Vintners' Association letters were read from traders in the country regarding structural alterations which were rendered necessary by the Licensing Act. In some cases complaint was made of the aggressive way in which the police were said to be ordering separations and structures which might not be thought necessary by the tribunal appointed by the Act to control such alterations.

The Secretary reported that arrangements had been made for a deputation to meet the Home Minister, Sir Dawson Bates, [illegible] when this question would be fully gone into. [illegible] it was arranged to hold a general meeting at an early date.

THEFT OF PORT WINE.

YOUNG WOMAN'S WILD OUTBURST.

At the Dundalk District Court yesterday, District Justice Goff sentenced Rose Sullivan (18) to six months' imprisonment, with hard labour, on a charge of burglariously entering the premises of John McShane, publican, Bridge street, Dundalk, and stealing three bottles of port wine and damaging a window value £1.

The evidence showed that the defendant was seen at midnight with her hand through the window. She ran away, and two bottles of port were found on the steps of a corner house; another was found broken. On hearing the sentence the defendant exclaimed—"I will [illegible] Thank God de Valera and [illegible]"

She resisted violently while being removed from court, and declared she was going to shout for the republic.

FIRE ON A LINER.

After two days' strenuous work the fire which broke out in bunkers amidships on the Australian liner Port Albany, at Hull, was extinguished yesterday. The services of the city fire brigade were requisitioned on Thursday night to deal with the outbreak, which had not been effectively checked, notwithstanding that a considerable quantity of water had been poured into the bunkers. Firemen remained by the liner all night. The Port Albany was to have sailed for London last Wednesday night.

He missed his Wafer Oats

No, he is not the villain in the movies!

He has been feeling disgruntled all day—all week! He doesn't know why, exactly.

He has no energy for effort. He does not experience in his veins the agreeable tingle of warmth and vigour which betoken proper bodily nutrition and perfect health. He feels he somehow is not a success. He has no desire to break away on original lines of thought or action.

The explanation is simple. The fact is, the brain and muscle tissues burnt up in previous efforts have not been replaced. He has for the moment come to the end of his resources of strength and energy. The reserves have been used up. He has not restored them with proper food.

A DERBY SWEEP.

FIRST CASE OF THE KIND IN IRELAND.

In the Southern District Court, Dublin, yesterday, before Mr. Collins, K.C., the Very Rev. Canon Crowe, P.P., Athlone, was summoned at the instance of Inspector Patrick O'Connell, Dublin Metropolitan Police, for having on May 2nd last, at St. Stephen's Green, Dublin, unlawfully sold to Liam Coogan a ticket in the lottery known as the "Athlone Club Annual Sweep," on the Derby of June 4th, 1924, the sale of which was not authorised by any Act of Parliament.

Mr. Costello (instructed by Mr. D. O'Flaherty, Chief State Solicitor's Office) prosecuted.

Mr. Collins—Does anyone appear for the defendant.

Canon Crowe—I appear in person, your worship.

Detective Officer Coogan said that he visited the premises 110 St. Stephen's Green. A young woman opened the door, and he said that he wanted to buy a ticket for the Derby Sweep. He paid 10s. and received a ticket. These premises were used as an office by the defendant. There were two other young women engaged in the office and there were bundles of the sweep tickets on the floor.

Detective-Inspector O'Connell said that on the 3rd May he saw Canon Crowe and asked him who was responsible for the sweep, as he intended to take proceedings about the matter. He replied that he accepted entire responsibility for it, and added that his Church was much required in Athlone by the military and civilian population, and that he could not see any other way of raising the money to pay for the Church.

Mr. Collins—How do you prove that it was by chance?

Mr. Costello said that the names of horses were drawn for. Everybody knew what a sweep was. The winner of the first horse got the prize. It was common knowledge that in a sweep a number of people put in a certain amount of money with a view of getting a big prize. The prize was drawn by chance, and, in this case, the prizes were £6,000, £2,500 and £1,000, and the unplaced starters got something less. On the face of it there was no question as to skill or anything else.

OBJECT OF THE SWEEP.

Canon Crowe said that he did not desire to give evidence, but wished to make a statement, as there might be some misunderstanding about the sweep. He did not want to deny the fact that the sweep was organised, but it was not organised for any personal gain, but for the purpose of building a church in the town of Athlone, so as to relieve his people there. He had no other way of raising a sum of £30,000 or £40,000. As long as he could remember lotteries at bazaars, goose clubs, and sweeps had been organised in Ireland for church building and charitable purposes, and he had never heard of any serious action being taken by the authorities. The sweep did no damage to moral principals or ecclesiastical authority, and he wished that it should go forth that these proceedings did not reflect in any way on the straightforward manner in which the draw took place, or cause any doubt in the public mind as to the payment of prizes. At the time that he organised the sweep he knew that there was some legal difficulty, or penal enactment, forbidding sweeps, but, owing to the disturbed state, the law relating to the matter was not very clear, and he had given orders at his office that tickets should not be sold. Personally, he did not sell any tickets.

Mr. Collins—Do you dispute responsibility for this act?

Canon Crowe—Yes. The young lady had no right to sell the tickets at the time, for she had instructions from me not to sell them. I had a suspicion that detectives would be going round, and do you think I would sell tickets in Ireland?

Mr. Collins—This is very important. You will have to give evidence—otherwise your statement is of no use.

Canon Crowe said that he did not wish to give evidence, but to state the fact that he gave instructions that tickets were not to be sold. Lotteries, added the Canon, were going on in Ireland since he was a boy, and no prosecution took place, and they were still carried on at bazaars. Of course, he was prepared to submit to the law.

Mr. Collins said that he should hold that the charge was proved.

Mr. Costello said that it was not suggested that Canon Crowe conducted the sweep for his own benefit.

Mr. Collins said that there was no suggestion against his character. There were extenuating circumstances in the case. Although the Lotteries Act was over 100 years old this was the first prosecution in this country. He would not convict, but would bind Canon Crowe to come up for conviction and sentence when called on, and bind him to abstain from taking part in a lottery for two years.

Canon Crowe gave the necessary undertaking, and the case ended.

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE.

Castleknock College, the Irish Medical Association, the Irish Free State Football Association, the Leinster Cricket Union, and University College Athletic Club were among the organisations represented at a conference last night in the College of Surgeons, Dublin, when a Committee was appointed to take steps to have a system of physical training and education included in the course in all schools and colleges.

The conference was called at the instance of the Co. Dublin Board of the National Athletic and Cycling Association. The chair was occupied by Mr. P. Lynch, K.C.

Captain J. S. McMahon spoke of the advantages of physical training to the youth of the country. He urged that a beginning should be made in the National schools.

Dr. Rowlette asked the Committee to make a study of the methods adopted in the Scandinavian countries and in France. He mentioned that the medical inspection of school children would soon be made compulsory, and, therefore, he thought the time opportune for the adoption of a system of physical culture. The need for it and its advantages, he said, should be impressed on the Minister for Education, and on their representatives in the Dail.

Mr. J. J. Keane, National Athletic and Cycling Association, expressed the belief that they would find the Government sympathetic and prepared to facilitate them as far as possible.

Mr. H. Wright, who has 32 years' experience of physical training in Ireland, said that good work was being done by the secondary schools, and that it was on primary schools that they would have to concentrate.

The members of the Committee are:—Captain J. S. McMahon, Mr. J. B. Richardson (who was Secretary of the Gymnastic Section Aonac Tailteann), Mr. W. W. Commiskey, Headmaster Morgan Schools, Castleknock; Mr. P. Lynch, K.C., and Miss Wilson, Headmistress Girls' High School, Wellington place.

HOUSING BILL.

PROBLEM OF RENTS AND SUB-LETTING.

PROGRESS WITH LIVE STOCK BILL.

Dail Eireann had a comparatively short sitting yesterday. The Housing Bill passed the report stage, and the Committee stage of the Live Stock Bill was completed.

President Cosgrave reported that the number of houses in course of construction under the original Act were:—53 with three rooms; 399 with four rooms, and 975 with five rooms. He expressed the view that it would not be a good plan to encourage the erection of three-roomed houses at the expense of the other classes.

PRICE OF BREAD.

The Speaker took the chair at 12.14.

Mr. John J. Cole asked the Minister for Industry and Commerce if he would state what steps, if any, he had taken to deal with the recent increase in the price of bread.

Mr. McGilligan—I have no power to deal with changes in the price of bread; but the Trade Loans (Guarantee) Act affords a means of assisting any persons who come forward with practical proposals designed to reduce the price.

Major Bryan Cooper—Arising out of that answer, does not the Minister think it would be better if he had power to check the rise in prices; and will he take steps to obtain that power?

Mr. McGilligan—That question was very fully gone into, and it was decided that the best means of bringing down prices were the provisions of Part 2 of the Trade Loans (Guarantee) Act.

Mr. J. Lyons—Will the Minister advise employers to increase wages in order to meet the unnecessary increase in the price of bread?

Mr. McGilligan—It would be impertinent for me to make any such recommendation.

The report stage of the County Courts Appeals Bill was passed without discussion.

HOUSING BILL.

The Minister for Local Government moved the report stage of the Housing (Building Facilities) (Amendment) Bill. In doing so, he informed the Dail that the numbers of houses in course of construction under the original Act were 53 three-roomed, 390 four-roomed, and 975 five-roomed.

Mr. Good said that the position as revealed by the figures was worse even than he had expected. The figures were positively alarming, as showing the encouragement given to the building of larger houses. He appealed to the President to do something to encourage the erection of more three-roomed houses, as a means of stopping the gambling in sub-letting, which was bringing about a condition of things worse than under the old régime.

President Cosgrave said that he did not think that it would be a good plan to encourage the erection of three-roomed houses in large numbers. Such would accommodate only families of all boys or of all girls. The Churches were very insistent on the four-roomed house.

The difficulty was that in the erection of new houses they were not keeping pace with the deterioration of old houses, because the number of people engaged in the building trade was gradually reducing. They were coming to a point where some quicker method of producing houses to meet not alone the increased demand, but the needs of those who had to leave other houses by reason of their deterioration, would have to be devised. He suggested that the House should pass the final stage of the bill, as the local authorities were pressing for it.

Mr. Heffernan spoke of the necessity for improved housing conditions in rural areas. He knew farmers whose families were sleeping in barns because they had no accommodation in their houses.

Mr. Hughes said that people who could afford to build a house at all were not the class of people who would build a three-roomed house. He thought that a three-roomed house would not be a good thing for the future of the country. The least that they should give a family was a four-roomed house.

Mr. Baxter said that the rural districts did not get sufficient consideration. Housing conditions in many parts of the country were as bad as they were in the towns and cities.

Mr. Corish said that portions of some houses were sublet at twice or three times the rents of the whole house. He thought that the Government should take effective steps to cope with that.

Mr. Hogan (Clare) said that there was mental and physical deterioration in the country owing to the lack of proper housing accommodation.

Mr. Burke, Minister for Local Government, said that the position in the rural areas was not so serious as in the towns, where it was difficult to find sites. Under that bill farmers had facilities provided to the extent of 60 per cent. for housing.

Replying to Mr. John Good, President Cosgrave said that the Act was not applicable to houses of more than 1,000 square feet, unless building had been started before the passing of the Act, and the area was not more than 1,400 feet.

The report stage was agreed to, and the final stage was fixed for next Tuesday.

LIVE STOCK BILL.

The Committee Stage of the Live Stock Breeding Bill was resumed.

Mr. Heffernan proposed an amendment to the effect that the Ministry should not have power to destroy a pedigree bull used extensively in the owner's herd simply because the animal was not sufficiently prolific.

Mr. Hogan, Minister for Lands, agreed to delete the section, and the amendment was withdrawn.

Mr. Duggan moved the insertion of a new sub-section before sub-section 2, that in the case of a pure-bred bull, the property of one person, and used exclusively by him, the Minister shall not refuse to grant a licence solely because a bull is unsuited to the district.

Mr. Heffernan said that owners of herds should be at liberty to introduce a half-bred bull for their own exclusive use in counties where such bulls were not in accordance with the general type of cattle in the district.

Mr. Hogan said that the intention of the section was to give power to prevent Aberdeen-Angus or Dairy Shorthorn bulls from standing in Co. Kerry.

Mr. Baxter said that no farmer should be prevented from using a half-bred bull for his own exclusive use.

Mr. Hogan said that the Minister may refuse to grant a licence in the case of a bull unsuited to the district. They claimed with the section to have the power to prevent a man from bringing a Shorthorn or an Aberdeen-Angus bull into Kerry.

The sub-section was adopted by 30 to 8.

Progress on the bill was then reported.

OLD AGE PENSIONS.

The debate on Deputy McKenna's old age pension motion was resumed. The motion was that a special committee of the House be appointed to enquire into the system under which the Old Age Pensions Act, 1924, is being administered in the Saorstat.

Mr. Baxter said that in the country there was a general feeling that the administration of the Act was far from satisfactory. It was believed that no attention was paid to the decisions of the local Pensions Committee. No good could come from setting up a committee to consider the present system unless its administration were also considered.

Mr. White (Farmers) said that frequently the pensions officers were rigorous and unreasonable in their views. He mentioned that it was unreasonable for a pensions officer to take into consideration the value of a stack of turf in an old age pensioner's yard that had been put there by the labour of his family. Some reasonable machinery should be set up for establishing the age of an applicant for a pension.

Mr. Daly said that he was satisfied with the sympathetic manner in which the Minister of Finance had promised to review the way in which old age pensions were granted up to the present.

Mr. P. W. Shaw supported the setting up of a committee.

Mr. W. Hewat said that if the Old Age Pensions Act was administered so that every one who got it was a genuine case it would make matters very simple, and a greater latitude could be given. But it was impossible to do that, because local committees and local individuals had got a bias for getting something out of a central fund that was not paid for locally.

Mr. Blythe said that it was the duty of the Dail to see that officials did their duty properly. If they did not do their duty properly they should be removed.

Mr. Wolfe said that he sympathised with the motion, and he hoped that something would be done to make the working of the Act more reasonable and simple.

Mr. McKenna said that he was quite satisfied with the proposal of the Minister. He was glad that it would not be necessary to divide on the matter.

The motion was, by leave, withdrawn.

COMPENSATION.

Mr. Hogan (Clare), on the motion for the adjournment, drew attention to the way in which claims for compensation for personal injuries had been turned down by the Ministry of Finance. Men and women who had taken part in the Anglo-Irish war, and suffered severely, had received no compensation. Was there no clause of honour and justice in regard to those people in the Treaty?

Mr. Conor Hogan (Farmers) supported the motion, and declared that some of the amounts awarded were inadequate.

Several other deputies described cases in which they said that the amounts paid were insufficient.

The Minister for Finance read out the terms of reference to the Committee which was appointed to examine and make recommendations on all claims. So far the Committee had received 6,400 claims; they had considered 4,000; awards had been made on 1,174, and the amounts awarded had been paid in 950 cases, while a couple of hundred more were ready for payment. The total amount already paid was £277,283—an average of £236 per award.

He himself, when they were brought to his notice, had sent quite a considerable number of cases back to the Committee for reconsideration. He had looked into several of those cases, and his examination of the papers had satisfied him that the decisions of the Committee were right.

A difficulty that had to be met was the frequent misrepresentation of cases to deputies. He knew of one such case in which the form of application purported to be signed by a girl more than twelve months after her death. They had to deal with an enormous number of frivolous and exaggerated claims, for cupidity was always aroused when money was to be had.

In case of death, the attitude taken up by the Committee was that pecuniary loss would have to be proved before compensation could be awarded. They could only attempt to relieve actual hardship resulting from death. There was a difficulty about making payments to people who lived in the Six County area, and those, he thought, could be made only on a special vote brought before the Dail. He was always prepared, on satisfactory representation, to send any cases back to the Committee and, besides that, he was prepared in a reasonable number of cases to go over the papers and the evidence himself. He never refused a recommendation by a Committee.

GALWAY SHOOTING CASE.

WOUNDED MAN IN HOSPITAL.

E. P. Greene (65) is in custody in Galway and Michael Lydon, Carna, lies wounded in hospital, as a result of a shooting affair.

From the evidence given at a preliminary inquiry before Mr. Moylett, at Carna, it would appear that Lydon was going home with three friends when the accused, it is alleged, rushed out of his house with a shotgun, scanned the faces of the boys, and, when he came to Lydon, raised the gun and pulled the trigger. Lydon fell and his friends and the assailant ran away. After a time he made his way back to his father's house. It was found that the pellets had lodged in the left thigh.

Greene was remanded in custody to the next Carna District Court.

BELFAST MAN AWARDED DAMAGES.

Judge Thompson, sitting in the Belfast Recorder's Court yesterday, delivered judgment in a case in which James Doherty, an ex-Service man, sued Detective David Baird, Mountpottinger Barracks, for £20 damages for having searched his house without a warrant, and also for having illegally arrested him and detained him for an unreasonable time in Ballyhackamore Barracks.

His Honour held that for the arrest Doherty was not entitled to damages, but for the search of the house he was entitled to £5 damages, and he awarded him that sum.

SENTENCES AT KILKENNY COURT.

At the Kilkenny Circuit Court yesterday, before Judge Sealy, James Murphy, who was convicted of a criminal assault on a girl aged four and a half years, was sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment. Peter Maher, for a criminal assault on a girl at Kilfane, was ordered three years' penal servitude.

HOME-CONSTRUCTED WIRELESS.

A ONE-STAGE AMPLIFIER

PART II.

[Preliminary instructions in the construction of a one-valve low-frequency amplifier appeared in last Saturday's Irish Times.]

The wiring is most conveniently carried out in two stages; first the baseboard, and then by fixing the panel on the front edge, and making the connections between the two.

Clean the ends of all points numbered in the accompanying diagram. Apply a little soldering flux to each and "tin" with the hot iron. The wiring is carried out in either round or square wire, not thinner than 18 S.W.G. Before bending to shape the wire must be stretched to give it stiffness, and to remove all "kinks." Fit each wire to its terminals, keeping a space of at least half an inch between parallel or crossing wires, and making right-angled bends only.

The connections are made in the following order:—3 to 13; 4 to 7 (o.s.); 8 to 10. Screw the panel to the baseboard and wire as follows:—16 to 12; 17 to 2; 11 to 14; 15 to 1; 19 to 5; 18 to 6. The two last connections are not to be soldered at points 5 and 6 until the amplifier has been tested. At point 9 solder a piece of flex to the other end of which a valve pin is fitted. The flex must be long enough for the slot in the pin to be slipped on either strip 20 or 21 of the grid bias battery.

The amplifier is now ready for testing. It is assumed that it will be used with the three valve set previously described, but it may be added to any receiver of the "straight" type.

In regard to the valve to be used, it is a matter of difficulty to obtain a combination of strength and purity with general purposes ones. It is possible to obtain excellent power valves which cost little and do not take much current, and by adjusting the values of the different batteries employed, powerful signals can be obtained without distortion. The valve used by the writer in this amplifier was an L.S. 5, and better results it would be very hard to get. In any case, even with an ordinary valve, grid bias and provision for a hundred to a hundred and twenty volts high tension must be made if the best results are to be obtained.

Connect as follows:—Join the input terminals to the telephone terminals of the receiver, also the L.T. positive and negative terminals. The H.T. positive terminal is tapped into the battery at about 70 volts, and the bias tap (No. 9) to connection 10. Insert the valve and head phones, and "tune in" to a signal. Try reversing the leads to Nos. 5 and 6; solder these wires in whichever position gives the best reception.

Detune the set slightly until signals are below comfortable strength. Move the bias clip to point 20, increase the H.T. value and adjust the filament current until signals are at their best. Then move to point 21, and repeat the above operation. Finally, set the bias clip at the point which gives the strongest signals and the H.T. plug in the best socket.

For general operation, it will be better to connect the head phones across the input terminals, as signals will be too loud in the other position to be tuned to their best point. The phones may be left permanently in this position, without loss of strength in the loud speaker.

The construction of the three-valve receiver with which this amplifier can be used was detailed in the Irish Times of September 6, 13, 27, October 4, 11 and 18. Back numbers can be obtained at the Dublin and branch offices.

NORTHERN LICENSING ACT.

TRADERS AND STRUCTURAL ALTERATIONS.

At the monthly meeting in Belfast of the Board of Management of the Ulster Vintners' Association letters were read from traders in the country regarding structural alterations which were rendered necessary by the Licensing Act. In some cases complaint was made of the aggressive way in which the police were said to be ordering separations and structures which might not be thought necessary by the tribunal appointed by the Act to control such matters.

The Secretary reported that arrangements had been made to interview the Home Minister, Sir Dawson Bates, at an early date, when this question would be fully gone into.

Reference was made to the need for funds to ensure that the contests in the Ulster general election are properly watched, and it was arranged to hold a general meeting at an early date.

THEFT OF PORT WINE.

YOUNG WOMAN'S WILD OUTBURST.

At the Dundalk District Court yesterday, District Justice Goff sentenced Rose Sullivan (18) to six months' imprisonment, with hard labour, on a charge of burglariously entering the premises of John McShane, publican, Bridge street, Dundalk, and stealing three bottles of port wine and damaging a window value £1.

The evidence showed that the defendant was seen at midnight with her hand through the window. She ran away, and two bottles of port were found on the steps of a corner house; another was found broken.

On hearing the sentence the defendant exclaimed—"I wish there was a republic. If there was a republic I would not get one hour in prison. I stand by de Valera and his men."

She resisted violently while being removed from court and continued to shout for the republic.

He missed his Wafer Oats

No, he is not the villain in the movies!

He has been feeling disgruntled all day—all week! He doesn't know why, exactly.

He has no energy for effort. He does not experience in his veins the agreeable tingle of warmth and vigour which betoken proper bodily nutrition and perfect health. He feels he somehow is not a success. He has no desire to break away on original lines of thought or action.

The explanation is simple. The fact is, the brain and muscle tissues burnt up in previous efforts have not been replaced. He has for the moment come to the end of his resources of strength and energy. The reserves have been used up. He has not restored them with proper food.

He has missed his

WHITE'S WAFER OATS

It speedily replaces used-up tissue. It gives strength to the body and vigour to the mind. It is based on sound physiological principles.

It imparts energy through proper nutrition.

In 90 minutes the wonderful vigour in a plateful of the delicious WAFER OATS is completely absorbed by the body. The "fires burn more brightly," and under its regular use the man who has been feeling "down and out," simply because his store of energy was used up, finds his pleasure in effort restored.

FIRE ON A LINER.

After two days' strenuous work the fire which broke out in bunkers amidships on the Australian liner Port Albany, at Hull, was extinguished yesterday. The services of the city fire brigade were requisitioned on Thursday night to deal with the outbreak, which had not been effectively checked, notwithstanding that a considerable quantity of water had been poured into the bunkers. Firemen remained by the liner all night. The Port Albany was to have sailed for London last Wednesday night.

STORE CATTLE SALES.

MESSRS. GAVIN LOW, LTD.

There was a nice selection of handy-weighted cattle shown at Thursday's sale, including some very excellent A.A. and Hereford crosses, among which Sir Nugent T. Everard's beautiful yearling Hereford cross heifers made 47/- to 52/- per cwt.; Mr Matthew King's very high quality blues and blacks, running from 47/- to 55/- per cwt., made the highest price of the day; Mr. John V. Smith's, Mr. O'Grady Young's, and Mr. William Fahey's fine A.A. bullocks made £20 5/-, £20, and £17 10/- respectively. Horned and polly bullocks and heifers showed no change in value from last week. There was a good attendance of both home and cross-Channel buyers, and an early and satisfactory clearance was made of a big catalogue.

MESSRS. GANLY, SONS AND CO.

Very fine selection of nice quality cattle. Sale well patronised by both home and cross-Channel buyers. Demand good; business very steady. Amongst the 2- and 3-year-old bullocks were useful lots at £23 15/-, £25 10/-, £23, £22 10/-, £22 5/-, £22, £21 5/-, £21, £20 15/-, £20 10/-, £20, £19 15/-, £19 10/-, £19 5/-, £19, etc. Heifers made up to £21 10/-. Nice quality young cattle were also in good request. The top price per cwt. (51/-) was obtained for three choice pens of Aberdeen-Angus polly bullocks, the property of the Right Hon. Lord Crofton.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND NOTES.

IRISH STOCK EXCHANGES.

DUBLIN.

REALISATION SALES WELL ABSORBED. BANK STOCK LOWER. BURKE ORDINARY STRONG.

The week-end market on 'Change was affected by realisation pressure, but in most cases lots offered were well absorbed, and buyers appeared satisfied to get in at the earlier concessions. Government National Loan opened easier, but closed firmer than the initial figure. British Funds were much busier and closed firm. Among Banking securities, Bank Stock gave way, but Royals were in request, and recovered. Guinness issues also were rather affected by a preponderance of slight selling pressure, with buyers busy for the Ord. at the relapse. Marconi Ord. were offered on London account. Home Railways were quiet all day, with a few dull points among Pre.-Ord. issues. Dublin Trams were on offer to a limited extent. Dunlop Rubber Ord. were weaker, but closed slightly over lowest. Parent Tyre Ord. were lower, and the Def. turned sellers, while the Pref. improved to 15s. buyers. Alliance Gas were dull. Textiles opened mostly at a decline on selling pressure, but prices closed well over initial prices. Lever Brothers Pref. issues were maintained practically without change. Burke Ord. were bid up further, but the Debs. were on sale.

Government National Sterling Loan opened ⅛ lower at 92⅛, but later 92¼ was paid.

British Funds were busy. War Loan 5 p.c. Stock rose ⅛ to 101⅛, Funding Loan ¼ to 91, Irish Land 2¾ p.c. ⅛ to 60¾, and India 3 p.c. ¼ to 59; but Irish Land 3 p.c. eased ⅛ to 66⅛, while Consols repeated 58⅜, and Victory Bonds 93½.

In Banks, Bank Stock fell 1½ to 271, but Royals rose ½ to 14 for an exceptional lot, while Hibernians at 7½, and Nationals at 20½ show no change.

Among Breweries and Distilleries, Guinness Ord. fell ⅛ to 49¼, after opening at 49⅜ and the Pref. ⅛ to 11⅞. J. Power and Son Pref. fell 1½d. to 19s. 3d.

Marconi Ord. fell 9d. to 37s. sellers, and Radio Pref. realised par or 10.

Home Railways were mostly quiet. Great Northern Ord. rose ½ to 57, and the Pref. 57½. Great Southern Ord. repeated 40, but the Debs. fell ½ to 68, and Midland Great Western 5 p.c. Pref. 1 to 62, while the 4 p.c. Pref. of the latter repeated 49. South Clare Baronial Shares also repeated 53s.

In Trams, Dublin United Ord. repeated 6¼, but the Pref. fell ⅛ to 9⅛.

Dunlop Rubber Ord. opened a further 4½d. lower at 10s. 3d., but at the later market 10s. 4½d. was paid. Parent Tyre Pref. rose 4½d. to 15s. buyers; but the Ord. fell 9d. to 22s. 6d., while the Def. repeated 44s. 3d., with a seller declaring after hours at 44s.

In Drapery Shares, Walpole Bros. Pref. repeated 75s., and Crowe Wilson Pref. 15s.

Manufacturing Shares opened lower, but closed often at a rally. Coats were sold down 6d. to 63s. 6d.-63s. 4½d., but later business was effected at 63s. 6d., 63s. 7½d., 63s. 9d. Bradford Dyers fell 4½d. to 85s. Bleachers rose 6d. to 62s. 3d. Cottons opened 9d. weaker at 59s. 9d., but later recovered to 60s. 6d. Spinners rose 1½d. to 56s. 4½d. British-American Tobacco fell 1s. 9d. to 111s., but rallied to 111s. 9d. Imperials gave way 9d. to 84s. 6d. Lever Brothers 7 p.c. rose 1½d. to 21s. 1½d., but later realised again 21s. The 8 p.c. Pref. shows no change at 21s. 3d. Courtaulds fell 7½d. to 58s. 7½d., but rebounded later to 59s. 3d. again. The Pref. rose 1½d. to 19s.

In Trading, etc., Burke Ord. rose 1s. to 85s., but the Debs. closed nominally ¼ lower at 8½ ⅞. Hibernian Fire repeated 5s.

LONDON STOCKS QUIET

MORE PROFIT-TAKING IN EVIDENCE.

The London Stock markets were extremely quiet yesterday, there being further profit-taking. The undertone, however, was quite firm. Dealings commenced at about the same level as the previous close, but gradually drooped; a late recovery, however, brightened things up, and final prices, although lower in many instances, were on the up grade. British Funds opened in dull fashion, but a recovery set in late in the day. Prices, however, finished lower where any change was marked. Colonial Government stocks were quiet, and without alteration on the day. Among Scrips, German 7 p.c. moved up, the final figure being a fraction under 6 prem. Queensland 5 p.c. were marked at 21⅛, or 3⅛ prem., while South Africa 5 p.c. closed about ⅞ prem. Home Rails opened in an indifferent manner, and prices fell away slightly. A late rally, however, generally pushed prices up to the overnight level, at which, with a few exceptions, they finished. Among Breweries, Guinness Ord. at 495 were 5 points to the good, while the Pref. at 117½ were unchanged. Harland and Wolff were quoted at 18s. 1½d. Among Tobaccos, British American closed 1s. higher, while Imperials shed 3d. to 84s. 9d. Wallpaper Defd. closed substantially higher on the dividend announcement. The final quotation was 23s. 6d., a rise of 2s. 3d. In Gilt-edged securities, British Funds were lower where any alteration was marked.

FOREIGN BONDS DULL.

Foreign Government securities were dull and lower on balance. French Fives rose ½ to 22, while the Fours were unchanged on the day. Uruguay 3½ p.c. at 59½ x.d. were also ½ to the good. Chinese were weaker. The 5 p.c. 1896 dropped a point to 93, while the 4½ 1898 were a similar amount lower at 80. The 5 p.c. 1912 were repeated at 69. Among Brazilians, the 4 p.c. 1889 at 42 were a point down, while others remained at overnight quotations. Peruvian Ord. repeated 4, while the Debs. were also unchanged at 97. The Prefs., on the other hand, finished ½ lower at 35.

BRITISH RAILS QUIET.

Dealings opened at a slightly lower level than the previous close, and dropped further. At the close, however, overnight quotations were generally repeated. Great Westerns at 111 and Midlands at 103½ were both unchanged, while North-Easterns also showed no change on the day. Metropolitans finished ½ lower at 76½, but Districts at 84 were ½ to the good. The A shares at 41 were ½ lower on the day. Undergrounds were steady and unchanged.

RUBBER SHARES LOWER.

A fair amount of business was transacted in the Rubber Share market yesterday. Profit-taking was again in progress, with the consequence that final prices were distinctly lower on the day. A long list of alterations was recorded at the finish, and while a few issues were slightly higher than the overnight level, by far the greater number were marked down. Business commenced in the new shares of Malayalam. Opening at about 5s. premium they rose at one time to 6s., but later dropped back and finished at 5s. 3d. premium. Lanadron dropped back and finished 1s. 4½d. down at 23s., while Rubber Estates of Johore at 22s. 3d., Sungei Choh at 20s. 3d., and Un Sua Betong at 71s. 3d., were all 1s. 3d. lower. Manchester North Borneo finished 1s. 1½d. below the previous closing quotation at 25s. 6d., while Glenshiel shed 1s. to 14s. 6d. Sapong and Sapumalukande were both 1s. lower at 39s. and 21s. 6d. respectively, while Sialang at 37s. 3d., and Straits Rubber at 21s. were both 9d. lower. Anglo-Malay shed 6d. to 25s., while Bah Lias at 35s. 9d., and B.N.B.R. Trust at 12s. 9d. also finished the day 6d. down. Kapar Para, on the other hand, improved, and at the close marked an increase of 1s. 4½d. to 42s. Golden Hope put on 10½d. to 24s., while General Ceylon at 41s. 3d. was 9d. higher. Selaba finished 10½d. to the good at 27s. 4½d., while Pilmoor at 19s., and Tamiang at 31s. 6d. were both 6d. better. Tali Ayer rose 4½d. to 22s. 10½d. The price of rubber fell to 17½d. per lb.

OIL SHARES IMPROVED.

Although an unpromising start was made yesterday in the Oil share market, business during the early hours being on an extremely small scale, a distinct improvement became noticeable in the afternoon, both in the volume of transactions and in the tendency, and at the close price movements favoured holders in the majority of cases. The change of sentiment in the afternoon was attributable to a rumour of an advance in crude oil prices in America. A rumour of this character, whether relating to an improvement or decline, is quickly reflected in prices. At the time of writing no confirmation had come to hand of the rumour of an increase in crude oil prices. At the close of business higher prices were general among the recognised leaders. Shells, in the absence of demand during the early hours, coupled with a moderate amount of offering, had a rather heavy appearance, and the quotation declined, but an appreciable rally occurred in the afternoon, with the result that a gain was finally recorded. Royal Dutch also had a dull appearance in the morning, but finished at an advance. Renewed talk of the possibility of a merger of the Burmah and Royal Dutch-Shell interests, which is contingent on the British Government being willing to sell its interest in the Anglo-Persian Oil Co. to the Burmah Oil Co., was responsible for a demand for Anglo-Persian shares. Burmahs also strengthened. A fair amount of business was done in Mexican Eagles, which, although they gave way at one time, finished with a steady appearance. Among Venezuelans, the British Controlled issues received the bulk of attention, the shares changing hands freely and finishing substantially higher.

TEA SHARES IMPROVE.

A slightly better business was transacted in the Tea Share market yesterday, while a tendency to broaden business was noticeable. Most of the recognised leaders were in request and prices moved steadily up. A long list of alterations was recorded at the finish, and while a few issues closed the turn lower, the majority were distinctly higher. Amalgamated Estates were a dull spot.

INDUSTRIALS STRONGER.

After a rather uncertain opening, with further profit-taking in progress during the earlier hours, Miscellaneous and Industrial markets developed a firmer tone during the afternoon, and business showed signs of increasing, with the result that most departments finished the week with a fresh display of strength. Following the very satisfactory results of the past year's trading, Wall Paper Def. Shares received considerable attention, and left off 1s. 6d. better at 24s. Textiles met with support, and closed higher in many cases. Dyestuffs stood out prominently, with a gain of 1s. at 6s. 6d., while Calico Printers put on 6d. to 38s., and a similar gain was seen in Fine Cotton Spinners to 56s. 9d. Listers came into demand and rose 6d. to 31s., Courtaulds recovered to 59s., and Celanese Ord. to 8s. 6d., the heavy liquidation, which had been noticeable in the last-named shares, having ceased. Amalgamated Cottons strengthened to 12s. 6d., and slight improvements occurred in Bleachers to 62s. 9d., and in Bradford Dyers to 85s. 6d. Except for South Africans, which receded to 1⅞, firmness characterised Breweries. Ashby's put on 1s. to 15½, and Allsopp Prefs. ½ to 94½. Buchanan-Dewars and J. Walkers, both rose 1s. to 56s. 6d. and 57s. 6d., respectively, while Hoare Ord. gained 9d. at 47s. Rises of ⅛ occurred in Bass to 2⅜, and in Ind Coopes to 2⅛. Renewed strength was exhibited by Coffee Shares.

On the news of the bonus issue National Discount "A" and "B" Shares were wanted, the former rising ⅜ to 5, while the latter rose ½ to 9½. Elsewhere in the Banking list gains of ⅛ occurred in Union Discounts to 17½, in Chartered of Indias to 20⅝, and in National of Egypts to 25⅞. Agricultural of Egypts hardened to 7⅛, while National Provincial £4 closed fractionally higher at 11⅛. Barclays "A" and "B" stiffened to 8½ and 55s. 3d. respectively. Among Insurances, Royal Exchange went ahead to 610, or 5 higher, while Eagle Stars rose to 9. Royals, however, weakened to 30⅝ ex-div. Apart from Marines, which eased to 1⅛, the Marconi group developed firmness, the Ord. hardening to 1⅞, the Prefs. rising ⅛ to 1⅜, and Canadians 3d. to 8s. 6d. A feature of the Tobacco group was a recovery in B.A.T. to 112s., or 1s. better. Imperials held their ground at 84s. 6d. R. and J. Hills continued in request, and closed 1s. 3d. to the good at 32s. 3d., though Albert Bakers eased to that level, and Godfrey Phillips to 1½. Iron and Steels, while not quite so active, generally kept firm. Shipping Shares were quieter, though Prince Lines were favoured, and rose ½ to 1⅜. For some time past there has been a persistent demand for British Ropes, the shares having steadily risen, and yesterday they finished another 3d. better at 24s.

THE MONEY MARKET.

TREASURY BILLS DEARER.

FRENCH FRANCS IMPROVE.

As anticipated, the Treasury bills tendered for yesterday were allotted at a higher average than last week, the preliminary figures indicating a rate of just under 3⅜ p.c. The amount offered was £35,000,000, and tenders for bills dated Monday to Friday at £99 1s. 3d. receive 60 p.c., and above in full. Tenders for Saturday bills at £99 1s. 6d. and above receive in full. Some more Treasury bonds were sold at £94 10s. p.c. As usual at the week-end, funds were in more plentiful supply, and borrowers were offered accommodation over the night at 3 down to 2½ p.c., old loans being renewed at 2¾ p.c. The latter was also the charge for continuing weekly fixtures. There was very little doing in discounts, and rates firmed up in the afternoon on the result of the Treasury bill tendering. Fine three months' bills, after opening at 3⁵⁄₁₆ p.c., were more inclined towards 3⅜ p.c. in the afternoon, sixty-day paper being 3⁵⁄₁₆ to 3⅜ p.c. The "hot" Treasuries were offered in the market at 3⅜ p.c.

Gold was 1d. per oz. higher at 90s. 10d. Bar silver further declined ⅛d. per oz. for both spot and forward delivery to 34⅛d. and 34⅛d. respectively in the absence of support.

In the Foreign Exchange market yesterday sterling opened lower at $4.56¼, but subsequently rallied to $4.56⅜-$4.56⅝. A welcome improvement occurred in French francs to 87.03-87.08, Belgian francs also participating at 94.97-95.02. The following are closing quotations:—

LONDON MINING MARKET IRREGULAR.

DULL OPENING FOLLOWED BY FIRM CLOSE.

At the opening of the House yesterday rather a quiet tone was noticeable in most departments, the approach of the week-end, no doubt, tending to check both public and professional operations. In the Mining market, Kaffirs were distinctly on the dull side, and as Johannesburg cabled lower prices for some of its specialties, quotations were inclined to ease. Nevertheless, the good return and the improved goldfields dividend prevented real sales, and when it became apparent that the shares offered by professionals were being readily taken, the tendency underwent a change. Advices from Paris were not particularly encouraging, but that centre was still doing very little. Brakpan, Modderfontein, and several other Far Easterns were in demand, and features were provided by T.C.L. and Transvaal Developments, both of which were in strong request on home and Cape account. Van Ryn Deep were also prominent, and Johnnies went ahead, but Randfontein were easier. Among the lower-priced descriptions, Consolidated Main Reef and West Rand Consolidated moved up, and Sheba were still being nibbled at. In the Rhodesian department, Chartered continued to attract a good deal of attention, and again improved. Selukwe came to the front, on rumours of favourable developments on the B.C. silver property. Tanks and Zambs were a harder market, but Cam and Motor were idle, and other shares were content to maintain former levels. After early dulness, De Beers rallied, and Consolidated Diamonds and Angolas were both in request on dividend anticipations. The price of Tin rose £1 to £257 17s. 6d. per ton, but the share market was rather subdued. Naraguta among Nigerians jumped smartly. Coppers were dullish. Closing prices:—

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

BURMA CORPORATION LEAD PRODUCTION.

The October lead production of the Burma Corporation, amounting to 4,500 tons of refined metal, constitutes, we believe, a record, says the Evening Standard. The daily production of ore would also appear to be above the average, some 23,000 tons being dealt with, whereas the plant has a capacity of 700 tons. Ultimately 1,000 tons a day will be handled. In addition, the Corporation produced the record quantity of 465,000 ounces of silver, besides copper, zinc and antimonial lead in considerable quantities. These figures clearly show progress on a large scale during a period when the metal market is strong, and consideration of this position with the financial position likely to be disclosed in the impending annual report should leave little doubt as to the Corporation's strong position and its ability to expand.

SALE OF EDINBURGH STOCK.

The Treasurer's Committee of Edinburgh Town Council yesterday agreed to accept the offer of a London firm to purchase the whole block of £500,000 4½ per cent. Corporation Stock at a price which they considered very satisfactory.

PRODUCE AND FOOD.

CATTLE.

BIRKENHEAD, Friday.—There was a larger supply of cattle on sale to-day. A steady demand prevailed for best finished cattle, but secondary sorts were a very slow trade. Prices ranged from 5½d. to 9½d., according to quality; cows and bulls 5½d. to 7½d. A fair demand for best quality lambs at 1/3 per lb., but secondary sorts met a very poor trade, at 1/3 per lb., sinking the offal. On offer—2,877 cattle, and 2,173 sheep and lambs.

HAY SPICE—One cwt. sufficient for 20 tons. Agent, W. Rourke, 36 North Circular road, Dublin. —(Advt.)

GRAIN.

DUBLIN CORN EXCHANGE, Friday.—Very poor attendance of buyers here to-day, and prices of oats and barley show a reduction from last day, even the choice samples were not bought in any large quantities. In fact, the only enquiry seemed to be for wheat, which only held last day's price. The bulk of business would be in or around the following:—White oats 17/- to 19/- and 19/6, black 15/- to 16/- and 17/6; barley 24/- to 27/-, pet samples 30/-, and wheat 33/- to 37/-, choice 39/-.

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES—BALTIC, Friday.—WHEAT cargo market displayed firm features in view of stimulating American advices, and sellers required 6d. to 1/- per qr. advance. No. 1 Northern Manitoba Nov. sellers 66/6, No. 2 hard winter afloat 59/6, white Pacific November 61/-, Australian January 63/3. Parcels quiet Rosafe (63½lbs.) January-February 63/-. Parcels quiet for North American grades and about 1/- per qr. dearer. No. 1 Northern Manitoba October-November sold 64/9. December-January 65/6 to 65/9, No. 2 hard winter November 59/-, Australian afloat 62/6. Rosafe (63½lbs.) January-February 62/9 per 480lbs. MAIZE quiet at about late rates. Steamers of La Plata afloat sellers 43/6 to 44/-. November-December 45/6, December-January 47/-. Parcels of ditto October-November 43/9, November-December 44/6, and December-January sold 46/- per 480lbs. BARLEY dull and quotations largely nominal. OATS inactive; Plata f.a.q. afloat 28/6, November 28/-, January-February 25/9, Chilean November 28/6 per 320lbs.

MARK LANE, Friday.—Business made quiet progress at the week-end market, only a small number of buyers being present. Prices ruled firmer for breadstuffs, but feeders quiet and occasionally the turn lower. WHEAT firmer; English quoted 11/10 to 12/8 per 112lbs. f.o.r. Of imported, No. 1 Northern Manitoba quoted 67/9, No. 2 hard winter 63/-, No. 1 Northern Duluth 63/-, choice white Karachi 63/-, all ex ship per 496lbs. FLOUR firm but quiet; London standard straight run quoted 49/-, patents 51/- to 52/-. Town white 49/- per sack, delivered in Metropolitan area. Of imported, Manitoba patents quoted 49/- to 51/6, as to quality; Minnesota 49/- to 50/-, Australian 46/6 to 47/-, all per 280lbs. ex store. BARLEY dull and again easier; English quoted 18/- to 22/3 per 112lbs. f.o.r. as to quality; Californian 70/- to 72/-, Chilean Chevalier 60/- to 63/-, Polish 60/- to 65/-, ex store per 448lbs.; No. 4 Canadian Western ex ship 39/-, landed 40/6, Danubian ex ship 39/-, American malting 38lbs. ex ship 39/-, and Persian ditto 39/- per 400lbs. MAIZE quiet and easier; Plate ex ship 44/6, landed 46/-; Bessarabian 47/-, Odessa 40/-, both landed per 480lbs. OATS quietly steady; Plate ex ship quoted 29/3, landed 32/3; No. 2 Canadian Western ex ship 33/6, landed 35/-; white clipped American 38lbs. landed 32/- per 320lbs. English quoted 9/8 to 10/9 per 112lbs. f.o.r. OATMEAL in better request; London-made flaked 20/-, rolled oats 19/6, medium, also fine cut 19/6, coarse and medium pinhead 19/6, ordinary Scottish oatmeal 21/-. American and Canadian rolled oats 20/- per cwt. MILLERS' OFFALS quiet; broad bran quoted 9/3, middlings 10/3, fine ditto 13/3, bags included, ex mill; light oats 9/3, powdered oat husks 9/9, feed oatmeal 12/9, ground oats 14/9, all per cwt f.o.r.

LIVERPOOL, Friday.—Following the sharp rise in Winnipeg and Chicago, forward deliveries of WHEAT here showed a considerable advance during early trading, then prices receded somewhat, but again moved upward on decreased estimate of Argentine crop and unfavourable weather in Australia, and after fair fluctuations finished almost at best and marked a heavy gain on the day. C.i.f. parcels No. 1 Manitoba arrived sold at 63/6, Oct.-Nov. 64/3, Dec.-Jan. 65/4½; No. 2 hard winter afloat 58/9, Nov. 58/9 to 59/-, Dec. 59/6 to 60/-; No. 1 Duluth Dec. 59/6 to 59/9, Rosario-Santa Fe Nov. 61/6, choice white Karachi afloat 61/6, Australian arrived 61/9, Dec.-Jan. 62/6 and shipping (bass) 62/6 to 63/- per qr. C.i.f. parcels River Plate, MAIZE Nov.-Dec. sold at 44/9 to 45/- and Dec.-Jan. 46/- to 46/6 per qr. Wheat on the spot was firm and prices considerably over Tuesday. Maize spot parcels in moderate demand at 9/6 to 9/8 for yellow River Plate, 10/2 to 10/3 for white, and 10/3 to 10/4 per cental for Russian. FLOUR quiet at about late rates. Graded wheat futures opened 1d. to 1½d. per cental dearer, gained a further 1d., then lost ½d., but again moved upwards on good buying, and after fair fluctuations closed firm at almost best point, or 2½d. to 3½d. per cental over last night. Sales, 250 loads. Maize options closed firm at 1d. to 1½d. advance. Values—Nov. nominal, Dec. 9/7½ and Jan. 9/9½ per cental.

WAKEFIELD, Friday.—Good supply of grain, but slow demand. English wheat declined 6d. per cwt. Choice barleys maintain late rates, medium 1/- per quarter easier, common difficult to sell. Oats slower, at decreased prices. Beans and maize easier.

DERBY, Friday.—Apart from wheat, which remained unchanged, price were generally easier. Oats changing hands at 30/-. Barley fluctuated considerably.

PROVISIONS.

[illegible] nish 216/- to 218/-, Irish creameries 210/-, and Canadian 200/- per cwt. The Danish official butter quotation came 40 kroner lower. BACON in quieter demand and generally easier, Danish and Swedish receding 4/-, Dutch 8/-, whilst Irish was 8/- to 10/- lower. LARD in less demand and weaker, with English refined quoted 88/- per cwt. CHEESE in fair request at steady prices. EGGS in improved demand; Irish quoted 25/- to 26/-, Danish 27/6 to 29/6 per 120.

DUBLIN FRUIT AND VEGETABLE, Friday.—About an average supply of vegetables offering for this market, and business was good, at prices as follow:—York cabbage 30/- to 70/- per load, 4/6 per bag; Savoy cabbage 37/- to 40/- per load, spinach 8d., Swede turnips 2/6 to 2/8 per cwt., sprouts 2/- to 3/6 per float, celery 2/- to 5/- per bundle, tomatoes 4d. to 7d. per lb., cauliflowers 1/10 to 2/8 and 3/6 per dozen, carrots 1/6 to 2/3, 2/6 and 3/- per bundle, white turnips 4d. to 6d. and 8d. per bunch, beet 8d. to 1/6 and 2/- per dozen, thyme 4d. to 6d. and 2/- per dozen, parsley 1/- to 1/8 per tray, leeks 10d. to 2/- and 2/6, artichokes 3/9, sage 1/- per dozen, parsnips 2/9 per bag, apples on this market made 14/6 per barrel, 7/- per box, 1/6 to 3/- per tray. Supplies of foreign fruit good, and demand dull. Grapes—English Colmans 3/-, Alicante 2/- to 2/3, Guernsey 1/6 to 2/6, green 17/- to 28/- per barrel; apples—Yorks 30/- per barrel, Kings 33/-, box 16/- to 18/-; Newtons 13/- to 14/-, Oregon Newtons 16/-; pears 36/- per case, Belgian 4/- to 6/-, Kieffer 30/- to 36/- per barrel; lemons 12/- per box Palermo, 24/- per case; bananas 26/- to 30/- per crate; dates, O.K. 9/6, Sair 15/-; onions 14/- 4's and 5's, 6's 13/-, bags 8/6.

DUBLIN POTATO, Friday.—Very limited quantities of potatoes on market, but still sufficient to meet the poor enquiry. Prices unchanged—viz., 9/- to 9/6 per cwt., Victors 10/- per cwt.

LITTLE GREEN EGG AND BUTTER, Friday.—Supplies of strictly fresh Irish creams are quickly diminishing, and trade for this class is good at 1/11½ per lb., 28lb. pyramids 1/11½ per lb. Other descriptions of butter are meeting but a poor enquiry at the moment. Some fair class creams and secondary sorts run at 1/9½ to 1/10½ per lb. Supplies of farmers' butter are not very heavy, but demand exceptionally slack and slumpy at previous rates, 1/3 to 1/7 per lb. Factory butter also is a very dull business, and prices remain unchanged—viz., 1/5 to 1/7 per lb. Demand for eggs is also quiet, even for strictly reliable fresh lots, which, in a large degree, is owing to the excellent quality of cold stored eggs coming forward. It is only a waste of time and money forwarding stale, badly packed, and indifferent quality eggs on this market, and it would be well for country suppliers to know this. Reliable fresh hen eggs in case, from reputable senders, 25/- to 27/- per 120; extra selected, heavily picked lots 30/- per 120; mediums 21/-, and country smalls 17/- to 18/6. Cold storage eggs, which continue to give satisfaction and move freely, make prices as previously quoted—viz., 20/6 to 21/- per 120. Tested and repacked duck eggs 22/6 to 24/6, but trade is very dull, and supplies not particularly plentiful for the season.

DUBLIN POULTRY AND GAME (Halston street), Friday.—A good supply of all classes of poultry, game, etc., on market this morning, and demand was equal to a clearance, at following rates:—Best quality chickens 1/- to 1/2 per lb., large and fat hens 2/6 to 3/- each, others 1/- to 1/6; extra large ducks alive 4/- to 4/6, fat ducklings 3/- to 3/6 each; other descriptions 2/- to 2/6 each; fatted geese 10d. to 1/- per lb., coarse or stubble quality 5/- to 6/- each; good quality turkeys dead 1/6 per lb., alive 1/4 per lb., thin or crooked birds 1/- to 1/2 per lb. Game—grouse 2/6 each, young partridge 2/- to 3/-, old 1/6; cock pheasants 5/- to 5/6 each, hen pheasants 4/6 to 4/9 each; hares 2/6 to 3/- each. Wildfowl:—Wild duck 2/6 each, teal 9d. to 1/-, snipe 8d. to 10d. each, green plover 8d. to 10d., best quality fresh rabbits 1/4 to 1/6 each.

CORK BUTTER, Friday.—Market quiet and steady. Creameries 206/- per cwt., choicest mild 205/-, farmers' fresh parcels 171/-.

IRISH BUTTER QUOTATION.—The Irish Dairy (Producers and Shippers) Association have fixed for the week ending Thursday next, 13th November, 1924, 212/- per cwt. for choicest salted butter wholesale nett free on rail Ireland. Special dairies extra.

DUBLIN FISH, Friday.—A moderate arrival of fish on market—viz., 1 chest of lobsters, 28 packages of herrings, and 2 boxes of mackerel, together with a fair supply of fish from Galway, and small arrivals from local hookers. Demand for head fish was poor, but rough classes cleared readily, and prices generally worked out as follow:—Large lobsters 10/- to 15/-, seconds 5/- to 7/6, smalls 2/6 to 4/- per lot of 13; large soles 15/- to 20/-, mediums 10/- to 12/6, and slips 3/- to 5/- per 9 pairs; turbot 1/- to 6/- each, brill 6d. to 2/- apiece; plaice per half box 20/- to 40/- and 60/-, codfish 20/- to 22/6, ray 10/- to 14/-, dabs 7/- to 10/- per half box; herrings averaged 14/- to 16/- per box, choice qualities a little more money; mackerel 16/- per box.

GRIMSBY FISH, Friday.—Moderate supply. Demand fair. Plaice 12/-, lemon soles 19/-, halibut 12/- to 16/-, cod 5/- to 8/-, skate 6/- to 7/-, small haddocks 2/3, kit 5/-, gibbed 6/9, dabs 8/- to 9/-, codlings 8/- to 7/-, whiting 3/6 per stone; Soles 2/6, turbot 1/1, brill 11d. per lb.

MANCHESTER DEAD MEAT, Friday.—Market steady. Home killed beef—Best sides 8½d. to 9d., seconds 7½d. to 8d. Mutton—Best hoggs 1/1 to 1/2, lambs 1/2 to 1/3, ewes 9d. to 10½d.; calves 5d. to 10d. Chilled beef—Hindquarters 7d. to 7½d., forequarters 5d. to 5½d. Mutton—Wethers 7½d. to 8d., ewes 7d. to 7½d., lambs 9½d. to 1/0½.

PRODUCE.

LONDON, Friday.—SUGAR—The market for spot refined goods remains without improvement, a moderate trade being recorded chiefly in British makes at late rates. Tate's and Lyle's cubes quoted 40/3 to 41/3, gran. 36/7½ to 37/1½, ditto Dec. delivery 35/6; yellow crystals spot 33/7½. Imported dull, and the general [illegible]

COUNTY OF MEATH.
HIGHLY IMPORTANT AND ATTRACTIVE SALE BY AUCTION OF A VERY VALUABLE GRAZING & FATTENING FARM, WITH GENTLEMAN'S RESIDENCE AND SUITABLE OUT-OFFICES,
Gate Lodges, etc.,
AT STAFFORDSTOWN, NAVAN.

JOSEPH LOWRY and SONS are favoured with instructions from R. J. Butler, Esq., to SELL BY AUCTION,
AT THE COURTHOUSE, NAVAN,
On MONDAY, 1st DECEMBER, 1924,
At the hour of 12 o'clock,
The Estate, Right, Title, and Interest in all that and those Part of the Lands of STAFFORDSTOWN, Barony of Skreen, and County of Meath, containing 350a. 3r. 29p.,

Statute Measure, or thereabouts, held under a Fee-Farm Grant dated 23rd May, 1854, at the Perpetual Yearly Rent of £156 16s. 0d., adjusted to £156 9s. 6d. Poor Law Valuation, £402 10s. 0d.

The Lands are also subject to a Drainage Maintenance Charge in respect of the River Nanny amounting at present to £4 0s. 8d. per annum.

DESCRIPTIVE PARTICULARS.

The Lands, which are all under grass, with the exception of about 6 Acres of Tillage, are situate in the choicest residential quarter in the county, and comprise good sound pasture of the best fattening and finishing qualities—exceptionally healthy and capable of imparting the necessary market finish. The Divisions are suitable and convenient, and most unusually well sheltered, fenced, and watered.

The Residence, which is approachable from either the Duleek or Johnstown roads, with gate-lodge entrances, is picturesquely situate in the heart of a beautifully-wooded country, comprises large entrance hall, 3 reception rooms, 5 bedrooms, bathroom, 2 w.c.'s, servants' rooms, box-room, large kitchen, pantry, dairy, separating room, store-room, etc. The Out-offices comprise garage for 2 cars, coach-house, 18 horse boxes, 3 galvanised sheds, tyings for 50 cattle, implement shed, extensive lofts for hay and grain; large walled-in Fruit and Vegetable Garden, with Vinery; Workman's Cottage, etc.

The entire buildings are in excellent repair, requiring not one penny outlay.

Staffordstown is about 3½ miles from Navan, 2½ miles from Beauparc, and 26 miles from Dublin.

TOWN OF TIPPERARY.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT AUCTION

OF ATTRACTIVE

RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY, KNOWN AS GLENLARA.

N. MAHER AND SONS are favoured with instructions from Dr. CHARLES E. RYAN, TO

AT TIPPERARY, ON TUESDAY, 11TH NOVEMBER, 1924

(IF NOT PREVIOUSLY DISPOSED OF BY PRIVATE TREATY),

HIS INTEREST IN HIS VALUABLE PROPERTY, HELD AS A LEASEHOLD, SUBJECT TO THE ANNUAL RENT OF £38 8s. 9d.

The Residence, which has also an arched side entrance door, is situate in the most attractive residential part of the town. Its accommodation comprises hall, sittingroom, two reception rooms, pantry, larder, servants' apartments, kitchen, scullery, five well-ventilated bedrooms, with bath (h. and c. water laid on), w.c. At the rear is a beautifully laid-out garden and grounds, enclosed with a high wall, with large assortment of fully-grown ornamental shrubs and evergreens, tastefully laid-out rockeries, which have been all kept in a most up-to-date manner, with a perpetual supply of water from pump thereon. There is also a Conservatory on the grounds. The spacious yard comprises garage, four box-stalls, harness room, grooms' quarters, corn and hay lofts, fowl-house (surrounded by lattice enclosed run), shed to tie three cows, lumber room, coal house, dairy, and tool house.

This Detached Residence is nicely situate in pleasant, well-sheltered surroundings. It is well constructed and commodious, with all modern conveniences, having been always carefully maintained in first-class order, standing in nice well-kept grounds, and shows the result of a life-time attention, regardless of expense.

The Auctioneers highly commend the Sale of this magnificent Property to intending purchasers, requiring no outlay whatsoever. It is only on inspection that its true value can be estimated.

Terms—A deposit of one-fourth the purchase money, with 5 per cent. Commission, on declaration of purchase. SALE AT 1.30 O'CLOCK.

GARVEY & GOOD, M.I.A.A.

CO. KILDARE, BALLYSAX LODGE AND LANDS, NEAR CURRAGH

AUCTION SALE OF THE ABOVE, on THURSDAY, the 27th NOVEMBER, 1924, in the OFFICES OF GARVEY and GOOD, 21 LINCOLN PLACE, DUBLIN, at the hour of 2 o'clock.

BALLYSAX LODGE AND LANDS comprise a compact Holding of Prime Grass Lands, containing 71 acres, well fenced, sheltered and watered, and nicely planted. Purchased under the 1923 Land Act. On the Holding there is a newly-built, substantial and compact Bungalow Residence, fully equipped with all modern requirements, and well fitted throughout; large rooms, comprising drawingroom, diningroom, smokeroom, kitchen, 4 or 5 bedrooms, bathroom, h. and c. supply; water laid on from force pump, large cylinder, 100 gallons; servants' apartments. In addition, there is the original Farm Dwellinghouse on the Holding, with substantial and well arranged Out-offices. The Bungalow would have a substantial letting value should the purchaser desire to reside in the original dwelling. This is a place that could be recommended to prospective purchasers. Vendor's Solicitors: Messrs. HAYES and SON, Nassau street, Dublin. Further particulars from GARVEY and GOOD.

CO. CARLOW.—Residential Holding, known as "Ballynoe," good hunting centre, convenient to churches and station, containing about 180 acres of good land, nicely wooded. The Residence is well appointed and in good order. Extensive Out-offices. There are valuable fishing rights on the River Slaney for about one mile, which adjoins the Property. Full particulars from GARVEY and GOOD, Sole Agents.

CO. KILKENNY.—Residential Holding, close on 200 acres, in very good centre, prime grazing land, well fenced, sheltered and watered, on which stands a very delightful and well-appointed, homely and comfortable Residence, with good out-offices, all well maintained. Particulars from GARVEY and GOOD, Sole Agents.

CO. TIPPERARY.—FOR SALE BY PRIVATE TREATY, a beautiful Residential Holding, situated on the banks of Lough Derg, known as Gurthalougha, Ballinderry, Borrisokane, containing 150 acres, including Islands. There is a substantial, compact and well-appointed Residence, with water laid on, by gravitation, and suitable Out-offices attached. The grounds are neatly laid out, and there is a splendid walled-in fruit garden, with greenhouses. The Estate, which is well sheltered and watered, consists of pasture lands and wood, with valuable timber. The Property is freehold. The Views from the Houses are magnificent, and there is every facility for yachting, boating and fishing; also good shooting and hunting. Particulars from GARVEY and GOOD, Sole Agents.

CO. CAVAN.—Conveniently situated. A choice residential holding, containing 260 acres. Held in Fee-simple, subject to a small terminable annuity to Land Commission. The Residence is substantial, well built and well appointed. There are substantial out-offices suitable to the size of the holding. This is an old-world place. The Lands, which are of good quality, are well fenced, sheltered and watered. There is a good supply of remunerative Turbary and some Woods on the Holding, comprising matured timber. Particulars from GARVEY and GOOD, Sole Agents.

Surveys and Valuation made of all kinds of properties. Register kept of County Holdings, Farms, City and Suburban Residences, FOR SALE AND LETTING. Apply
